WALTON, KENTUCKY — THURSDAY, JANUARY 4, 1968

Volume 53—Number 1

Sanitation Company Is Given Official OK

A clean bill of health was given the Northern Kentucky Sanitation Company, Walton, last week by the Boone County Health Department, according to Randal Ritchie.

The county health board had charged the company with failing to properly cover waste on its 4-acre landfill just west of Walton. Mr. Ritchie said the site looked real good, and Fred Stallard, manager of the sanitation company, said it would remain that way.

Mr. Stallard told the health board the company hopes to have a road completed to a new landfill operation on the north side of I-71 by April, which will allow them to develop a model operation.

The board also amended two of its health regulations:

One prohibits the company from bringing in out-of-state garbage with the exception of hauling from an Ohio firm presently under contract with the local firm.

The second permits haulers to bring in out-of-county waste. The old regulation had prohibited this, but officials said it had never been enforced.

The Kenton County Garden Club Meets

In keeping with the season, Mrs. Wesley Hall and daughters had Christmas decorations in just about every nook where they could be placed. One outstanding and unusual arrangement was a tree that Elaine had made in a lettering lesson at the Art Academy, where she is a student. She took a few lines from one of my favorite poems, "A Psalm of Life," and by careful measuring, printed them in the shape of a tree. Each branch was decorated with a coin. Also worthy of note was a pot of pink amaryllis with ten or more open blossoms.

Each person attending was supposed to bring an arrangement for holiday decoration. These were quite attractive.

The secretary's and treasurer's reports were read. The question was asked what kind of evergreen is liked for a Christmas tree. The cedar won.

Miss Taylor told of plans by the Kentucky State Garden Clubs to beautify a covered bridge near Falmouth. Suggestions were made to have a tour of members' homes to see Christmas decorations in 1968. As a civic project, it was voted to donate $10.00 to the work of Hi-Y.

Mrs. Gabriel discussed feeding the birds. Several members told of seeing cardinals and wild canaries. Mrs. Keeney told of correspondence with wild life specialist, Jack Lynr, with reference to showing some pictures at our April meeting.

Program chairman, Mrs. Stephens, called on Miss Elsie Hite-man for the devotion. She read James 1:17-18, followed by the story "When the Chimes Rang."

Mrs. Hall, assisted by her daughters, Miss Elaine and Mrs. Phyllis Laubach, served delicious refreshments to those named and also to Misses Margaret Stephens, Elsie Hite-man and Elma Taylor, Mesdames Inez Straw, Mildred Popp, Audrey Gough, Helen Jaeger, Katy Thoburn, and Kathryn Guttridge. As we ate, the decorations were discussed and admired.

The next meeting will be held February 2 at the home of Mrs. Edwin Damon.—Reporter

No Discrimination In Cemetery Lots

The Kentucky Commission on Human Rights urges funeral directors and cemeteries to end all racial discrimination in the sale of burial plots in accordance with a Warren Circuit Court decision holding such discrimination unlawful under the Kentucky Civil Rights Act.

Quoting the decision, the Commission says cemeteries covered "...need not fear suit for damages by refusing to honor racial restrictive covenants in burial plot sales agreements and deeds."

Saying it seeks to eliminate cemetery discrimination through "...education, persuasion and conciliation rather than legal enforcement..." the Commission asks for cooperation to "...ensure that Negroes who have suffered discrimination all their lives no longer may have to face it at death."

The Warren County case arose when burial ground was sought for a deceased non-White, and cemetery deeds already issued contained a restriction saying "to be used exclusively for interment of Caucasians."

The Commission referred to the court opinion, saying such restrictions have been unenforceable since a 1948 U. S. Supreme Court decision.

Boone Burley Sales Good

R. H. Link, president, and Robt. W. Franks, general manager, of the Boone County Tobacco Warehouse at Florence, report three new records for the pre-holiday sales.

Sales through December 20th, totaled 2,199,239 pounds; total money paid, $1,532,388.50, and average price paid, $69.67 per cwt.

Gain 1,000 Each In Boone and Kenton

Boone and Kenton Counties have gained 1,000 residents each from July 1, 1965 to July 1, 1966, according to latest estimates by the U. S. Census Bureau. These are the largest gains in Northern Kentucky reported by the bureau. Their estimates have been 97 percent accurate.

A year ago, Kenton contained more than 123,000 residents, compared to 120,700 in 1960, for a 2.3 percent gain, the bureau said.

Last year, Boone's population was estimated at 26,000, which is a whopping 19.2 percent gain over the 1960 census of 21,940.

The Bureau bases its estimates on birth rate, deaths, building permits, new utilities connected, and past census statistics.

This increase has helped to lift the Greater Cincinnati population to 1,353,000 in 1966.

Boone County's growth has accelerated in the last few years. In the first five years after the last census, it was growing at a rate of 15.40 percent. Now it is close to 20 percent.

Bearcats Win Over St. Thomas Tomcats

With their impressive win over the St. Thomas Tomcats, Dec. 19, the Walton-Verona Bearcats took command of first place in the NKIAC. The Tomcats had held first place with a 5-0 record, but gave way to W-V, who now have a 3-0 conference record and a 7-5 overall record.

Fans at the game saw two entirely different games. The first half was completed in 20 minutes with only a total of three personal fouls called. The second half was completely different as the tempo increased and the full court press was put on by St. Thomas, resulting in much personal contact.

The Bearcats were in charge of the game all the way and at two different times held a 20-point lead. Some anxious moments for the local fans arose in the fourth period as the visitors made a desperate attempt to come from behind, with the score 47-65, and the Tomcats cut the lead to 58-67 with 2:08 remaining. A semi-free throw then set up by the Bearcats as they moved the ball well, taking only good, close shots.

Bill Wethington thrilled the local spectators with his driving layups as he was high point man with 24 markers. "Butch" Ingram came through with 17, Holder had 12 and Stephens 11. All the squad played very good ball and the victory was certainly a team effort.

"We're No. 1," "We're No. 1," could be heard from the players as they made their way to the dressing room after the final whistle.

Quarter stops showed W-V leading by 12-11, 26-18, 33-39 and finally winning 76-60.

Walton-Verona: Wethington 10-4-24; Stephens 4-3-11; Holder 5-2-12; Arlington 4-0-8; Marksherry 2-0-4 and Ingram 7-3-17. Totals 32-12-76.

St. Thomas: Kramer 5-6-16; Garrison 6-5-17; Dober 2-0-4; Cahill 3-2-8; Hagedorn 2-1-5; Betting 0-1-1; Snider 1-0-2 and Eilerman 2-3-7. Totals 21-19-60.

Burley Sales Total 309.4 Million Lbs.

Pre-Christmas sales of Kentucky Burley Tobacco at the state's 30 auction centers totaled almost 309.4 million pounds which sold for more than $22.5 million, an average of $71.94 per hundredweight.

The Kentucky Department of Agriculture reports that for the 17 selling days which ended just before the holidays, leaf sales and receipts were running 63.9 million pounds and $55.8 million higher than last year. For a similar 17-day selling period one year ago, the 1966 crop had returned producers $166.8 million on 245.5 million pounds of leaf, an average of $67.94.

The 1967 Kentucky Burley crop is estimated at 388.6 million pounds as compared with 405 million pounds produced last year. Burley sales have resumed with an estimated 20 percent of the crop remaining to be sold. Sales will continue until the entire crop has been marketed.

Of the 1967 Kentucky burley marketed, about one-third of the crop has been sold at three sales centers: Lexington, 55 million pounds; Maysville, 25.3 million pounds; and Carrollton, 20 million pounds. Lexington led the state in price-average, $72.75 per hundredweight.

Light Co. Plans '68 Expansion Projects

The Union Light, Heat & Power Company plans to spend more than $5 million on construction and expansion projects in northern Kentucky in 1968, and about $27 million in the next five years, William H. Zimmer, president, announced last week.

ULH&P spending next year is part of a record $64.8 million—or about one and a quarter million dollars per week—that its parent company, The Cincinnati Gas and Electric Company, plans to invest in construction and expansion in 1968. Some of the major projects in this area are:

The start of construction on a 14.4 million interconnection that will run through northern Boone County as it connects the Indiana and Michigan Electric Company's Tanners Creek Station, near Lawrenceburg, Ind., with CG&E's Terminal substation in Hartwell.

A new substation, costing $494,000, will be built on Erlanger Road north of Mineola Pike, to serve growing electric needs of the northern Boone County area.

Jury Recommends Addition to Jail

The Boone County Grand Jury, in its December session, recommended an extension be built to the present Boone County jail at Burlington.

The report read, in part: "We recommend the extension should be built...to alleviate overcrowded conditions that now exist. Present conditions to house prisoners are not adequate and immediate steps should be taken to correct this condition. We further find that the jail does not have any fire extinguishers and they should be provided for immediately." Other recommendations in the report included: The Courthouse downspouts be repaired and gutters replaced; back stairways in the courthouse be enclosed, and the boiler inspected.

WINTER WOES by Pinson

She could see outward only in peeks,
Dead wiper blades causing the streaks
That she had to look through—
And which hampered her view—
Now her car won't be fixed up for weeks!

PREVENT THOSE WINTER DRIVING WOES

The Safe Winter Driving League presents the following tip for safer winter driving from the National Safety Council: "Don't be a 'peep-hole pilot.' Brush snow completely off front, back and side windows. Replace dead wiper blades with live, new ones to prevent streaking. All your lights should be working, with headlights aimed properly. You must see danger to avoid it."

PINER HOMEMAKERS

"To Celebrate Christmas" was the objective of the club's Dec. 19 meeting. It was held in the lovely home of the secretary, Mrs. Lewis Schlachter. Her many talents and homemaker knowledge reflected from her home furnishings and Christmas decorations. She depended on members to bring covered dishes to go with the turkey and dressing.

The Biblical Christmas story was reviewed and carols sung, under the direction of the program chairman, Mrs. W. O. Marshall. She brought lots of laughter with her S-A-N-T-A bingo game.

Mrs. Marshall Hills narrated a story pertaining to Christmas.

Many were the "Oh's" and "Ah's" when gifts and handmade favors were received. After the celebration, Mrs. Richard Colclough, president, and Mrs. Clarence Duncan, vice-president, delivered the club's donation of a large U. S. map, towels, etc., to Hope Cottage in Latonia.

By Robert Matthews, Attorney General

Missing Hair Search Used As "Sucker Bait"

Would you like to discover that you are an heir of some deceased relative whose existence you were not even aware? Most people would be delighted with such a windfall.

Capitalizing on this natural desire, several organizations have devised plans whereby, after ferreting out intestate in which decedents had common last names, they solicited persons with the same last name whose addresses are obtained from telephone and city directories.

The solicitors offer to send the addressee copies of documents relating to the estate for a fee of $1.00. Although the inference to be drawn from the solicitor is otherwise, it is clear in most instances that the solicitor has no basis for believing that any relationship really exists between the decedent and the person solicited. He is interested primarily in obtaining the fee.

Anyone receiving such a questionable solicitation should report the incident to the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's office.

CARD OF THANKS—

Mr. and Mrs. Earl C. Roberts and Mrs. Marion Gardner would like to thank Mrs. Vernice Gill and the seventh grade for the nice party they gave for the needy families in their room.

The room's motto was, "It is more blessed to give than receive."

FIRST BLOOD

The first blood shed during the Civil War in Kentucky was spilled two miles west of Morgantown in Butler County. Granville Allen, with the 17th Kentucky Infantry, was killed Oct. 27, 1861, in a skirmish between the Blue and the Gray within a few miles of his home.

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—I expect to graduate from college next spring and go into service for at least three years. Throughout college I have received a monthly check from the Veterans Administration under the War Orphans Assistance Act. When I complete my military service, will I again be eligible for VA educational assistance as a veteran?

A—Not under existing law. If you were a full time student in college and received a War Orphans Educational Assistance allowance for 36 months, you will not be entitled to further educational benefits as a veteran. The maximum entitlement of any person to Federal assistance for full time education is 36 months. Any additional education for which the person would receive an allowance from the U. S. Government would constitute "duplication of benefits" which is prohibited.

Q—I was recently retired from the Army on disability. There is an army hospital near my home where I can receive care and treatment. However, the nearest Veterans Administration hospital is in another city some distance away. If I elect to receive VA disability compensation instead of my Army retirement pay, can I still be treated at the nearby Army hospital where my family can visit me without too much inconvenience?

A—Yes. The fact that you would be receiving disability compensation from the VA does not change your entitlement to military hospitalization as a retired serviceman. At the same time, you are also entitled to VA hospital care as a veteran.

SOURCE FOR NOVEL

Front Street in Catlettsburg is the real-life counterpart of the riverfront street described in Edna Ferber's "Showboat." The Catlettsburg street was known in showboat days as "Bloody Front," and it had 1 saloons. The counterpart of the novel's showboat was the Cotton Blossom Floating Theatre, which made regular stops at Catlettsburg.

The latest test findings of the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards disclose that regular tires on glare ice may take close to nine times as far to stop as on a dry pavement. The Safe Winter Driving League points out that regardless of the type of traction device employed—even with tire chains—far slower than normal speeds are a must on icy pavements.

Line up 1,000 persons. In such a "random sample," from 100 to 110 could be farmers.

These hard-working people furnish virtually all the food the 1,000 eat and at the same time contribute a huge chunk of money to the national economy.

Yet the farmer's role in the U. S. economy sometimes is misunderstood or even overlooked.

To quote from a recent report of the National Live Stock and Meat Board, which calls attention to a few facts:

"One is that American farmers spend almost 70 percent of their gross income to operate their farm businesses. This pumps billions of dollars into the national economy annually.

Their purchases of tractors are now about $1 billion a year. Farmers also buy farm or related machinery valued at $2 billion annually. The petrol, oil and lubricants they buy is worth $1.5 billion a year. U. S. farmers buy every 15th truck made here and spend more than $2 billion annually on passenger cars. Farm population is declining—yet food production in the U. S. climbs steadily every year. Efficient farmers do it. Farmers buy their own products. They spend about $3.5 billion annually on food."

"What's good for the farmer is good for the consumer," says the meat board report. "A number of surveys show the average consumer doesn't blame the farmer or rancher when food prices move upward. But there are indications that many city people don't know the contribution agriculture makes in hard cash to the nation's well-being."

Next time you see a thousand people in a group, think about the 100 to 110 farmers growing the food for the entire group. (In colonial days, 80 farmers fed themselves and 20 other persons.)

CHRISTOPHER LATHAM SHOLES

A printer and publisher by trade, he also developed a method of addressing newspapers by printing subscribers' names on the margin.

Christopher Latham Sholes, who inherited pioneer spirit from ancestors John and Priscilla Alden, invented the first practical typewriter in 1867. His "type-writer"—a word he coined—was a crude affair with only capital letters.

Modern men in the communications field have inherited Sholes' spirit of inventiveness. You can see a revolutionary new idea at work in the type you're now reading. It's been set by a new machine about the size of a typewriter—the IBM "Selectric" Compositor.

Rev. and Mrs. Frank Phillips, Cathy and Gary, visited Mrs. Phillips' sister and family in Detroit, over Christmas.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Rich arrived here on Dec. 22. They have been quite busy visiting relatives and friends before returning to Cambridge on the New Year weekend.

I sent the second Christmas card to John Wolfe in Vietnam, and was really surprised to get one from him before Christmas. He says all of the boys over there really appreciate letters from home.

Robert Brinkley was home for several days leave over and preceding the Christmas weekend. Having visited relatives and friends here, he and his wife left on Wednesday for Ft. Eustice, Va., where he expects to be for three months before probably going to Vietnam. We wish that the war could end, but while the men are there, may God be with them.

Mr. and Mrs. James Lancaster of Lexington, were here with friends and relatives over the Christmas weekend.

We wish to congratulate our choir on the presentation of the cantata on Friday evening, Dec. 22. We really enjoyed it.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Binder of Dayton, Ohio, spent the Christmas weekend with relatives here.

Our sympathy goes to Mr. Pitcher and family who mourn the passing of their loved one, Mrs. Velma Pitcher, whose funeral was Thursday. She will be long remembered by her many friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Rector and myself called on H. K. Loomis, Mrs. Reba Hawkins and Mrs. Flouline Baker, Thursday afternoon. We found Mr. Loomis not very good but the others seemed to feel quite well.

The George Fennell, Jr. family spent the holiday week in sunny Florida, visiting Mr. and Mrs. George Fennell.

THE COMMUNICATOR

Lesson for January 7, 1968

Background Scripture: John 1:1-42, 20:30-31.

A few days ago I saw this sticker on a car bumper: GOD IS NOT DEAD. HE JUST DOESN'T WANT TO GET INVOLVED!

Actually, this is the kind of God many people believe in: a deity so remote, so impersonal, that there can be little or no communication between the Creator and his creature. He is more an Absentee Landlord, a Celestial Spectator rather than a participant.

The greatest challenge to Christianity today, it seems, is not from those who say there is no God or who maintain that he is dead, but those who, though they believe in his existence, deny his involvement in the world he created. You cannot really know what God is like, they say, because he either chooses to remain silent or cannot communicate with us. Our prayers are assumed to be like the fruitless radio signals beeped into outer space to communicate with unknown civilizations that might be out there, no one probably hears them and, if they do, they probably cannot answer.

God Who Communicates

Christians, however, do not believe in a God who is mute or too remote to care or be involved. Ours is a God who can be known to us because he communicates with us, revealing to us what he is and what he wants us to become. Thus, the Gospel According to John begins: "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God."

The "Word" of which John speaks here is not the words of scripture nor even audible spoken words, but the dynamic power of God by which he reveals himself and his purpose to men and acts or becomes involved in their affairs. The "Word" is thus the self-expressiveness of God and the J. B. Phillips translation renders John 1:1, "In the beginning, God expressed himself."

When We Think of God

This is not a vague, elusive, unknowable God, but a Supreme Being who communicates himself to men, revealing himself, making himself known. But John goes on to say something else that sounds utterly audacious: "The Word became flesh and dwelt among us." Revealing himself in so many ways, God made the ultimate self-disclosure by transposing his divine nature into the person of a human being. As Phillips puts it: "So the expression of God became a human being and lived among us."

What this means for us, of course, is that all that man ever knew or understood about God is tied up in the person whom we know as Jesus Christ. If we know to know him, we will know God as fully as man can know him. If we understand him, we will understand as much of the divine mystery as our finite minds are capable of understanding. When the Christian thinks of God, then, he does not have to picture a white-haired old gentleman peering down from the heavens. He does not have to do the impossible by envisioning a finite picture of the infinite. He can point to Jesus Christ and say: "There, that is what God is like in human terms, the only terms we can understand."

Fuss About Jesus

This, then, is why Jesus Christ is so essential for the Christian. As a child I used to wonder, "Why all the fuss about Jesus? Why not just concentrate upon God?" What I did not realize, however, is that men cannot very well concentrate upon God without Jesus Christ. To think about God for any length of time becomes a very frustrating experience unless our thoughts of God are focused through Christ. "No one has ever seen God," wrote John, "the only Son . . . he has made him known." (John 1:18 RSV)

To believe in a god is not enough. It is the kind of god you believe in that makes the vital difference. The kind of God whom Christians worship and serve is the God who communicates to us through Jesus Christ.

GOSHEN LADIES MEET AND ENJOY CHRISTMAS PARTY

The December meeting of the Goshen Christian Missionary ladies was held at the church parsonage with Mrs. Bea Hills and hostess.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Hazel Mullins, asking all to stand for a moment of prayer.

The secretary, Mrs. Esther Glenn asked the members to answer the roll call by reading a verse with the word "babe" in it. The treasurer, Mrs. Goldie Glenn, then gave her report.

The Sunshine report showed that 105 cards had been sent and 21 visits made to the sick.

The ways and means chairman, gave a very good report, which showed that most of the dishcloths and Christmas cards had been purchased.

Letters were read from the Gulleks and Cuthrells. A Christmas love offering was sent to these devoted missionary families from the missionary group; also a Christmas offering was sent to the Mountain Mission School at Grundy, Va., to help on their building project.

The Missionary ladies were saddened by the death of one of their devoted members, Mrs. Edna Callen, Dec. 3. She was a regular member until her health began to fail. She will be missed very much by all who knew her.

After the meeting adjourned, a very nice luncheon was served by the hostess. The program in the afternoon consisted of Christmas Carols, Christmas stories and Christmas poems with everyone taking part. After the program, secret pals were revealed and new ones were drawn for the new year.

Those who enjoyed this Christmas meeting and program were: Mrs. Hazel Mullins, Mrs. Faye Bray and niece, Kim, Mrs. Goldie Glenn, Mrs. Edna Colston, Mrs. Lillian Elliott, Mrs. Janet Burns and son, Andy, Mrs. Esther Glenn, Mrs. Ruth Worthington, Mrs. Blanche McMillian, Mrs. Georgia Cornelius, Mrs. Gertrude Marshall, Mrs. Gladys Colston, Mrs. Frances Good, Mrs. Ruby Worthington, Mrs. Eula LaFollette, and the hostess, Mrs. Bea Hills, and her daughter, Diane.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .

... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

There she was—blue eyes, rosy cheeks, thirty-five pounds of joy bundled up in a warm, wooly snowsuit. How could I resist her request—even if the ironing weren't done, and there'd be no pie for dinner. I pulled on my parka and went outside to join her.

We walked through the frosty winter world together and I seemed to see it anew through the eyes of a three-year old. Our commonplace street was miraculously frosted and furnished in silvery whiteness. From every corner beauty sparkled and shone.

And then we came to our church. It looked like a beautiful Christmas card, with the snow glistening blindingly from icy windows. Susie exclaimed, "Oh, Mommy, look—God is shining through!"

"Through the eyes of a little child" . . . this thought rang through my head, and I prayed that God's presence would always shine for her through the windows of God's Church.

Walton Firemen Elect Officers

The Walton Volunteer Firemen met at the firehouse Tuesday evening to elect officers for the ensuing year.

Chosen as Chief was Charles "Chick" Worthington with Guy Carlisle as Deputy Chief. Other officers were Bill Fredericks, 1st Assistant Chief, Al Martin, 2nd Assistant Chief, Jess Thornton, as Secretary and James Bonar Treasurer.

The vols were kept on the go quite a bit during the past few days as they answered numerous squad calls and three major fires.

Latest response was to the farm of Stanford Hutton on Richwood road. A large feed barn and shed were destroyed by fire Tuesday evening. A large quantity of hay, approximately 6,000 bales and several barrel of corn and some lumber was lost. The glow of the fire was visible for several miles as a low cloud ceiling reflected the red glow. Several head of swine had been removed from the shed earlier in the day and sold on the market. A second large barn and some smaller buildings were saved from destruction.

Other calls were to the Edward Schmidt farm on the Old Lexington pike where a small barn near the rear of the house burned and threatened to consume the house and storage building as well.

A tenant house on Riddle Run belonging to Francis Dale also received attention of the local volunteers.

WINTER BLOWS IN

...and suddenly it is wintertime.

With the pleasant late autumn memories still lingering, old man winter blasted his way into the local area last week with a second snow and subzero temperatures. With two inches of snow on the ground and a cold north wind blowing, most local residents were appreciative of New Year' holiday as a time to rest inside and take advantage of the bowl games during the day.

Many new sleds were on the slopes as the school children braved the elements to give their new gifts a ride through the snow. Most of Walton's streets were still snow covered with more of the white stuff in the forecast.

Car Inspection Is Brisk

Voluntary inspection of Class 'A' vehicles by the local safety inspection station kept the operator, Fred Jones, surprisingly busy on Tuesday. Most common correction needed was in the alignment of the headlights. At least one auto needed new brake linings.

The next ten winners had a choice of a ham or a turkey: Irene Peebles, Walton; Lawrence Maddin, Walton; Mrs. Preston Art, Verona; Wm. Tracy, Erlanger; E. F. Rounding out the choir were Dave Jarman and high schoolers Greg Turner, Mike Gray, Donna Webb and Cynthia Ramsey. Still, Russell Burgess and Donnie Sturgeon were recognized from the congregation. HOOP GOING UP?

Now what about the proposed change in raising the hoop up to 12 feet from floor level on the basketball hardwood?

In reading about the proposal, it seems that most of the regional high school coaches are opposed to the change. Coach Jim Taylor of Walton-Verona agrees with the fact that 12 feet is just too much for the smaller fellows. "I don't think it will go in high school. Maybe in the pros but not in high school. That is too much difference. Some of the boys have a hard time getting the basketball over the hoop on the 10 foot level. Besides, I don't think the coaches would all approve of the change. We have the grade boys playing in our gym and this would not be fair to them," remarked Coach Taylor.

The Academic Plan at the University of Kentucky provides the best possible liberal-arts undergirding of all professional academic programs, whether in engineering, education, business or any other field.

Can you spare her some time, some love?

This time it's a small, bewildered disaster victim. Tomorrow it could be an expectant mother receiving baby care instruction. Or a group of children lined up for polio vaccine.

Last year nearly 72,000 professional nurses volunteered to help the Red Cross. Our disaster relief, blood program, home-nursing classes and health services couldn't function without them. More are desperately needed. Won't you volunteer? The American Red Cross.

Mudlick-Bridge Is Included In Boone's 1968 Road Program

Boone County will be allotted $240,844 from the state for its roads in the fiscal year 1968-69. Officials from the Sixth Highway District have announced the allotment to the fiscal court at a meeting in Burlington, January 2.

Of this figure, $65,093 comes from the County Road Aid Program and $175,751 is from the Rural Secondary Program.

The Rural Secondary system in this county includes 71,531 miles of road, and approximately $70,000 of the Rural Secondary funds must be used for maintenance of these roads.

The remaining $105,751 will be used to rebuild Mudlick Creek Bridge on Walton-Beaver Road at a cost of about $70,000 and resurfacing of Ky. 8 at approximately $35,000.

Nine roads were signed up for improvement under the County Road Aid Program. Most of the work will be done in drainage and resurfacing. They include:

East Mt. Zion, Zig-Zag, Beech Grove, Salem Creek, Williams, Ashby Fork, Tanner, Conner and Conrad Lane.

Approximately $15,000 from the county's $65,093 road aid funds will be used to build abutments and approaches to the Woolper Creek Bridge which has been condemned. The state will furnish the bridge structure out of emergency funds at a cost of approximately $55,000.

Sunny Acres Church Adventure In Mission

There is a lot of uncharted territory in the current ecumenical movement, but the members of Sunny Acres Methodist Church refuse to be deterred by the unknown. Beginning on Sunday evening, January 14, and continuing for three Sunday evenings thereafter, this suburban congregation, located at 5160 Taylor Mill Road, will engage in intensive study and dialogue with members of other denominations and themselves in an effort to more fully understand the implications, hopes, dangers, and promises of ecumenism.

Each evening's program will begin with a fellowship "potluck" supper at 6:30 p. m. The meal will conclude by 7:15 p. m., and following a 15-minute break, the program will be presented in the nave of the church.

On January 14, Rev. Raymond Gibson, pastor of Sunny Acres, will bring a review and commentary on Albert Outler's "That the World May Believe," the book which will provide the background for the 4-week study.

On January 21, a film, "The Ecumenical Age," will be viewed and analyzed by reaction and response groups.

January 28 will feature a panel of two Roman Catholic clergymen and two Roman Catholic laymen, who will share their hopes, fears, doubts, and questions about the ecumenical movement with their Methodist hosts.

The final evening February 4, will focus upon a panel of Protestant clergymen and laymen who will share their views.

A nursery will be provided at the church for infants and small children.

Bearcats Win Again; Record Is Now 8-5

Striking with a balanced offensive attack and forcing the visitors to make outside and hurried shots gave the W-V Bearcats their fifth straight victory last Friday night. The 'Cats took an early lead of 22-11 after eight minutes of play.

Ladlow cut the margin to but a single point at halftime, as they scored 23 points in their hottest period. Intermission score was 35-34 in favor of the Bearcats.

Play became very aggressive and rough in the second half. Mr. Taylor's 'Cats were able to hold their composure and continued to spread a good lead of 51-43 after three periods.

Bill Wethington was top point-getter with 21. Ricky Stephens contributed 18; Mike Holder had 16; Marksberry tallied 14, and Ingram had 10. Bob Arlinghaus sat out most of the first half with an injured knee. His defensive efforts put him in the game more than the five points would indicate.

Walton-Verona: Wethington 9-3-21; Stephens 5-8-18; Holder 6-4-16; Arlinghaus 2-1-5; Marksberry 6-2-14; Ingram 5-0-10-33-18-84.

Ladlow: S. Kidwell 3-0-6; R. Kidwell 1-0-2; T. Reeves 4-5-13; Morgan 9-4-22; Feldhaus 1-0-2; Clare 3-0-6; J. Reeves 1-1-3; Orr 0-5-5-23-15-59.

The JV boys played a good game but were defeated again. Their efforts have been very unfruitful this year, even though they play hard and are well coached.

COLD BLAST ARRIVES

Major roadways were open and traffic was moving normally, but many of the lesser traveled roads were slick and hazardous. With more snow on the ground Tuesday and more in the forecast, residents are receiving their full measure of winter.

The temperature has yet to go above 32 degrees for several days.

The Kenton County Fair Board, Inc., will meet at 8:00 p. m., on January 15, at the R. E. C. C. Bldg., on Walton-Nicholson Road. It is urged that you attend this meeting as the election of officers will be held for this year. The annual report on the 1967 Kenton County Fair will be given; plans for the 1968 fair must be started, and someone selected to attend the Association of Fair, to be held in Louisville, later this month. Other matters of great importance will also be discussed, according to Cecil Cummins, association president.

The election of officers was to have been held in October but had to be postponed because of lack of attendance until the November meeting. This meeting was then called off and has been rescheduled for January 15.

You do not have to be a member of the Fair Board to attend these meetings. They are open to the public and anyone who would like to help with the fair, sponsors and Fair Board members are urged to be present.

A special invitation is extended to all the people who advertise in the Kenton County Fair Catalog or are sponsors, for you are the backbone of the fair and without your support the Kenton County Fair could not have been the success that it has been in the past, Mr. Cummins said.

If you have an idea for the 1968 fair, now is the time you you to present them to the board, or if you would like to see catalog added, now is the time to make it known, for after the catalog is set up and gone to press it is too late to make changes and add classes.

Plan Prayer Services For Christian Unity

Prayer services for Christian unity is being sponsored by the Walton Ministerial Association, January 18-25. The following statement was issued by the Rev. Russell Russell, president of the association:

"In Christ, God calls us to hope. We must trust him enough to put our lives into his care, to keep his commandments and to live as his children. Thus the author of Ephesians prays, 'that the God of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of glory, may give you a spirit of wisdom and of revelation in the knowledge of him, having the eyes of your hearts enlightened, that you may know what is the hope to which he has called you.'—1:17-19.

"Despite the divisions of the Christian family and despite the dangers that overshadow mankind today, there is basis for un wavering hope. Jesus Christ is the basis of our hope.

"Augustine writes, 'Nothing was so necessary to build up our hope than to show us how much God loved us. And that could show this more clearly than that the Son of God became man?'

"Each year witnesses an ever-increasing volume of prayer for unity. Such concerted prayer, inspired by the Holy Spirit, gives additional reason for Christian hope. The Week of Prayer for Christian Unity (Jan. 18-25) is a special time for offering thanksgiving for the gifts God has preserved in each of our traditions and prayer for the guidance of the Holy Spirit that we may be responsive to the opportunities God is giving us for a fuller manifestation of our unity in his son.

"It is in this spirit of genuine christian hope that the following plans in observance of Christian Unity Week have been formulated. Each year a prayer meeting will be held in our churches at the beginning and end of the Week of Prayer. In 1968 the meetings will be held at All Saints Church and the Walton Christian Church. In 1969 at the Walton Baptist Church and the Walton Methodist Church. This year the first meeting will be held at All Saints Church, Thursday, Jan. 18 at 7:45 p. m., and the second meeting at the Walton Christian Church on Thursday, Jan. 25 at 7:45 p. m. All the ministers of the town will participate. All the members of the community are strongly urged to participate. 'May the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing.'—Romans 15:13."

The Walton Ministerial Association has also accepted an invitation to present a panel discussion on Modern Trends in the Church at the next meeting of the Walton-Verona P. T. A. on Monday, January 29.

WINTER WOES

Once in the cold winter snow and the sleet,
I was helping a driver disheveled and beat—
"If you'd taken the pains
To put on tire chains,
You wouldn't be shov'ling out here in the street."

PREVENT THOSE WINTER DRIVING WOES

The Safe Winter Driving League presents this tip for safer winter driving from the National Safety Council: "Tests show that reinforced tire chains provide four to seven times as much pulling ability on snow and ice as regular tires without chains." Always carry chains in the trunk of your car to assure your ability to get through regardless of the weather.

Letter To The Editor:

It seems like everyone always manages to hear about the so-called "bad" things young people do. How about a good word for a change? As we all know, there is nothing here for young people except during the ball season, and then if you aren't a sports fan, you're out. There is no place they can go just to sit around and talk, have a Coke, or play games. They are "young" people and we can't make anything else out of them. They grow up to life's responsibilities soon enough.

I had 40 of these youngsters from 15 to 20 years of age at my home New Year's Eve, and I want to say that if they are an example of our young people and future citizens, we have a town to be proud of. Can't we all try to help them have something to do instead of "blowing up" those isolated incidents that make gossip? Sometimes even older people do the wrong things to get attention. All these kids want is to be recognized as people and given a chance to live normal lives. I, for one, am proud of them and want them to know it.

New Pattern Sizing....

By Linda K. Tatum

Sizing will be different on some of the new patterns you buy for home sewing beginning with the January 1968 pattern catalogs.

With these changes, pattern sizing corresponds more closely to ready-to-wear sizing—that is, the size you need in a dress pattern is more likely to be the same size you wear in a ready-made dress.

Since pattern catalogs have patterns in both the new and old sizings, be sure to check which sizing is used on the pattern you want to buy. The words "new sizing" is printed in a red block on pattern envelopes and catalog pages when the patterns are cut by the new sizing. Only patterns carrying this symbol have the changes.

You can find the new size charts in the back of the new pattern catalogs. The new chart is printed in red and the old chart in blue so you can tell them apart at a glance. Patterns with the old sizing are still in fashion and good to use—just make sure which you are buying so you will get the right size.

This is a good time to take your measurements if you haven't done so recently. Then check them with the chart in the back of a new pattern catalog. You may find you need one size smaller in the new sizing—but this is not always true, so check your measurements carefully with the chart.

The new standard body measurements for patterns were developed and approved by the Measurement Standard Committee of the Pattern Fashion Industry. All major pattern companies, including Butterick, McCall's, Vogue and Simplicity have accepted these new standards. There are no changes in patterns for men and boys and only minor changes in those for children.

For more information on the new pattern sizing, visit the Boone County Extension Office in Burlington.

No provision was made for a Lieutenant-Governor in the first state constitution. When Kentucky's legislature met for the first time, there were only eight state senators.

STATE AND COMMONWEALTH

The designations of "commonwealth" and "state" were synonymous when Kentucky joined the Union in 1792. The term commonwealth goes back to Oliver Cromwell's time, when Parliament declared that government by a king was unnecessary and that Britain was a commonwealth, or a government for the good of all. At the time of Kentucky's separation from Virginia, she chose to call herself the Commonwealth of Kentucky.

A Trim Idea

THIS EASY to sew party dress has the grown-up look little girls love. There's fashion magic in the mini hi-rise collar and long slim sleeves, and there's fashion news in the strikingly original trim.

The Talon Zephyr zipper down the front is both closure and decoration. Select a striped or patterned ribbon, a fancy braid, a length of lace or any trim, and stitch it over the zipper tape, then sew into garment as a top application. This clever idea, of course, is for clothes for all ages. Choose your own individual pattern and color combinations, and use it for pockets or sleeves, too.

This holiday-into-Spring frock is McCall's design #9090, available in sizes 2 to 6x.

I think maybe you will forgive me if the first news I write today is about myself, since of course to me, it is the most important happening and not hearsay. I fell on Thursday and fractured by left wrist. Pollyanna always saw a good side to every happening, so I'm very glad it is not the right hand on vacation or any other bone which would be more inconvenient.

I'm a little late report this item, but did not hear it in time for last week's news. Mr. and Mrs. Thos. McClafferty received this past Christmas the nicest gift they will ever have on any Christmas. Their first child was born on Christmas morning. She is named Melissa Shannon. We wish the new baby and its parents the best of luck.

Friends and relatives of Lucien White of Latonia, were shocked to learn of his sudden death on New Year's morning as he swept the snow from his doorway. Our sympathy is with his family. He will be long remembered by his family and many friends.

Let's all work to make this the best year of our lives.

WINTER WOES by Pinson

She could see outward only in peeks,
Dead wiper blades causing the streaks
That she had to look through—
And which hampered her view—

PREVENT THOSE WINTER DRIVING WOES

The Safe Winter Driving League presents the following tip for safer winter driving from the National Safety Council: "Don't be a 'peep-hole pilot.' Brush snow completely off front, back and side windows. Replace dead wiper blades with live, new ones to prevent streaking. All your lights should be working, with headlights aimed properly. You must see danger to avoid it."

THE RETREAD TIRE

HARD TO BELIEVE, BUT THE RETREADING OF TIRES IS SO NEARLY PERFECT THAT GIANT AIRCRAFT TIRES RECEIVE NEW TREADS UP TO TWELVE TIMES. SO MUCH RUBBER IS USED AT EACH LANDING THAT THE COST OF USING NEW TIRES WOULD BE TOO HIGH.

EVERY $7 OUT OF $10 YOU PAY FOR A NEW TIRE COVERS THE COST OF THE BODY--THE REST IS FOR THE TREAD. BECAUSE OF THIS MORE THAN 36,000,000 PASSENGER RETREADS ARE SOLD ANNUALLY.

WHEN YOU BUY A RETREAD ALWAYS LOOK FOR THE EMBLEM OF THE TIRE RETREADING INSTITUTE. THIS IS THE SUREST WAY TO GUARANTEE YOU'RE BUYING A RETREAD MADE TO THE HIGHEST QUALITY STANDARDS KNOWN TO THE INDUSTRY.

6 TIPS FOR SAFER WINTER DRIVING

By Professor A. H. Easton
Director, Motor Vehicle Research Laboratory
University of Wisconsin

1 • Get the "feel" of the road by accelerating carefully to see if wheels spin; or brake gently to see if they skid. Reduce speed accordingly.

2 • Increase your following distance. It takes three to nine times as far to stop on snow and ice as on dry pavement.

3 • "Pump" your brakes to slow or stop—don't jam them on. An intermittent pumping action three to five times per second keeps the wheels rolling and helps maintain steering control.

4 • Have good tires with good treads. Better yet, use snow tires which provide half again as much pulling power in snow as regular tires. Studded snow tires offer still more help on icy surfaces.

NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTIONS

By M. Gene Snyder, U. S. Congressman, 4th District, Kentucky

Between Christmas and New Year's Day each year, it is customary to take stock of the gains and losses over the past 12 months, to look ahead to the New Year and to resolve in one form or the other not to repeat the mistakes of the past, but to improve on past performance and make the next year a better one in as many ways as possible.

Members of Congress who live with resolutions, week in and week out, are no different than anyone else when it comes to making New Year's resolutions. They think of resolutions which they can share with their constituents and their colleagues; ones which are appropriate at the beginning of a New Year when there is always greater resolve and renewed determination to be more effective.

In giving some thought to some resolutions which I might make for 1968, I've come up with nothing new or startling. The very fact that I've been thinking about them, along with a lot of other people, and that we all resolve to do something about them, should give them some substance and maybe some chance of making their mark.

To Work for Peace in 1968

First and foremost, I resolve to do my part in every way to bring about an honorable settlement in Vietnam; stop the fighting and move the world one step closer to peace. I am but one voice in a multitude of voices on the one issue about which we are most divided, but I raise that voice in my undivided support of our brave men who are committed to stop Communist aggression and expansion in Vietnam.

Fiscal Soundness

In 1968, I resolve to work harder for fiscal soundness in government by trying to show that more spending is not always the answer in solving the problems we face at home and abroad. More spending means more taxes, or more deficits, or more inflation, or more of all three, and we have already had plenty of each, thank you! Instead, I feel that intelligence and understanding are inexpensive substitutes for tax dollars which are spent with either.

In 1968, I also resolve to apply more diligently than ever this 3-foot yardstick to every request for funds: Is it necessary? What will it cost? Can we afford it?

Law, Order and Moral Resurgence

I will resolve in the New Year to try to find a way to show our young people the difference between dissent and destruction by impressing upon them that the very system that some rail against and tend to destroy is the system that protects their right to dissent in the first place, and if it is destroyed, they will have gained nothing.

I would be remiss if I didn't resolve in 1968 to work harder for restoration of law and order and respect for authority as well as the reaffirmation of the rights of the law-abiding citizen.

I resolve, too, to help bring about the moral resurgence we need if this country is going to move along the path of greatness envisioned by those hardy pioneers who were God-fearing and self-reliant. The virtues they personified — thrift, honesty, integrity, patience and understanding — are not old-fashioned and out-moded, but are as right for today as they have been for any day in our history.

HOUSE BILL PROPOSED

A bill to increase the compulsory school attendance age from 16 to 18 was introduced last Wednesday in the House of Representatives in Frankfort. The measure, called for a student to attend school between the ages of 7 and 18 years.

Wise Giving Increases Gift

Although America is the most affluent nation in the world and a land of bounty, all Americans are not so fortunate. Realization of this is brought more sharply into focus during the pre-Christmas season than at any other time of the year because of myriad requests for financial aid.

Here, as in purchases for business or family, an effort should be made to determine that money is being spent wisely.

The donor has an obligation to consider thoughtfully, inquiringly, and critically—the appeals for charity that come from all sides. Judgment must be exercised in giving as in buying.

THE GREATER MIRACLE

Lesson for January 14, 1968

Background Scripture: John 1:43 through 2:12. Devotional Reading: Luke 7:19-23.

"Water into wine? Impossible!"

When they read the Gospel according to John, some people never get any further than Jesus' turning of the water into wine. The miracle is too much for them to swallow. In this day of modern science and technology, they say, there is no room for "supernaturalism" for the sophisticated person of the twentieth century.

The problem, however, may well be what we mean by "miracle." Is a miracle something which is contrary to the laws of nature? Some would say, for example, that miracles cannot happen because the laws of nature cannot be broken nor by-passed.

A Higher Plane

There are others, however, who do not define "miracle" as being contrary to nature. Leslie D. Weatherhead, a British cleric, for example, sees a miracle as a "law-abiding event by which God accomplishes his redemptive purposes." This is done, not by breaking the laws of nature, but by releasing energies which "belong to a plane of being higher than any with which we are normally familiar." Miracles deal, not with the impossible, but the unknown.

One hundred years ago it was thought "impossible" to travel from London to New York in anything less than several weeks of ocean travel. We did not know then of the laws of aerodynamics, but they existed then as they do now. The idea of an airplane flight would have been regarded as a "miracle." Yet such a flight, had it taken place, would not have violated the laws of nature, only the natural laws of which we at that time would have been aware. The laws of aerodynamics existed in nature, but they were undiscovered.

"I Wonder How"

When the possibility of air flight was first proposed, most people scoffed and said, "Impossible!" There were a few, however, who said, "How can it be done?" Because some were willing to stretch their minds beyond what they already knew, today we are building aircraft that will whisk us over the Atlantic in a few hours. When we read this incident at Cana, therefore, the person with true scientific openness will say, not "Impossible!" but "I wonder how it was done?"

There is no need, therefore, to get "hung-up" on the "impossibility" of this miracle. Science does not require it and John was primarily concerned, not with having his readers focus upon the miracles themselves, but to look beyond them to something of even greater importance. Each incident in the Gospel of John has a twofold purpose: to tell a simple story that can be easily understood and to indicate some deeper meaning or significance behind the story. It was this latter purpose that was foremost for John.

Summing up the wedding feast at Cana, John calls this "the first of his signs." These "signs" are to be found throughout his gospel. They are incidents in which with the eyes of faith we may see God's presence and power at work in Jesus. His story becomes, not the story of a carpenter who taught religion and did amazing tricks. In this man's whole life, work, and words we see God himself communicating to man.

Deeper, Fuller Life

We must look beyond the turning of the water to wine, then, and ask what this sign is pointing to. John looks beyond the miracle and sees it as a foreshadowing of the new, deeper, and fuller life that Christ gives to those who will receive it. The difference between life without Christ and life with him is like the difference between water and wine.

The changing of water to wine was certainly miraculous. It lies beyond our present understanding, but not beyond the realm of possibility. But the best of transforming people's lives surely must be an even greater miracle.

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—I am attending school on a half-time basis under the new GI Bill. My wife and I are expecting our first child in approximately two months. What should I do to obtain increased training allowance from the date of the child's birth?

A—You should notify VA immediately when the child is born. Benefits will be payable from that date, if you submit a copy of the child's birth certificate within one year.

Q—I was married in 1963. My husband was a veteran of World War II. Approximately two years later he died. Shortly thereafter I made application for widow's pension. However, the VA disallowed the claim because we had not been married for five years and had no children. Has there been any change in the law? If there has been a change, is it too late to file a new claim?

A—The Veterans Pension and Readjustment Assistance Act of 1967, which became effective on October 1, 1967, has reduced the five-year requirement to one year. You should apply again for the widow's pension. It is not too late.

Q—I presently receive educational assistance from the VA under a program known as the War Orphans Educational Assistance Act. My father was killed in the military service. I am to be married soon. Will this terminate my entitlement to this benefit?

A—No. Marriage does not affect your entitlement to educational assistance as the child of a man killed or permanently disabled as a result of his service in the armed forces.

Now here's a clock that beats them all... Big Ben, himself, watching the passing parade. Somehow, old Ben still manages to keep an eye on things while he's telling the time, and the stories he could tell might fill a book.

With today's atomic clocks, which mark the passage of time by atomic vibrations, time now can be measured more accurately than ever before. Yes, we've come a long way since the first clock, which was simply the alternating periods of darkness and daylight.

Just as man has always relied on some satisfactory method of telling the time, so has he always been aware of a hunger within his heart for peace and meaning in life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL
ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

ATTEND PRAYER BREAKFAST

John Gray and son, Dennis, hosted the Men's Prayer Breakfast on Saturday at the Walton Methodist Church at 7:00 a. m. Others present were Rev. Robert Yates, Rev. George Hoffman, Dan Roberts, Steve Morgan, Jim Lawrence and son, Randy.

Grooming a Cat

A cat's nine lives may depend upon good grooming. If cats are not brushed daily, they will, in washing themselves, swallow considerable quantities of loose hair. These may form balls in the animal's stomach and obstruct the digestive tract, warn experts at the Purina Pet Care Center.

The German recipe for hasenpfeffer, or pickled rabbit, traditionally begins, "First catch the rabbit." This same sort of advice applies to grooming kitty. It is recommended that you approach the cat while she is dozing. It is easier by far to groom a relaxed cat than one in a playful mood.

Good grooming tools are essential. A rubber or plastic comb is recommended for short-haired cats like the popular Siamese. For such long-haired cats as the Persian, a long-toothed steel comb is suggested.

When combing cat, brush against the grain of the fur. If against-the-grain brushing annoys Her Majesty, try brushing downwards, using short, brisk strokes.

As you brush, remove loose hair from the comb and put it somewhere where the cat cannot get at it. The cat can be considered completely groomed only when you have removed all the loose hair from her coat.

Cats should be brushed five minutes every day. In the case of long-haired cats, additional grooming sessions may be necessary.

The subject of grooming raises the question, "Should cats be bathed?" The answer is, unequivocally, "No!" If you feel your cat needs a bath, wipe her off with a damp towel, then brush her until she's snug and dry.

The rewards of cat-grooming are twofold: a healthy cat and one with a clean, shiny coat.

Get New License Before Inspection

Failure to do their homework is preventing many Kentucky motorists from qualifying their automobiles for the final exam in the State's new compulsory motor vehicle inspection program, which went into effect, January 1.

A car must have its 1968 license tag before it can be inspected. State motor vehicle inspection director Dunlap Elliott says. "Many motorists didn't realize this and we have had to turn them down."

Otherwise, says Elliott, the program has "gotten off the ground fairly smoothly."

January and February are voluntary months for the inspection. Beginning in March, inspections must be made by the end of the month corresponding to the last digit on the license tag.

For example, the numbers ending in 3 require inspection during March; those ending in 4, in April; 5, in May, and so on through 0, which must be inspected in October. And, since January and February are the voluntary months, the numbers ending in 1 must be inspected in November, and those ending in 2, in December.

This system will be in effect this year only. Beginning in 1969, each vehicle must be inspected the same month it was checked this year.

The maximum fee as set by state law is $2.50 per inspection. The inspection includes tail lights, head lights, turn signals, parking lights, exhaust system, tires, brake linings and brakes, horn, front suspension, windshield wipers, mirror and all window glass.

Necessary repairs must be made within five days and the car returned for re-inspection. There will be no charge for the extra inspection.

It is unlawful for motorists to use their vehicles on the highways after the five days have elapsed unless the necessary repairs have been made.

Prayer Service For Christian Unity To Be Held In School

The first prayer meeting for Christian Unity will be held in All Saints School instead of the church on Thursday, January 18, at 7:45 p. m.

Rev. Joseph Rueter, pastor of All Saints, announced that this step was taken to make sure that all who attend could be accommodated in comfort.

Rev. Rueter said, "Hopefully we anticipate a large representation of all the churches in the community. We don't want anyone to absent himself because he might feel that he would not have a seat during the service. The church is small—seats only 150. The church, however, will be open for anyone who would care to make a visit either before or after the service in the school."

Members of the community are encouraged to prove their genuine Christian concern for unity in the Church of Christ—that Unity for which He prayed—by their presence at this service and the one at the Christian Church, Thursday, January 5.

Many questions were answered, all of which was very interesting and most informative.

Mrs. David Peebles gave the devotional, and Mrs. Harry Henson, president, conducted the business meeting. Several "thank you" notes from the servicemen in Vietnam who had received their Christmas packages, sent by the club, were read.

The hostess, assisted by her daughter-in-law, Mrs. David Webster, served refreshments and a social hour was being enjoyed tremendously until someone announced that it was snowing very hard, thus causing guests to make a quick departure.

Rouse, Mrs. Harry Henson, Mrs. Robert Eisenschmidt, Mrs. David Peebles, Mrs. Jack Rouse, the guest speaker, and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Webster.

Burley Sales Are Nearing the End

Kentucky burley tobacco sales are nearing an end. For the period from January 3-9, only 50.6 million pounds of leaf were sold for $36.5 million. The price average, however, remained high—almost $7 per hundredweight, according to the State Agriculture Department.

Since the post-holiday sales of the 1968 crop resumed, four market centers have sold their leaf supplies and closed for the sales season. Closing were Greensburg, Lebanon, Glasgow and Bloomfield.

The department reported that other sales-centers are holding clean-up sales and are preparing to close soon.

For the five-day reporting period volume and receipts dwindled each day.

BEAUTIFUL EXHIBIT

One of the most beautiful and unusual exhibits at the Old State House museum of the Kentucky Historical Society at Frankfort is a set of a silver. It was given to the battleship "Kentucky" in 1898 by the citizens of Kentucky and returned to the Commonwealth upon the ship's retirement from service.

One source of failure is inability to decide just what one wants.

Bearcats Lose to Dixie Heights Hi

After five consecutive wins, the Walton-Verona Bearcats were defeated last Friday night at Dixie Heights by a score of 44-43.

The game was the lowest offensive output for the Bearcats so far this year. Wethington and Marksberry failed to register in the point column. Mike Holder led all scoring with 17 points, and Bob Arlinghaus had 15. Both boys played a very good game on defense as well.

W-V led at the end of the first period of play by 10-7. They increased their lead in the second quarter and at one time led by 10 points, 27-17. At intermission the 'Cats led 28-20.

Only six points were scored by the Bearcats in the third stanza, while the Little Colonels put 12 points on the scoreboard, to knot the score at 34-34. The hosts pulled out to a 42-36 lead and it looked like the game might be over. But Holder hit on a charity toss followed by a crisp to tighten the score at 42-39. Stephens then hit two from the free throw line to draw the 'Cats within one point, 42-41. Arlinghaus hit from in close, to give W-V the lead, 43-42. Mike Theele, leading scorer for the Little Colonels, hit a push shot with only nine seconds remaining. The final W-V shot bounced off the lip of the rim as the final bell sounded.

Walton-Verona is now 8-6 overall and 3-0 in the NKIAC.

Dixie Heights: Theele 6-2-14; Record 1-0-2; Coyle 1-0-2; Frye 0-5-5; Hussey 4-1-9; O'Toole 3-2-8; Whitus 2-0-4—17-10-44.

Walton-Verona: Holder 5-7-17; Wethington 0-0-0; Arlinghaus 6-3-15; Marksberry 0-0-0; Stephens 0-5-5; Ingram 3-0-6—15-15-43.

Dixie Heights won the reserve game by a 43-34 score.

Good Morning Coffee

Br-r-r—on cold mornings like these, what could be better than a steaming cup of coffee.

With all the various kinds of coffee on the market, do you know how to make a GOOD cup of coffee? If you are a bride just starting out or if you've been married a while, don't disappoint that husband with a flat cup of coffee. Follow these simple rules:

1. Use fresh coffee. Keep tightly covered—it loses its flavor if exposed to air.

2. Use the correct grind for your coffee maker. "Drip" for glass vacuum makers or drip-ulators, "regular" or "steal cut" for percolators or steeped (boiled) coffee.

3. Be sure the coffee maker is sparkling clean. Wash well after each use.

4. Start with fresh cold water from the tap. This is very important for good flavor.

5. Make at least ¾ capacity of the pot. Smaller quantity minimizes the "real coffee" flavor.

6. Measure coffee and water carefully—2 tablespoons coffee to ¾ cup water for medium strength.

7. Serve it fresh! If necessary that it stand, remove grounds. Keep hot on asbestos pad over very low heat, or in a pan of hot water.

Now that you've gotten the basic rules why not spice up your after-dinner coffee with the following recipe:

Two cups water; one tablespoon brown sugar; 2 cinnamon sticks; ¼-inch strip orange peel; ¼ teaspoon whole allspice; 1 tablespoon instant coffee.

Combine all ingredients except coffee in saucepan; heat to boiling. Strain mixture; your liquid over coffee and stir until coffee is dissolved. Serve in demitasse or other small cups—4 servings.

The 1968 edition of the Farmer's Tax Guide is in the Extension Office. It will help you prepare and file your 1967 Federal income tax return. It explains provisions of the tax law, applicable to farmers, in everyday language. To show how these rules apply to actual farming situations, many examples are used.

As in previous editions, it again stresses the importance of keeping adequate records. Good records. Good records are essential in the proper preparation of your income tax return. They not only insure the accuracy of your return but they prevent either underpayment or overpayment of tax but they usually make preparing the return easier. Further, if your return is selected for audit, you will save valuable time by having adequate records available. For these reasons, while no particular system of record keeping is required, it is advisable to keep some type of current record of all transactions involving income, expenditures, exchanges, etc. You should also keep sales slips, invoices, receipts, cancelled checks and other documents which provide evidence of the nature and dollar amount of the transactions.

A sample Federal income tax return, including schedules normally used by farmers, is a regular feature of this booklet. Each entry in the sample return is numbered and keyed to the appropriate explanation in the text.

This booklet provides answers to your Federal income tax questions arising from your farming business. However, since it does not contain answers to many non-farm questions, you may also find other publications helpful in preparing your return. If you need further information, please call your Internal Revenue Office.

You can help yourself by taking farm-business deductions to which you are entitled. The following list may help:

Fertilizer, feed, seed and other chemicals are deductible items. But, so are farm and breed organization dues, farm magazine subscriptions, and business extension telephones in farm buildings and long-distance farm-business telephone calls. Record keeping service fees, management help, and attorney and tax consultant fees. Expenses to exhibit at fairs, and lost farm-business property such as wrenches, grease guns and chains. And if your farm was hit by a tornado or similar natural catastrophe, repair and cleanup costs afterward are deductible. Claim all the legitimate deductions you have.

DEATHS—

MISS OLIVIA M. BEDINGER

Miss Olivia Morgan Bedinger, 88, died January 2, 1968, at the family home on Ridge Road, Anchorage, Ky., where she had lived all of her life.

In addition to her niece, Mrs. Henrietta B. Goodwin, who was with her when she died, she is survived by a great many nieces, nephews, cousins, and a host of friends.

Following funeral services in Louisville, burial was in the family lot in Richmond Cemetery, Walton, January 5.

Miss Bedinger, a member of a pioneer family of Kentucky, was the daughter of the late Rev. Everett Wade Bedinger, D. D. and his wife, Anna Moore Bilmyer. Dr. Bedinger, a graduate of Yale university, class of 1851, was ordained to the Presbyterian ministry in 1857, and preached at Paris and Richmond, prior to the Civil War, during which he had many thrilling experiences.

When Miss Olivia was three months old her parents moved from Northern Kentucky to Anchorage, where her father was pastor of the Presbyterian Church as well as president of Bellewood Female Seminary (a select school for young ladies, now the site of the Presbyterian Orphanage). She has said, "All my people were interested in education," and one of her sisters was the first Kentuckian ever to be graduated from Bryn Mawr College.

Miss Bedinger's father, Rev. E. W. Bedinger, was a brother of Daniel Bedinger, whose sons, Rev. D. E., John C., Ben. F. and Columbus C. were all residents of Walton. He was also a brother of David Bedinger, whose daughter was Mrs. Agnes B. Roberts, also of Walton.

Piercing Your Ears Can Be Dangerous

Do-it-yourself ear piercing, a practice that has recently become fashionable again, is risky, says Today's Health, the family magazine of the American Medical Association.

Piercing performed by an unskilled person increases the chances of infection and the development of scar tissue. The physician will carefully measure and mark the ears before piercing, because both ears may not be exactly alike. After piercing the ears with a sterile needle, he will insert temporary earrings or metallic wires, which are usually worn for three or four weeks until the wounds heal. This is a critical period and your physician's instructions should be followed carefully to prevent infection or closure of the opening.

The small, self-piercing ear loops which are being promoted across the country are not considered safe, says Today's Health.

These devices have sharp points which are supposed to pierce the ears within a few days as they are worn. Infections requiring medical treatment have developed from the use of these self-piercers. Furthermore, it is difficult to be certain that the piercers are evenly placed on the ear lobes.

The physician will not pierce ears having any type of rash or infection or if small cysts are present in the ear lobe. Persons subject to keloids (scar overgrowth) or who have this tendency in their family, or those who are allergic to nickel or other metals should not have their ears pierced.

A recent article in the Journal of the American Medical Association reported on two public school nurses who were "aghast at the number of girls with irritated, swollen and oozing ear lobes. In a class of 80 sophomores, ten had their ears pierced in the previous three months, and six of them reported inflammation and itching."

Ear piercing is not a very difficult procedure, but it can be risky in the hands of a non-physician.

Weather Hampers Local Firemen In Answering A Call

The Walton Volunteer Fire Department was severely hampered by the weather Monday morning in answering a call at 11:55 a. m. to the home of William Webb, Sr., who lives 3/4 mile down Cleek Lane, off U. S. 42, beyond the Beaver Lick Christian Church.

The firemen could get their equipment only to the entrance of Cleek Lane as the road was impassable. Some neighbors reached the Webb home on tractors and aided in saving some clothing and smaller pieces of furniture. The Webb's had just processed a 100 pounds of pork and beef for the freezer—all was lost.

There were no small children. At home were Mr. and Mrs. Webb and a daughter, Ruth, who was visiting.

The fire was thought to have started around the flue about 11 a. m. Had the firemen received the call earlier, they could not have gotten their equipment over the road. As Chief Worthington said, "It is hard to stand close by with the equipment and not be able to help."

The Webbs have already moved into a vacant house on the farm of Conley Ashcraft, who lives nearby.

CARD OF THANKS . . .

Not being able to see everyone personally so as to say how much we appreciate all the acts of kindness in the illness and death of Charles N. Benson, we are taking this means of trying to say "thank you."

Words seem so futile in such a trying time, but needless to say we do indeed have grateful hearts. For the kind offers of the members of the clergy and for their prayers; for the efficient and very meaningful services performed by the funeral directors, "Buddy" Grubbs and Jerry Rouse; for the pallbearers, for the doctors, the nurses, the blood donors, the friends who called at our home and brought love and sympathy and offerings of food; for all your prayers, for your thoughtfulness and your expressions of sympathy; for your contributions to the Knot-hole League as a memorial, all of us do indeed thank you these humbly. How sacred will be these memories of friendship and understanding. May God bless you all.

ADEQUATE WIRING FOR FULL HOUSEPOWER

POWERHOUSE

It's more than a fuse box. It's also the magical source for all the energy needed to run the army of electrical servants who help you every day and every night.

But your use of electrical power doubles every 10 years. Your fuse box, therefore, must be increased to carry this larger load. If your wiring system is 10 years or older, you should have it checked to make certain it is adequate for your current needs.

Cheers for Checks

NAVY AND WHITE checked wool is a perfect choice for this suit, sparked by its own white blouse. Well put together and a joy to wear, this smart classic can easily become a favorite in your Spring wardrobe.

The short lined jacket, without side seams, has princess seaming, with neat square neckline and trim collar. The slim skirt, gathered to a waistband, fits gently and closes smoothly with a supple nylon coil Talon, Zephyr zipper.

From a wide range of colors, Talon thread was selected in a Navy just one shade darker than the check, because thread appears lighter when stitched.

The fastidious dressmaker selects beautiful fabrics and uses only the finest products—even when they are hidden—to achieve the quality look. This suit is Simplicity's pattern #7439, available in Misses sizes.

TEACHERS' SALARIES INCREASE IN KY.

According to a public service news letter from the KEA, Kentucky is expected to move from 44th to 38th place among the states in average salaries paid to classroom teachers during the current school year.

Kentucky teachers are expected to earn an average of $6100. The anticipated national average is $7296. This, however, would be $590 or 10.5 percent more than Kentucky teachers averaged last year in salary paid.

This is the first time Kentucky has reached the $6000 bracket and expect to outrank Nebraska, Idaho, Tennessee, Oklahoma, West Virginia, Alabama, South Carolina, Arkansas, North and South Dakota, and Mississippi.

For the elementary school teacher, the average annual salary is $5850; for secondary teachers it is $6275, and for instructional staff, $6300.

A NEW YOU!

Lesson for January 21, 1968

Background Scripture: John 2:13 through 3:36. Devotional Reading: John 3:16-21.

People who are evasive in their answers are annoying. We all know the type of person who, when asked what time they must go, reply with a vague "In a while." There are also those who evade our questions by adroitly changing the subject.

Rev. Althouse

There are quite a few times in the Gospel of John when Jesus seems to be that kind of person. In John 3 when Nicodemus comes to Jesus one evening, the Pharisee expresses his admiration for the signs and wonders Jesus has performed. Jesus, however, seems to change the subject: "Truly, truly, I say to you, unless one is born anew, he cannot see the kingdom of God." But Jesus, Nicodemus is talking about your signs and wonders, not the kingdom of God!

Beyond The Signs

If we examine the reply of Jesus, however, we find that in fact Jesus has not changed the subject. Actually, he has moved to the very heart of it, saying in effect: "You have seen the signs, but I am asking you to look beyond the signs and see what they are pointing to, the kingdom of God; if you would see that, you must be willing to be made a new person. Anyone with eyes can see the signs, but the miracles point, not to themselves, but to the kingdom. To see the kingdom takes more than a few minor adjustments; it requires rebirth."

The words which Jesus uses with Nicodemus mean literally "born from above." Thus the new birth is not something that a man can accomplish by himself. It is given to him by God. Like grace, it is a gift, an unmerited gift. As at Cana the water was turned to wine, so God can transform our old lives so completely that we become, in effect, new persons.

Nicodemus reacts the way many of us would; he is so taken aback by the bluntness of Jesus' reply that he stalls for time by pretending not to have understood Jesus. "Do you mean that a man must be born of his mother two times?" he asks. Jesus was accustomed to this kind of evasion. Patiently he explains that he was not speaking of physical rebirth, but of spiritual. Nicodemus needed to be reborn within his spirit. He needed to let Christ make of him a new person.

Who, Me?

We have no idea how Nicodemus reacted to all this; John doesn't tell us. Yet we can imagine that he was at least surprised, if not shocked. Nicodemus should become a new person, Jesus had said. But didn't Jesus realize that Nicodemus was already a very religious, a most respectable man? He was a Pharisee and thus he observed the law with an almost fanatic devotion. Who could ever criticize this man's behavior or public actions?

Jesus was not talking about what a man might appear to be. He looked beyond a person's actions and behavior to the reality of his inner motivations. "That which is born of the flesh is flesh, and that which is born of the spirit is spirit," (John 3:6 RSV). In other words, even if a second physical birth were possible, that would not bring forth a reborn spirit. It is the inner self which needs to be made new.

Even Nicodemus, the respected, pious Pharisee, needed to become a new person. And you, if God were to change you today, where would he start? If we are drunkards, thieves, murderers, or adulterers, it is easy to see where the new life in Christ needs to be made evident. But if we live quiet, respectable lives, if we have been brought up in the church and continue as a member, the need to be reborn within is no less imperative. In fact, Jesus found that the respectable, pious people were often the ones most resistant to his transforming power. Thus, they were often the ones most needed to be reborn.

Is there a need for a new you?

IN THE OLD DAYS

In Aunt Miranda's day there was no question about whether you went to church on Sunday. You didn't stay home because it was raining or snowing, or because you had a slight headache. You went—by horse-drawn wagons or carriages—a much harder trek than it is today.

Maybe because it was harder, people appreciated it more. Maybe in that era of pre-modern conveniences people had a better sense of values. They seemed to know, at any rate, what was really important.

Of course, the church is just as necessary today as it was in Aunt Miranda's day. Certainly the complexities of our present generation make life's problems seem increasingly abundant. Hadn't we better go to church next Sunday—and see for ourselves?

DUE IN 1969—This architect's drawing shows the new physical education facility which Eastern Kentucky University, Richmond, hopes to have ready for use at the start of the fall term in 1969. The building will contain physical education teaching rooms, academic classrooms and a large public assembly arena. Boone County NFO Elects '68 Officers

The annual NFO election meeting was held last Thursday night at the Burlington Courthouse.

The following Boone County officers were elected: Jay Webster, President, Ky. 16, Verona; George Boh, Vice-President, Price Pike, Florence; Mrs. Alma Boh, Secretary, Price Pike, Florence; Albert Brueggman, Treasurer, Snow Road, Burlington; David Kuchle, Chairman of the Action Committee, Beaver Road, Walton.

The first step in the NFO all commodity Holding Action now is in effect, leading off with grain. Grain producers are just like other business men. They grow the grain and feel they should be able to sell at their price. Low farm prices must be stopped, a spokesman for the group said. This can only be accomplished through the NFO collective bargaining for an Agriculture Program.

The chairman reports a considerable increase in membership since the milk holding action. Every farmer should be an NFO member. Meetings are held the second Thursday of every month at the Boone County Courthouse, Burlington. The publicity committee said, "Come out and join your farmer friends."

Second Meet In Series at Owen Lodge, 128, FGAM,

The second in a series of educational presentations under the supervision of William H. Appel, 32nd degree, K.C.C.H., was held at Owen Lodge, No. 128, Tuesday, January 9.

Over 50 Master Masons were in attendance in spite of the very inclement weather and the conferring of the Master Mason Degree at a nearby lodge.

The highlight of the meeting was the dramatization of the Fellowship Degree by Latonia Lodge, No. 746. Brother Appel is to be highly commended for his efforts in presenting this series of educational meetings.

The next meeting, which will emphasize the Master Mason Degree, is scheduled for Tuesday, February 27th. District Deputy, Judge James Ford, urges all Master Masons to attend.

The newly installed Master of Owen Lodge, R. H. Cobb, was congratulated for presenting eight petitions at the meeting.

Kenton County NFO Meets January 16

The Kenton County National Farmers Organization held its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, January 16. A large crowd was on hand for the annual election of officers.

W. W. Worthington was elected president; Lawrence Lawson, vice president; Mrs. Marvin Fornash, secretary, and K. F. Ballard, treasurer.

The following chairmen were selected: Lawrence Lawson, dairy; K. F. Ballard, beef; and Kermitt Hampton, poultry.

A tape was run on the vice president's speech at the Louisville NFO National Convention.

It was brought out at the meeting that the NFO in Kenton County had grown at the rate of six to one in the past year.

Questionnaires were signed at the meeting on the forming of a truck association for the purpose of hauling milk for members.

Phase II contract was also discussed. An all-out effort was urged to get all NFO dairy farmers to sign this Phase II, and return them to the president as soon as possible. By this action, they can salvage their production. Members were asked to buy all the feed and grain they could use to help get the supply off the market as soon as possible.

The NFO women served coffee and donuts after the meeting. Members stayed around and visited for a while.

A meeting will be held every Monday night at 8:00 o'clock. There will be a tape on the holding action, according to the publicity chairman. He said, "Come. All are invited to come and enjoy and evening with us."

Bearcats Win Over Boone County, 65-58

'CATS LEAD IN NKIAC

With an overall record of 11-6 and a NKIAC record of 4-0, the Walton-Verona Bearcats have now won eight of their last nine games with the loss being to Dixie Heights by only 1 point. Last week, the 'Cats took three in a row—Boone County, Breckinridge Training and Augusta. Barring injuries, this could be one of the best seasons in recent years.

A WORD TO THE FANS

Coach Jim Taylor issued a request this week for fans of the Bearcats to refrain from abuse of officials, both at home and away. He said, "Any physical or verbal reproach could result in suspension of the team from further play. These boys are playing real good ball, so any infraction from a fan would be a serious defeat to the team. If you have a complaint or grievance, let the coach know either before or after a game. Your support in this way would be greatly appreciated."

A very impressive win over the strong Boone County Rebels was achieved by the Walton-Verona Bearcats, last Tuesday night, at Florence, 65-58. The victory was a result of a total team effort throughout the contest. Very visible was the desire of the local lads to get back in the win bracket after losing a squeaker to Dixie Heights.

The 'Cats broke into the scoring column first as Ricky Stephens hit a one-hand push. Mike Holder connected for a pair at the stripe, Stephens from the floor, and with the score 6-5, W-V was never tied or behind through the remainder of the game. Holder, in the first quarter, had 8 points, Stephens, 4, Markberry 4, Arlinghaus 2, as Walton-Verona held an 18-11 edge.

Mounting a good lead in the second quarter, the 'Cats scored 23 points as the Rebels only collected 12. Arlinghaus had 10 points, and Bill Weithington and "Butch" Ingram got into the act with field goals. 41-23 was the score as the teams left for halftime intermission.

The Rebels were only able to gain two points in the third quarter, as they picked up 12 and W-V 10, as Bill and Bob each had 4 and Ricky 2. Both teams used a zone defense in the first half of play, but Boone County switched to a man-to-man in the second half and were still unable to halt the Bearcat scoring and ball handling.

In the final stanza, the host team made a desperate offensive attack, but were held off by the never-give-up visitors. Although outscored in the final period, 23-14 the 'Cats kept working for good.

Farmers to Receive Report of Payments

Farmers will benefit from a new reporting service which has been inaugurated by ASCS, J. Lansing Huey, Chairman of the Boone ASC County Committee, announced last week. A report of payments made to each farmer under ACP, feed grain, wheat and other direct payment programs during 1967 will be mailed to the farmer during the next few days. This report is expected to be helpful in preparing individual income tax returns. The same information must also be furnished to the Internal Revenue Service in accordance with a requirement of law.

Since this is the first year for a service of this magnitude, there are bound to be a few problems. Huey suggested that farmers carefully read the explanation on the report and check the accuracy of the total reported by comparing it with farm records. If an error is discovered, the nearest ASCS county office should be contacted to have the mistake corrected. County offices have been instructed to give farmers whatever assistance they need regardless of where the farm is located.

The Jefferson Community College welcomed its first class on January 17.

Judge Ford Favors Local School In Suit

Last Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 17, Circuit Judge James R. Ford ruled in favor of the Walton-Verona School Board in a suit challenging the validity of a special 55c per $100.00 property valuation tax passed by voters of the district last May.

A taxpayers suit had been filed by five persons last December 4. Earlier a "friendly" suit had been filed. The suits, the "friendly" and the opposition, were technically considered as one suit and Judge Ford ruled in favor of the school board.

Work on the proposed addition and/or renovation of the buildings has been delayed because of the pending suits. Just how fast the school board will move forward now is not certain. The opposition group, through their attorney, have said that an appeal will be made. This would be through the Kentucky Court of Appeals.

Asa M. Rouse, Walton, serves as attorney for the W-V school board, and Duane Vincent, Florence, is attorney for the group opposing the tax issue.

Other action regarding local school revenue is built around the proposed utility tax asked by the Boone County school system. The utility tax of 3 percent would be imposed on gas, electric, telephone and water service.

Walton-Verona School Superintendent Earl C. Roberts said of the utility tax, "We did not want to ask for the utility tax, but since the Boone County school system, with 90 percent or more of the population, (according to the number of eligible voters at the last major election) has asked for the (utility) tax, we have no choice but to accept our portion. It is forced upon us through the distribution of the resulting revenue by the utility companies. It is estimated that somewhere near $5,000 per year will come from this utility tax. We must therefore adjust the 55c tax in light of this additional revenue. All the monies derived from residents of the Walton-Verona district would be used by that district and not for the Boone County system or any other school district. No school district is able to impose a tax on another school district."

Leo Lawson, State Representative from Boone County, is one of the persons opposed to the utility tax. He has said he would propose legislation in the House to repeal the law allowing school boards to impose taxes on utilities, occupational earnings and income. Mr. Lawson contends that "the people had no vote in it."

Sales Dwindle In Ky. Burley Areas

Sales of Kentucky Burley tobacco dwindled to a seasonal low for the period from January 10-16. Although 13,666,086 pounds were auctioned for $9,804,068—a price average of $71.75 per cwt.

If State Agriculture Department estimates are accurate, less than 20 million pounds of Kentucky Burley remain to be sold. The '67 crop was estimated at 383.2 million pounds. Through January 16, almost 373.7 million pounds of leaf had been sold, which brought Burley producers $268.9 million, an average of $71.96 per cwt.

Since the post-holiday sales of the crop began on January 3, a total of 18 markets have sold their leaf supplies and closed for the sales season. Closing were Bloomfield, Bowling Green, Franklin, Glasgow, Greensburg, Horse Cave, Lebanon, London, Mayfield, Paducah, Russellville, Somerset, and Springfield. The department reported that other sales-centers are preparing to close soon.

FIRE AT WALTON LUMBER COMPANY

A fire at the Walton Lumber Company created quite a bit of excitement late last Friday afternoon. Discovery of the blaze was made by Layne Cheesman, an employee, who lives about a block from the site of the blaze.

Prompt attention by the Walton Volunteer Fire Department quickly brought the blaze under control, which was in the scale room of the sand and gravel bin. There has been no estimate of damage.

A. H. Gaines is owner and operator of the lumber company.

INSIDE JOB!

So let it rain; let it snow! Doing the family's laundry can be an inside job when you have an all-electric laundry.

An electric clothes dryer lets you select the most convenient time to do the family's wash. No worry about the weather outside because there is always safe, drying-warmth inside your electric clothes dryer. You can even do your laundry while you sleep... load your electric clothes dryer before you retire... set the dial... and forget it. Your electric dryer does the rest... even shuts itself off after it has everything fluffy dry!

An electric clothes dryer is safe, too, because it's flameless. Another good way you live better because of low-cost rural electric power.

Area Agent's 1/2 Acre

—by—
Joe Claxon

Kentucky's farm income likely will be down slightly from 1967, and production expenses are expected to increase at about the same rate as for last year.

These statements are among several made by the University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service Agricultural Economics Department in its annual outlook report. It will be issued shortly.

Wilmer Browning, economist, author of the report, breaks down the report as follows:

Tobacco: Production and prices expected to hold at the 1967 level if there are no major changes in the tobacco program. About 80 percent of the 1967 crop will have been sold in 1967, slightly above normal.

Feed Grain: Prices will average lower than for 1967. Soybean prices will average about $2.50 a bushel (support price level), compared to $2.77 a bushel last year.

Beef Cattle: Prices will average higher in 1968, as will sheep and lamb prices. Production of these three should be about the same as in 1967.

Hogs: Production will rise in 1968 and prices will probably average somewhat lower. However, hog prices in 1968 probably will be high enough to encourage more production expansion.

Dairy Products: Prices in 1968 should average as high as in 1967, and total milk production in Kentucky should be up slightly from the 1967 level.

Though Kentucky's farmers produced slightly more than 20% of the tobacco raised in the U. S. in 1967, overall the state furnished only from 1 to 2.5 percent of the U. S. agricultural products. Economic growth in the U. S. in 1967 was at a slower rate than in 1966, but 1967 total growth was only slightly under the average growth rate for the last five years. Gross national product (total value of all goods and services produced in 1967 in the U. S.) is expected to be about 784 billion dollars, up about 5 1/2% from 1966. However, prices have advanced and the real rate of economic growth for the year as a whole is estimated at 2.5%, according to the report. "Kentucky Agricultural Outlook For 1968," available shortly for distribution.

shots under the basket. By continuous effort the Bearcats defeated a much taller Boone County Rebel squad.

The Bearcats were led in scoring by Mike Holder with 18; Bob Arlinghaus had 17; Stephens 12; Wethington 7; Marksberry 6, and Ingram 5. All looked good in ball handling and working for rebounds under both baskets.

The Rebels used nine players, with Cloutier top in points with 14. The junior varsity game was won by the Rebels, 86-40.

W-V BEARCATS TAKE BRECKINRIDGE, 86-82

Coach Jim Taylor's Bearcats sure had their work cut out for them last Friday night as they played host to the Breckinridge Training squad. Size-wise the teams were pretty evenly matched.

The Bearcats took a lead after a few minutes of play and held a 20-16 lead after eight minutes of play. With five players hitting in double figures, the 'Cats built the lead to 49-37 at intermission.

Breckinridge came on strong and fast in the third quarter and cut the margin to 67-61. Personal fouls took their toll early in the fourth period as two starters on each team were charged with their fifth. At one time the score was tied 80-80, but a field goal by Marksberry and a pair of charity tosses each by Ingram and Holder fed the game as the visitors only managed to hit once from the field and missed two from the stripe. The final score was Walton-Verona 86 and Breckinridge Training 82.

Walton-Verona: Wethington 4-2-10; Ingram 6-4-16; Arlinghaus 7-4-18; Stephens 1-0-2; Holder 7-6-20; Marksberry 8-4-20—totals 33-20-86. Breckinridge: Jones 11-6-28; J. Caudill 3-1-7; Lewis 9-9-27; Wilson 7-2-16; Marker 1-0-2; C. Caudill 1-0-2—totals 32-18-82.

WIN OVER AUGUSTA

Bob Arlinghaus put the Bearcats in the lead with two field goals and a pair of free throws in the first quarter against Augusta last Saturday evening. W-V led 13-6 after the first period.

Taylor led Augusta's attack in the second stanza with 12 points as the Cats were outscored 22-15. Wethington with 6, Stephens and Ingram with 4 each kept their team in the game. Intermission score was 28 all.

After 24 minutes of play the Cats were down by 45-37 as Taylor found the range for 8 more points to pace Augusta. But going into the final frame, Charlie Holder cut loose with 13 points to move the visitors in front and helped to hold off a final attempt by the host to hit on a last second shot.

Taylor of Augusta led all scoring with 27. Holder was tops for W-V with 19.

Walton-Verona 58 — Wethington, 5-2-12; Stephens, 3-0-6; Holder, 6-7-19; Arlinghaus, 4-3-11; Ingram, 2-0-4; Marksberry, 2-2-6; Totals, 22-14-58.

Augusta 57 — Taylor, 10-7-27; Poe 1-0-2; Craycraft 1-0-2; Doneh 1-0-2; Litzinger 1-0-2; Habermale, 3-3-9; Thornberry, 0-2-2; Ward, 4-3-11; Totals, 21-15-57.

Bearcats Hit the Road

Coach Jim Taylor's Bearcats face a hard schedule during the next few days as they hit the road for a trio of games. On Jan. 26, they play at Trimble County; Saturday, Jan. 27, at North Hardin, and Tuesday, Jan. 30, at Falmouth.

St. Patrick will invade the local gym on Friday, Feb. 2, followed by Williamstown, Saturday, Feb. 3. This game was snowed out earlier in January.

JET SET 4-H CLUB

The Jet Set 4-H Club held its third meeting on January 16 at the home of Mrs. D. Richardson.

Regular procedures of a business meeting were followed, after which the constitution and by-laws committee reported that the constitution had been drawn up. This was approved and immediately put into working order.

Melissa and Teresa Lachmann, Chela and John Richardson were present at the Officers' Training Course, January 19, at the Independence Courthouse. The 4-H Clothing Training meeting held on January 20 at Grant County Post Office was attended by Chela Richardson and Mrs. Richardson.

Our next meeting, being February 13, we plan to have a Valentine party.

Choose your goals carefully, work to attain them, success will be assured.

NEW SESSION NEW HOPE

By M. Gene Snyder, U. S. Congressman, 4th District, Kentucky

When the first session of the 90th Congress adjourned last month, we set January 15 as the date for convening the second session. This gave my staff and me only a few days to wind up the business of one session and get ready for the next.

It's true that only a few hundred of the some 15,000 bills introduced during the 12-month-long first session were cleared by committee and reached the floor for debate, but many of those that did were of such a controversial nature that the volume of mail was quite heavy. Our legislative files are bulging with the letters we answered on such issues as the surtax proposal, Social Security amentments, Foreign Aid, air pollution control, the anti-poverty program, the draft law revision, model cities, the Teachers Corps, Elementary Education amendments, postal rates, federal spending, and Vietnam.

We must clear out all of these files and prepare for the onslaught of mail which will start arriving as the new session debates such additional controversial matters as East-West trade, truth in lending, firearms control, congressional reform, campaign spending, agriculture legislation, and civil rights, as well as a renewal of the battle over taxes and spending.

Of the three years I have served in the House, the volume of mail during the last session was the heaviest I have experienced. People wrote long letters to express their views, not just on one issue, but on a wide range of the problems facing the country. It is evident that people are upset and frustrated, and I expect this mood to carry over into this year.

The voice of the people is a vital part of our republican form of government in this country, and all of the Congressional officers are geared to give priority attention to mail from "home." It is important to hear from the grass roots, and regardless of stories to the contrary, members do read their mail and consider the views of all who write.

The way I see it, the voice of the people, as expressed through their Congressman, came through loud and clear against an increase in taxes last year. When the Members of Congress told the Administration that there should be no surtax increase until there was evidence of a substantial cut in Federal spending, they were reflecting the views of a majority of their constituents. As we get back into this issue when the new session starts, I expect the mail to be just as heavy, or heavier, than it was last year.

I want to emphasize again, as the new session gets underway, that my principal function as your Congressman is to be your legislative spokesman. The thousands of bills introduced every session are directly related to your security in your job, your home, your family, your future, and your children's future. My sincere purpose is to always represent the best interests of the constituents of the Fourth District of Kentucky. In the 10 counties which comprise the District, there are over 525,000 Kentuckians, and to properly represent them, it is important to know how they think and feel.

Dealing with the federal government is more complicated than ever, so a great amount of the mail my office receives involves business with the departments and agencies of the government here in Washington. Whenever this happens, my staff and I do our best to "open doors" and cut through the bureaucratic red tape so that we can expedite action of one sort or another. Of course, we can't promise that the action will always be favorable, but we do want to make sure that everyone gets a fair hearing on every matter, whether large or small. I want to repeat what I have said many times—I may not always be able to help, but I am always willing to try.

Most of my contact with constituents is by letter. Sometimes I get telephone calls and telegrams, but a letter is preferable. If you call, chances are that I'll be in a committee meeting, or on the house floor, or where I can't take immediate action. If you write, I'll have all the details and a record in my office of exactly what you want, and then I can go to work on it.

There has been a lot of shifting of office space on Capitol Hill, but throughout 1968, I'll be in the same quarters, so your letters will reach me when you address them to 1532 Longworth House Office Building, Washington, D. C. This is the same address for telegrams but if you do have something urgent, and it is necessary to call, the area code is 202, and the number is 225-3465. I'm here to serve you in 1968, and I'll look forward to hearing from you.

Misleading Promotional Claims Under Attack

A consent order provisionally accepted by the Federal Trade Commission prohibiting National Housewares, Inc., a Salt Lake City firm, from engaging in deceptive sales practices, should bring relief to many phone-weary Kentuckians.

The company sells to dealers who resell its items to the public. Among misrepresentations complained of and with which many phone answerers in this Commonwealth are familiar, were that:

The dealers was conducting a survey and the prospective customers' names would be entered in a drawing or contest to be held in connection with the survey.

Prospective customers had won prizes in a drawing or contest and must make an appointment to receive them.

Customers were especially selected, were receiving reduced prices or a "special introductory offer" and would realize savings from regular prices.

Upon the purchase of one item customers were awarded other items as a gift or "at no extra cost" or that they were "free."

Continued misrepresentations of this kind should be brought to the attention of the Consumer Protection Division.

Extramural research grants at the University of Kentucky this year will amount to more than $11 million, three times the amount of four years ago.

A STITCH IN TIME—

By Linda Tatum
Area Extension Agent

Mothers, are you running out of entertainment ideas for "the little monsters," while the cold weather keeps them inside? What about planning a flower garden or raising house plants?

IN PERSON!

Lesson for January 28, 1968

Background Scripture: John 4:1-42.
Devotional Reading: Luke 19:1-10.

"I can't find it anywhere," says the salesman, "though the package had borne my name and had been placed on the 'hold' shelf, one of the clerks had obviously sold the item which was to have been held for me."

Intended as a gift, it was the last one in stock and in town. I was angry and resentful, but both of us managed to get our mistakes in place. "I'm sorry," she said.

Rev. Althouse and it was obvious that she wasn't really. "All right," I replied in a way that implied it was anything but all right.

Chance Encounters
This brief encounter is but one of the great number of encounters that make up so much of our daily lives. A few words are spoken to someone, meaningful looks are exchanged, prophecies are observed, and that's it. Perhaps we never see these persons again or perhaps we see them regularly but the relationship remains essentially the same. They seem to us totally unimportant, not the kind of thing one would enter in a diary or a journal.

In John's gospel, however, we find that even the so-called "chance encounters" of Jesus were deeply significant. How well this is illustrated in chapter four when Jesus encounters the Samaritan woman at the well. A thirsty Galilean, a hostile Samaritan woman, a request for water, a sarcastic refusal. Nothing extraordinary here and yet John asks us to look beyond the mere events and words to themselves and see the transforming power of God at work in even this common situation.

Her reaction is hardly unexpected. She taunts him sarcastically: Why should a Jew ask water of a Samaritan, if, as Jews so obviously believed, Samaritans were beneath their contempt? When Jesus does not make the anticipated hostile reply, she resorts to arguing with him, baiting him. And still Jesus refuses to become involved in a petty dispute.

"Go, call your husband, and come here," he suggests. Now he has struck a nerve: your husband! "I have no husband," she replies. Can you imagine how his next words shocked her: "You are right in saying, 'I have no husband,' for you have had five husbands and he whom you now have is not your husband." You are a prophet, she exclaims, but she soon realizes that he is more than that: he is the long-awaited Messiah.

Come, See A Man
Excitedly the woman dashes off. She is so excited that she forgets the water jug and leaves it at the well as she hurries to the city to tell everyone there of this strange man from Galilee. Often this is the way people are affected when they encounter Jesus Christ personally. He makes such an impression that lesser things are forgotten or put aside and there is felt a compulsion to tell others about him.

The woman's testimony was compelling enough to bring many Samaritans to him at the well. They ask him to stay longer and he does. As a result, "many Samaritans from that city believed in him." A simple encounter between two strangers at a well has become the occasion for people to come to know Jesus Christ.

Jesus might have accepted the woman's refusal and left it at that, but he did not. So because Jesus persisted, because a woman witnessed to her encounter, because a town was receptive, a large number of people encountered the Christ.

Thomas Carlyle once said, "What this parish needs is what every parish needs: a man who knows God at more than second-hand." We all need a first-hand encounter with Christ. For the people of the Samaritan town, the woman's testimony was the beginning of their encounter, but "many more believed because of his word." A second-hand Christ may be all right for a starter, but what we really need is to encounter him in person.

About this time of year the seed catalogues fill the mail. Why not get your child interested in planning a flower garden for the coming spring? With the colorful bulbs that are shown in the catalogues the complete garden can be drawn to scale on a snowy winter day. With him busy with a pencil and paper, thing of the peace and quiet!

If your child wants a "real live" plant, why not let him raise a philodendron? It grows better than most other house plants under the adverse conditions found inside modern houses. Most philodendrons do well as long as they are kept warm—65 degrees minimum—moderately moist, and out of direct sunlight.

Philodendrons come in various types, so consult your florist as to what is available. When caring for these plants, remember to pot them in a compost consisting of about three-fourths in volume of loamy soil, and one-fourth animal manure.

To maintain fertility, a small quantity of bonemeal or prepared chemical plant food can be added occasionally.

A fault that many people have is overwatering them. Watering once a week under normal house conditions is usually adequate. Be sure that your container has good drainage.

As for containers, select one that is simple, of good design, and has adequate drainage.

CRUCIAL QUESTION

Copyright 1968 Kester Advertising Service, Inc., Strasburg, Va.

The chances are good that Bobby will get the right answer . . . that is, if Bobby has been given sufficient knowledge to put this problem within the limits of his capability! And don't believe that any of these new electronic brains are any smarter than Bobby. Before one of them undertakes its task it must be fed every fact essential to arriving at an accurate solution.

Many folks worry about the youth of our nation. Too many boys and girls are coming up with tragically wrong answers to some of life's crucial questions.

But there is nothing inherently wrong with our youth. We simply must provide them, early enough and continuously, with the moral and spiritual understanding which life's problems demand.

The right program of religious training today will make possible right answers tomorrow.

WATCH OUT FOR PESKY LICE AND MANGE MITES

This winter, you can go after these profit-robbing pests with Purina Hog and Cattle Dusting Powder. It works fast, cost is low and it's easy to use. Just rub a handful or two of Hog and Cattle Dusting Powder on the back of each of your animals. While you are dusting your hogs, scatter some Purina Hog and Cattle Dusting Powder in the bedding or on the floor; this will help control the spread of mange, and the same time, cut down on disagreeable odors.

BUSINESS FAVORS CAR CHECKS AND D. S. T.

A poll of some 1200 Kentucky businessmen by the Associated Industries of Kentucky shows overwhelming support of the state's auto inspection law and for daylight saving time.

The two issues are the center of controversy in the current General Assembly in Frankfort.

The AIK poll, released last week, shows 74.7 percent of those returning questionnaires favoring auto inspection and 71.5 percent favoring daylight saving time.

AIK also released a report of the state's financial crisis. The study claimed the economic predicament was the result of eroding local tax efforts for state schools, and that too much reliance on the state's Minimum Foundation Program.

Bearcats Clawed by Tigers of Bellevue

The two-day road trip last week was a disappointment to the W-V squad as they lost both games. Coming on the heels of a loss to Bellevue, last Tuesday, this puts the 'Cats at an 11-9 season record. With a perfect 4-0 NKIAA record, the locals have everything to gain during the remainder of the regular season. All of their future games are conference contests, beginning here Friday night with St. Patrick of Maysville, and on Saturday night with Williamsstown. Tuesday, February 6, the Bearcats take on St. Henry at Erlanger.

The W-V Bearcats were unable to hold an 11-point lead as the Bellevue Tigers came on very strong in the third period, scoring 31 points, to win 89-73. They hit an extremely high percentage of their shots and put on an aggressive defense.

Early in the game, Bill Wethington sprained an ankle and saw only limited action. W-V led 18-16 and 44-33 before the Tigers took the lead.

Bellevue won the junior varsity game by a 47-42 score.

Walton-Vernon: Stephens 8-6-22; Holder 10-3-23; Ingram 3-1-7; Arlinghaus 2-5-9; Marksberry 6-0-12—totals 29-14-73.

Bellevue: Riddle 13-10-36; Lang 0-1-1; Techow 2-0-4; Connett 3-0-5; Myers 8-9-24; Nagel 8-0-16; Schulte 1-0-2—totals 35-19-89.

The Trimble County game was lost in overtime play. With W-V leading all the way, the little guys of Trimble kept cutting away the margin to knot the score at 43-43 at the end of 32 minutes of play. Arthur Ingram led Walton-Vernon in scoring with 16 points. The final score was 55-48 in favor of Trimble County.

At North Hardin, Saturday night, the local boys well behind at the beginning of the game and were never able to catch up. Bob Arlinghaus led W-V with 19 points, and Wethington added 10—only men in double figures. Evans was top man for the winners with 27 points.

Quarter scores, all in favor of the Trojans were: 14-6, 28-20, 41-34 and 55-50, the final score. The 'Cats outscored the winners from the field but were defeated at the charity line.

Wins Scholarship For College Son

Walton has a free-lance writer who has won acclaim for herself. She is Marie Mark Chapman Blizard, who lives with her husband, Mr. Blizard, and son, Dennis, on Beaver Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Blizard were returning home after returning their children to school—Dale to U. K. and Debbie to Midway, following the 1967 Thanksgiving vacation, and while listening to radio station WSAI a letter-writing contest was announced, entitled "Open Letter To A Teenager." Mrs. Blizard began writing as soon as she arrived home.

Walking through the snow, she mailed her contest entry with a great bit of anticipation. After several days of waiting, a phone call came informing her that because of the hundreds of letters entered, it would take some time to decide on a winner.

On Wednesday, January 17, another phone call came with the good news that her letter was the winner. The following Monday, she, along with her sons, Dale and Dennis, visited the radio studio and received the check for a $500.00 scholarship to the college of her choice.

This is not a first winning writing for Mrs. Blizard, and it seems likely not to be her last. Her winning letter is printed in this issue of the Advertiser on page two. Congratulations!

Ky. Motor Vehicle Inspection Is Simple

Public Safety Commissioner W. O. Newman said this week, "the case for motor vehicle inspection in the State of Kentucky is simple. The National Safety Council tells us that 13 percent of all traffic accidents are caused by mechanical defects. Compulsory inspection would eliminate many of these accidents."

Commissioner Newman also said the Department of Safety worked in 1966 to get a good inspection bill passed. It was passed and a good inspection program has been set up—now it is up to the legislators to decide if this law is to be given a test.

"In states having inspection laws the rate of traffic deaths has run consistently lower than in Kentucky," Mr. Newman said.

There are many, many people and civic groups in favor of this law and it has many things in its favor, in addition to taking a "correct" moral position—being in favor of safety—this inspection system will pay for itself out of fees, and at least it is a start in the war on the "senseless slaughter on our highways."

Auto Check Repeal Hearings

Public hearings on the controversial auto inspection repeal bill are to be held February 6-7 in Frankfort, Senator Floyd Hayes (Ellis D. Rockfield), announced the past week. Ellis is chairman of the Senate Highways and Public Safety Committee.

CONTEST LETTER—
By Marie Blizzard

"DEAR SON"
I look at your long, skinny legs and a mop of unruly hair and I realize you're only 17 even though you're almost six feet tall. I see a spark of rebellion looking back at me out of liquid amber eyes, as if to ask me, so what makes YOU think YOU know all of the answers? You're right Son, I don't know them all, not even half of them. I can look back a few years ago and you tagged around after me—show me how to fish Daddy, show me how to hunt Dad—but I brushed you aside. I was too busy making money for us, so you could live in a split-level with two cars and belong to the right clubs. It was my whole aim in life to give you the proper background—but somewhere along the line Son, I lost you. I didn't talk to you when you needed me, your hair had grown longer and your legs had grown longer but our alliances had also grown longer too, Son.

Now I'd like to walk back a few years with you and I'd tell you the Suburbia Rat-Race isn't so important, or the split-level or even the two cars. In Vietnam, you'll have to know how to shoot and hunt and live without these things and have a faith to live by which the almighty dollar can't buy for you. All I can hope and pray for is you'll have enough guts and courage to learn life is a very precious gift and when your little boy comes to you and says, "Teach me Daddy," you won't brush him aside and say I'm too busy, but you'll walk with him and talk with him and stand by him and instill the faith and courage he'll need to face these changing times.

Love,
Your Dad

Gus Sheehan to Run For U. S. Congress
We received the following release from Gus Sheehan, Jr. of Covington, last week:
"Almost two years have gone by since I last announced my candidacy for the Democratic Nomination for U. S. Congress. I took the occasion of a last-minute approach to run for this seat vacated by Frank Chelf, popular incumbent Democratic representative, and was successful in garnering enough votes to post a threat to the declared nominee John J. Moloney, who later died on the eve of the general election.

"Everyone who knows my interest realizes that I am deeply dedicated to a life of service to my people and, principally, in the Legislative Field. I have served almost five sessions in the Legislature in an endeavor to provide the type representation my people desire in the General Assembly of Kentucky.

"Since my race for the Democratic Nomination for Congress and the closeness of the results, friend and foe alike have expressed an interest in an announcement from me that I will be a candidate this year. Last week, I sought out the advice of many Democrats in the district and all felt that I should announce for the office.

"Some with whom I talked were not aligned with my candidacy two years ago but expressed an eagerness that I give the Party a candidate to oppose an incumbent whom they felt received the office by default of an opponent who had died a few days prior to the election and who had been too ill in the campaign to properly present himself and his cause to the people.

"I feel this is the most important venture of my life, and one to which all others were second. Naturally, I wanted to be State Senator from Kenton County for my Party called me to represent it and to display a unity of purpose before the people that would win for it the Administrative and Legislative Leadership of the State. I did what I could in a 'trick' election, but the odds were against us and we floundered for want of a few votes.

"I do not want to take the risk of the last Congressional Election and announce too late for proper public support. I feel that an early announcement will bring to my candidacy the proper backing in the Primary that will lead to a victory in the General Election for myself and my Party.

"I, therefore, am announcing at this time that I am considering to present myself as a candidate for the Democratic Nomination for U. S. Congress from the Fourth District of Kentucky. I will prepare the necessary Petition and have it signed in the very near future and present it to the Secretary of State for inclusion on the Ballot in May.

"I trust that those who have supported me in the past will welcome an opportunity to participate in another Campaign. I will promise to them the same dedication to purpose: the same life-long idealism that has inspired their friendships and the same hard work that has always won a tremendous amount of support from the people in the past. I trust this time that an early announcement will indicate that we're not only out to win the nomination but the election, as well. And we bid the support of all those who will come aboard and pledge to them that their loyalty will never go wanting."

A STITCH IN TIME—

By Linda Tatum
Area Extension Agent

This is the vitamin C season, because citrus fruits, a popular major source of vitamin C, are especially plentiful.

Vitamin C helps protect your body against infection and helps protect the health of your gums and teeth. These are some of the important reasons why you and your family need vitamin C. At this time of the year the best vitamin C buys are citrus fruits.

You can buy citrus fruits all during the year, but at this season the citrus crop reaches its peak in Florida, California, Texas and Arizona—these states produce our year round citrus supply. Follow these tips on selecting oranges and grapefruit, two citrus fruits that are important sources of vitamin C.

Look for oranges that are firm and heavy with a bright looking skin that is fairly smooth for that particular variety of orange. Oranges that are lightweight or discolored and those that have soft spots or weakened areas around the stem end of the button are not good buys.

Thin skinned oranges have more juice than those with thick skins—you can usually spot the thick-skinned oranges because they have a rough surface. Oranges that are too old have a dull, dry skin and a spongy texture.

You can't tell the quality of an orange by its skin color though. Some are artificially colored to give them "eye appeal," and although these oranges must be labeled "color added," this has nothing to do with their eating quality. Ready-to-eat oranges often have greenish spots or tan, brown or blackish specs on them, on the skin. This has no effect on the quality and may often be found on the best oranges.

You might call oranges and grapefruit "convenience foods," since they are ready to eat when you buy them. Grapefruit is picked "tree ripe," and oranges must be well matured before they are picked and shipped.

The best grapefruit are firm, well-shaped and heavy for their sizes. If a grapefruit is pointed at the stem end, it's likely to be thick-skinned and have less juice than thin skinned fruit. Lack of juice may also be shown by a rough, ridged or wrinkled skin.

Avoid buying grapefruit with soft, discolored areas at the stem end. Loss of color and soft peel that breaks easily may be signs of decay, which may affect the flavor. Grapefruit often have skin defects, scale, scars, scratches or discoloration, but this usually does not affect the quality.

Do remember when buying fruits to: (1) Select fruit for the best eating rather than for the outside appearance; (2) buy only what you need—it doesn't pay to buy fruit in quantity and throw the extra away; (3) buy in season, since quality is usually better and prices lower when the fruit is most plentiful; (4) handle with care—pinching fruit causes it to decay.

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter

Sorry! We were so snowed in last week I did not have enough news to even start a column. So with joy we greeted the beautiful sunshine and almost balmy breezes this week. Of course we will have more wintry weather, but a few such nice sunny days are like an oasis in a desert.

Glenn Rusk of Plantation Heights spent Thursday night with Bruce Rapp.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Reclor called on Robert Waincott and Mrs. Myrtle Jennings on Wednesday afternoon at Booth hospital. Mr. Waincott is much improved, but Mrs. Jennings is still seriously ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Keeney and boys were Saturday evening guests of his mother and on Sunday afternoon they called on her parents.

Our sympathy is with Mrs. Rose Mary Damon in the loss of her father, Mr. Coby, recently.

We regretted to learn that Miss Alice Jane Williams, a teacher at Kenton elementary, fell on Monday breaking her left arm. We hope she is soon fine again.

We heard recently that Wm. Gadker, who is well known in this neighborhood, but now living in Hollywood, Florida, suffered a heart attack on Dec. 26. At last report he is still in North Miami Gen. hospital. We hope to hear soon that he is entirely recovered.

Tho it is by this time 'old news', maybe some of the friends have not heard that Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rice of Cincinnati are proud parents of a little daughter. Congratulations!

We regretted to learn on Thursday of the death of Ed Swinford, at one time quite well known in this neighborhood. Tho he had spent his life in Cynthiana, he married Miss Effie Warwick, whose home was here. They often visited relatives and friends here until advancing age forced them to give up visiting. Mrs. Swinford passed away a few years ago and Mr. Swinford had been since then in a nursing home. Tho passed from this life, they have left a fragrant memory.

Mrs. John Klette Jr. was a luncheon guest of her mother on Friday.

HELP CUSTOMERS

Consumers seldom have the personal knowledge, training or experience necessary to make an intelligent appraisal of jewels and yet each day thousands of precious gems are bought and sold.

Fortunately, most merchants are reliable and the trade has established standards as guideposts. One such is the following definition used by the American Gem Society to describe "flawless diamonds":

"The term flawless shall be used to describe a diamond which is free from all internal and external blemishes or faults of every description under skilled observation in normal, natural or artificial light with a ten-power loupe, corrected for chromatic and spherical aberration; binocular examination under dark field illumination is preferred. No other use of the term flawless as applied to diamonds."

mond shall be permitted."

When buying a "flawless diamond" ask the dealer if it meets this definition.

We elected another game leader, Venetia Reed and another song leader, Gail Larson.

Our next meeting will be held Friday, Feb. 9.—Reporter

Letter To The Editor:

Repeal Threatens Slow Divorce Law

In the 1966 session of the Kentucky General Assembly, a bill was enacted into law introducing a 60-day "cooling off" period in divorce actions. The statute requires that the Judgment for Divorce given on the date of the hearing by the Court be an interlocutory decree only. This decree provides for custody of the children, financial support, etc., but does not dissolve the marriage. The plaintiff must wait for sixty days before he/she can return to the court to obtain a final decree, which legally dissolves the marriage.

This statute will hardly solve all the marriage and family ills of the State of Kentucky. But it is a step in the right direction. From 1964 through 1967 the Circuit Courts of Kentucky reported 29,257 divorces, involving 99,324 children. These nearly 100,000 children represent a thirtieth of the total population of Kentucky.

There is now an organized effort being made in our state to repeal the 1966 statute during the present session of the Kentucky Legislature. The general trend of the objections to the statute is that it is too much trouble and that it adds further expenses to a divorce action.

Frankly, whatever trouble and expense this statute causes, we feel that it is worth it. Judge Stapleton of the Campbell County Circuit Court, who was responsible for the bill being introduced at the 1966 session of the legislature, cites figures to show that there have been significantly fewer "final judgments for divorce" in his own court than there have been "interlocutory judgments." From June, 1966, through November 16, 1967, the first year and a half the statute was in effect, there were 381 Interlocutory Judgments of Divorce handed down in Campbell County; to date only 269 or 70% of the plaintiffs have returned for the final Judgment for Divorce. The explanation for this is undoubtedly complex, but certainly the requirement of waiting sixty days is involved and has proved effective.

The effort being made to repeal the 1966 statute is extensive. It could possibly be counteracted only if enough Christians who are genuinely concerned for the plight of the children who are the outcasts of broken homes, would write to their State Senators and Representatives indicating their opposition to the repeal.

If you personally are in favor of the "cooling off period," would you write your Senator and Representative to express your opinion. Your Senator: Tom Harris; your Representatives: W. J. Loudon and Leo Lawson. You may address them at: State Office Bldg., Frankfort, Ky.

It is no secret that most of the young delinquents in our juvenile courts are products of broken homes. This is just another reason why we feel the present statute requiring a 60-day "cooling off period" before a final Judgment for Divorce ought to be retained, at least until a better law is proposed and passed.

BUSINESS Keys to Success

Are You A Mizewell?

"Look at this bunch!" snarled a construction tycoon one day, surveying 10 or 12 pert young typists in his outer office. "I'd trade 'em all for one Mizewell!"

"What," asked a visitor, "is a Mizewell?"

"You don't know what a Mizewell is? Mizewell get these letters out, Mizewell remind your West Coast engineers about the new time change, Mizewell send everybody copies of this letter. A self-starter, that's what a Mizewell is!"

Despite all the new automatic office machines, computers, and reminder systems, business and industry need Mizewells desperately. A bright young secretary is still one of the "most valuable" in the modern office.

According to Dun's Review, more secretaries are moving up to Executive Secretary today than ever before. They have self-starting indispensability and their new pay scale shows it. Salaries of $7,000 to $10,000 a year are becoming common for girls who really know their jobs.

Here are some tips on how to be a Mizewell:

1. Begin the day by taking on the job that worries you the most. This leaves your mind more receptive and will help speed up and improve the efficiency of the balance of your work.
2. Manage to avoid being distracted by co-workers without offending them. Some of the best examples of this are newspaper reporters who develop the habit of concentration despite constant noise in the city room.

spite constant noise in the city room.

3. Keep up to date on office techniques. Are you still retyping accumulative reports in order to introduce the latest facts? This soaks up time and increases the chances for error. The work can be swift and accurate if you keep a master copy of the report on translucent paper. Then, you just add new information to the form and make low-cost copies on a Bruning 255 diano copier whenever the report is needed.
4. Be organized. Use a calendar or memo pad to plan each day's activities. Don't be afraid to adjust it to suit the day's changes.

'68 Farmers' Tax Guide Available For Returns

The 1968 Farmers' Tax Guide, to help Kentucky farmers prepare their 1967 income tax returns, have been sent to the area extension offices in the counties, and may be had at Burlington and Independence. They are available in moderate quantity.

The guide explains in easy-to-understand language how to prepare and file income tax returns, says S. Q. Allen, U. K. Cooperative Extension Service economist. "There are also illustrated examples which apply to actual farming situations, and sample returns keyed to text explanations."

Important dates to remember in filing returns, estimates, etc., also are included. The guide is prepared by the U. S. Internal Revenue Service with the advice and assistance of the Federal Extension Service.

All Dogs In Burlington Area Quarantined For 30 Days

By order of the Boone County Health Department, all dogs in the Burlington area of Boone County are to be quarantined for a 30-day period, effective immediately. Residents are requested to watch their farm animals, pets, cats, dogs, etc., or if anyone become sick or die, or if anyone is bitten by an animal—call the health department.

This is a precautionary measure due to a positive case of rabies reported on a fox head submitted to the public health laboratory in Frankfort. The Health Department received the confirming report of rabies January 25.

Commodity Program Signup Dates Are Set

The state Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office said this week the signup period for Kentucky farmers who want to take part in the 1968 feed-grain, wheat and cotton programs will be February 5 through March 15. Applications indicate the "program intentions" of the farmer, including how much he will participate in those programs.

Full information is available at county ASCS offices, says Freeman Hockensmith, chairman of the state committee.

The signup period for 1968 commodity programs will extend six weeks, but farmers who wish to take part in the programs are urged to file their applications as soon as possible.

CAR CARE

GENERAL STORE CHANGING MOTOR OIL

Back in the early days of the first horseless carriage, drivers had to buy their motor oil at the grocery, hardware, or general store—and the oil was as unspecialized as the store which sold it.

But the motor oil sold at modern service stations has been designed as carefully as any engine part. Automotive engineers study cars under different climate and service conditions before developing an oil that's "tailor made" for the Space Age car.

For motor oil to do its job of protecting the car's engine, you must do your job, says the American Petroleum Institute. Be sure to change your oil at least every 60 days. If your car is under warranty, keep a copy of the work order showing services performed for warranty validation.

State of Confusion
Address . . .

By M. Gene Snyder, U. S. Congressman, 4th District, Kentucky

President Johnson called for a liberal helping of more butter along with the nation's guns in his State of the Union message. He outlined a plan for extravagant Federal spending, while preaching prudence. He promised something for everyone, while admonishing everyone except the Federal Government to hold the line. It was an inflationary message.

The President is becoming a runaway spender. Comparing the "regular" budget, I think it is interesting to note that in John F. Kennedy's last year, spending was $92.6 billion. Six years later (fiscal 1969) LBJ plans to spend $147.5 billion. This is an increase of $54.9 billion or 59 per cent. Did the war cause this mushroom cloud of inflation-causing Federal spending? It most certainly did not! $27.2 billion of the increase is military—some 54 per cent. But non-military spending is up $27.7 billion, some 65 percent, or nearly a two-thirds increase in six years.

It is obvious that the President was attempting to butter up voting blocs by stressing "guns-and-butter". He offered nothing really new, except to confuse the budget picture with some mathematical hocus-pocus. By using the cash budget, which measures all Federal spending—the automatic programs such as Social Security, plus the year-to-year appropriations, he made it look like he was straining mightily to balance the budget. The truth is, he is adding $10.4 billion to the nation's debt—causing more inflation and necessitating creation of more Federal agencies, bureaus, and subdivisions. From "cradle to grave" programs, he expanded the Great Society from "natal to grave."

The President tried to tell the country that a 10 percent surtax would stop inflation. But the tax increase for which the President argued so vigorously is one side of the coin. The other is Government spending, and here the President again falls short, as his administration did during the past year. He projects an increase of $10.4 billion in expenditures, an amount roughly equal to the revenue which would be added by the proposed tax increase.

Mr. Johnson described this as a tight budget. But it must be much tighter if the United States is to meet the urgent and related matters of over-spending at home and serious deficits in our balance of payments abroad.

He has assured himself of a place in history as the "Paper Money President" by asking that the last semblance of hard metal be taken from behind the U. S. currency. Some $11 billion is presently required by law to back our currency in circulation. By removing the gold cover, our gold supplies in toto would be available to foreigners. The gamble is that they won't cash in their dollars for gold. If they do, the U.S. would be left with a paper fiscal structure, and the lure of printing press money has always been dangerous to the future of any nation.

Mr. Johnson stressed beautification—awar-time frill that perhaps illustrates his failure to recognize the need for priorities. By his shotgun, omnibus approach he places politics above leadership, and unless Congress puts a check rein on runaway Federalism, he will move the country further toward the financial ruin that he so piously warned against.

GOSHEN LADIES MEET

The January meeting of Goshen Christian Missionary ladies was delayed one week because of bad weather.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Hazel Mullins on Wednesday, Jan. 10 at 10:30 a. m., in the church basement.

The secretary, Mrs. Esther Glenn, asked for roll call, and then read minutes of the previous meeting. Mrs. Goldie Glenn then gave the treasurer's report.

The Sunshine report showed that 72 cards had been sent, and 21 visits made to the sick.

Several members were absent from the meeting because of illness.

Besides sending Christmas love offerings at Christmas, the group also fixed several fruit boxes and delivered them to several elderly folks in the community.

After the meeting adjourned, a nice luncheon was served by the hostess, Mrs. Lillian Elliott.

There was no program in the afternoon, so it will be the same for February—the last part of Chapter 10.

Those present were Mrs. Hazel Mullins, Mrs. Esther Glenn, Mrs. Frances Good, Mrs. Lillian Elliott, Mrs. Ruth Worthington, Mrs. Goldie Glenn, Mrs. Bea Hills and Diane.—Reporter

There are a lot of people with wonderful personalities who never seem to get anywhere.

WHEN GOD SAYS "GO!"

Lesson for February 4, 1968

Background Scripture: John 4:43 through 5:47
Devotional Reading: John 10:31-38

A mother heard her little boy praying aloud in his room. She was faintly amused at the detailed instructions he was addressing to the deity. "Son," she said later, "don't spend so much time telling God what to do; just report for duty and let him tell you what he wants."

Most of us are probably like the little boy in that our concept of prayer is not too unlike a shopping list. Like the lad, we may not only tell God what we want (something he has encouraged us to do), but also how we want him to go about getting it for us (something he does not encourage). It seldom occurs to us to listen for a reply. We seem to forget that he is a God who communicates with us, that he is not just a celestial Order-Taker.

Unless You See
That our relationship is to be two-way, not one, is seen in the incident at Cana, what John calls "the second sign." Like the first sign, this one is also performed at Cana. It is similar also in that the "sign" is performed, not to that Jesus may demonstrate his powers, but in response to an earnest plea for help. In the first incident in Cana, it was the need of the wedding host who was embarrassed because he had run out of wine. The cry for help that precipitated the second "sign" is an even more critical need.

A man's son is dying. The man apparently has already heard of Jesus' power of healing and seeks him out. "Unless you see signs and wonders you will not believe," says Jesus to his request. Whether Jesus is suspicious of the man's motives and is testing him, or is merely responding to the continual sign-seeking by the crowds, is difficult to tell. Nevertheless, Jesus was putting his finger on something that is true of many of us: we want a faith founded on proof. We want God to show us the fruits of faith before we are willing to respond in faith.

Sir, Come!
The man, however, was not interested in signs and wonders. There was only one thing that dominated his mind: his son was dying and he wanted him to be saved! "Sir, come down before my child dies." He did not need for Jesus to prove himself, to demonstrate what he could do; just come! If we are concerned primarily in getting Jesus to prove what he can do, in debating his authority, in discussing whether or not he can really make men whole, then he is not likely to be able to do anything for us, just as he accomplished little in his own home town.

"Come!" pleaded the man, but Jesus' response is: "Go; your son will live." Here is a second challenge to the man. He had said he did not need signs and wonders and Jesus took him at his word. Now he was being told to go home and believe that his son would be healed, even though Jesus himself would not be going along as the man had requested. Jesus would do as the man asked, but according to his way. The man was asked to trust Jesus without any evidence to assure him.

Your Son Will Live
Put yourself in his place: how would you feel? Wouldn't you feel perhaps that the Nazarene had let you down? But the man did as he was told and on the way home his servants greet him with the news of his son's recovery. Twice his trust in Christ had been challenged, but now that trust was confirmed. "He and all his household became believers" (John 4:53).

Too many of us want to begin with some proof, some sign, or scientific confirmation that Christ's promises are true. He can work his transforming miracles in us only when we begin personally trusting him and obeying him without any assurance other than his own personal integrity—and when having said to him "Sir, come," we are willing to obey when he says "Go!"

View from your Window

What do you see from your window? Another house across the street? A wheat field? A pine forest? A placidly flowing river, or an endlessly crashing sea? Your view, of course, depends on where you live.

The kind of church you go to—whether it is Gothic in style or white frame, a pale pink stucco built in a Spanish manner, or a domed cathedral, depends, too, upon where you live.

But whatever the size . . . whatever the shape . . . the Church is the Church. God's House assumes many forms on earth, but in all of them you will find His teachings, His word, His spirit.

Go to your church next Sunday.

FIVE-YEAR-OLD SOUTHPAW?

The Reds are really concentrating on a youth program this year. One of the half-dozen non-roster players invited to join the parent club in spring training is 5-year-old southpaw Steve Mingori. He will celebrate his sixth birthday on February 29—of course, if it were not for Leap Year, Mingori would be 24 years old.

ALL PITCHERS VETERANS

The Reds' spring roster reveals a rather unusual statistic. Of the 17 pitchers listed, all 17 have pitched in the major leagues.

What to do About Gardener's Nails

Gardening chores can be destructive to hands and nails unless you take precautions. Skin care specialists at Pacquin suggest these tips for tender, loving hand care:

Hand-in-Glove

Wear gloves whenever possible to protect skin and nails from dirt, rocks and sharp gardening tools. You'll find that gloves will slip on and off with ease if you apply a protective coating of hand cream first.

Stain Removal

If you must work barehanded, apply some hand cream under each nail before you begin. Then rinse cream and grime away with water and nail brush when the chore is completed.

To remove stubborn stains from nail tips, bleach them easily back to whiteness with Mani Magic, a new tubed manicure aid that also removes rough cuticle without cutting, while you watch.

Be Prepared

Pretty hands will be a habit if you keep hand care needs near garden tools, flower sink or the porch. A

Plan 4-H TV Club Action Series Here

Boys and girls, would you like to help your family protect themselves? Would you like to learn about different kinds of emergencies and how to guard against them? And would you like to have fun with your friends while you are finding out about these things? Then join the 4-H TV Action Club.

The 4-H TV Action Club centers around a series of ten half-hour television programs that will be shown on WKRC-TV, Channel 12, Cincinnati. In the series, 4-H members Joey, John, Peggy, Joe, and Francis, along with club leader Dick Arnold, study different kinds of emergencies, what causes them, and how to prepare for them.

The first program in the series is on Saturday, February 17, at 9:00 a. m., and the other programs will be shown on the nine following Saturdays at the same time. Although the series is planned especially for 4th, 5th and 6th graders, any young person, age 9 to 19, may join the club—and the television programs will interest any member of the family.

After watching each television program at home on Saturday, the 4th, 5th and 6th grades in these schools will discuss the programs and try the experiments and projects in class. Boys and girls who are not in these classes can join the club by contacting the Boone County Extension office or by writing to 4-H TV Action Club, WKRC-TV, 1906 Highland Ave., Cincinnati, Ohio 45219. There is no membership fee and no charge for the materials.

Eleven schools in Boone County are taking part in the 4-H TV Action program. They are: Immaculate Heart of Mary, Mary Queen of Heaven, All Saints, Conner, Hebron, Walton-Verona, New Haven, Hamilton, Bellevue, Petersburg, and Burlington.

Simon Kenton FFA Beautifies Grounds

The Vocational Agriculture students, under the supervision of John I. Gray, Jr., their teacher, and William Straw, County Agent in Kenton County, set out shrubs around the newly constructed building, adjacent to Simon Kenton High School.

The work of the students along with that of Mr. Gray and Mr. Straw, contributed tremendously to the beauty of this new structure.

The work is appreciated by the Board of Education and heads of the schools.

Local Girl Injured In Auto Accident

Miss Edith Wethington, 16, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Wethington, 61 North Main Street, Walton, was seriously injured in an auto accident last Friday about 11:00 p. m. She was a passenger in an auto driven by Paul R. Duncan, also 16, of 5127 Madison Pike, Independence.

Driver of the second car was Albert B. Smith, 26, of Route 2, Walton.

The accident occurred about two miles north of Walton, on U. S. Highway 25, at the crest of a slope.

Miss Wethington was taken to a Covington hospital where she is being treated for fractures of the right leg and arm. Drivers of the cars were treated for facial injuries and released.

The girl is a sophomore at Walton-Verona High School.

Basketball King; Cheerleader Queen

Crowning of the basketball king and cheerleader queen is an annual event at Walton-Verona High School.

This ceremony will take place between the two basketball games at the local gym on Friday, February 9th.

The junior and senior high school students vote by secret ballot to select the king and queen, and usually the results of this selection are not known until the time of the crowning.

The basketball king is selected from the senior boys playing on the varsity team. The queen of the cheerleaders is a senior girl. The queen, king and their attendants (the other cheerleaders and basketball players) take part in the crowning ceremony.

This event is sponsored each year by the Student Council.

The basketball game will begin at 6:30. Brossart is the opposition. A large crowd is expected.

The senior class is serving a roast beef dinner in the cafeteria, starting at 5:00. You are invited to attend the dinner and remain to see the basketball games and the crowning of the king and queen.

Too Many Dogs Running Loose

An article in last week's Advertiser stated that all dogs in the Burlington area were quarantined for 30 days.

In May of 1966, a small boy in Walton, was bitten by an unknown dog, thought to have had rabies. Following the incident, Mayor Dale Stephens asked all dog owners to keep their dogs on a leash or confined at home.

With the threat of rabies, why are so many dogs running loose on Walton's streets? Is there no fear of this dreadful disease or respect for other people's property?

Roaming dogs turn over trash cans and scatter litter, causing a most undesirable sight every week. Any citizen who allows a dog to run loose is breaking a City Ordinance. A little cooperation on the part of dog owners would be appreciated by all concerned.

It's the hard work that makes us

Local Man Injured In Auto Accident

Charles Simpson of Jones Road, Walton, was injured in an auto accident on Wednesday afternoon, January 31. The mishap occurred on U. S. Highway 25, 1 1/2 miles north of the Walton City limits. Simpson's 1963 Ford ran off the right side of the road shearing off a telephone pole. The auto continued on over a 15-foot embankment, coming to rest on the left front fender in a culvert.

A passing motorist sighted the vehicle and upon closer examination saw the driver, who was unconscious at the time. A second motorist phoned for assistance. The Walton Volunteer Life Squad responded and took the injured man to a Covington hospital. According to reports, he received severe cuts and bruises about the head and a concussion.

The auto was damaged extensively.

School Looking For Owner of Tombstone

Officials at Walton-Verona High School have a tombstone that they would like to return to its proper place and owner.

The stone bears the name of F. S. Watkins, born April 4, 1810, died March 14, 1890.

If anyone could provide information in regard to clearing up this mystery of where it belongs, contact the school by calling 485-4298 or 485-7105.

Vandals put the stone on the lawn of the high school last fall and school officials have only recently been able to make out the name inscribed on it.

Senior Supper Friday Night

The senior class of Walton-Verona High School will serve a roast beef dinner in the school cafeteria Friday night, Feb. 9th. Serving will be from 5:00 to 7:00 p. m.

10-Car Derailment On L&N Last Week

A ten-car derailment on the L&N Railroad, on Wednesday morning, January 31, caused quite a bit of excitement to residents of South Walton.

Between 9:30 and 10:00 a. m., a freight was backing south on a side track when the accident occurred at Welsh Avenue. Coal and box cars came to rest on either side of the track and at least three were turned sideways across the main track.

There was no personal injury. Traffic on the line did not begin to move until early that evening.

Tested Bull Sale March 15

The Kentucky Cattlemen's Association will hold its annual performance tested bull sale March 15, at the West Kentucky Substation at Princeton.

Dr. Bernard M. Jones, Jr., secretary of the association, says the sale is open to all beef breeds. The University of Kentucky is a co-sponsor of the affair.

All bulls must be purebred and with a breed registration certificate. They must be vaccinated against leptospirosis and pass the health tests for brucellosis and tuberculosis. All bulls will be sold as guaranteed breeders and will have had a pedigree check against dwarfism.

Bearcats Win Pair Over the Weekend

The Walton-Verona Bearcats really turned on with two great performances for the local fans last Friday and Saturday nights. With St. Patrick providing the opposition Friday, the 'Cats had no trouble in taking their measure with a 92-80 advantage. The Williamstown Demons were also an easy opponent on Saturday.

The 'Cats scored a season high of 105 points Saturday in defeating Tom Hatley's boys 105-72. All five members of the starting five were in double figures, led by Ricky Stephens with 19 and Cliff Marksberry with 18.

W-V jumped in front and never did look back. Scoring 33 points in the first quarter and 28 in the second, the 'Cats were well on their way to their sixth conference win.

Early in the second half Coach Jim Taylor began to use his subs, who have seen very limited varsity action. They were all keyed up after winning the JV game and continued to mount the score. As the score reached 90, the Pep Club and other fans began to chant for more. Charles Holder had the privilege of hitting the century mark with a free throw.

Walton-Verona led 37-17, 61-30, 84-44 and finally 105-72.

Latimer of Williamstown was tops in total points with 29.

Bob Arlinghaus led the scoring Friday night as he hit for 29 points. Four men were in double figures for W-V in that game.

Bill Wethington has been nursing a sprained ankle and did not play any last weekend. He did dress and sat on the bench but was never in the games.

St. Patrick had a player named Walton who scored 25 points, and Stahl had 22.

With an overall record of 13-10 and a 6-1 NKLAC edge, the Bearcats are sure giving the local hardwood fans much to talk about.

One of the JV players is very much in the spotlight. He is Mike Ferguson, a 6-ft. freshman, who scored 15 points Friday and Saturday. Watch for this young man to be one of our best.

The JV Bearcats were able to squeeze out a victory over Williamstown for their second victory. They have been playing good ball lately and were very pleased to win by a score of 42-41.

However, the locals were not so fortunate last Tuesday at Falmouth. After leading 16-13 and 33-29 at the end of the first and second quarters, the 'Cats fell behind in the final half of play. The loss to the Red Devils was W-V's first conference defeat. Falmouth led 54-45 after three periods and went on to win 75-70.

Charles Holder led all scoring with 26 points. Allen was high for Falmouth with 19 markers.

A STITCH IN TIME—By Linda Tatum
Area Extension Agent

Children love to have a hand in the preparations for a party, either their own or one for grown-ups. There are many attractive decorations that can be made inexpensively by using oilcloth plus imagination.

With oilcloth and scissors, the children can really express themselves in decorations for Valentine Day place mats, in the shape of great big hearts, which can be cut from red oilcloth. Cut a wide oilcloth arrow and run in through two slits in the middle of each heart, or paste paper lace around the edge of each heart for a dressy effect.

A cardboard container can be covered with red oilcloth, then pasted over with little white hearts. This can serve as a center piece or a treasure chest. To the favors to the ends of narrow strips of oilcloth, put the flowers in the container, then drape the strips from the container to each place mat. Young guests can pull out the favors before or after the ice cream and cake.

A gay tablecloth can be fashioned from a big square of white oilcloth, overlaid with a red square. Cut out of the red cover designs of cupids, hearts, flowers or what-not. The white will show through these cutouts for a distinctive party piece.

Best of all, from a practical standpoint, oilcloth can be washed just by sponging the surface with soap or detergent suds. Spills can be wiped off during the party meal, if necessary. Later, the oilcloth props can be laundered, wiped dry, and stored for next year. And all this party decor at such small cost!

Questions and Answers

Q—I am currently receiving a pension under the so-called "old law." Can I change to the new law, and some time in the future go back to the old law if my income is reduced below the $2700 or $1400 limits?

A—No. While you may change to the new pension law (PL 86-211) you cannot revert to the old pension law again at a later date.

Q—As I understand it, GI life insurance has four options available under which the proceeds may be paid upon the death of the insured. Option one is a lump sum payment. Does this mean that the beneficiary must really take the proceeds in a lump sum?

A—No. This option makes the lump sum available if the beneficiary desires it. Primarily, it makes the proceeds entirely flexible for the beneficiary who may choose to take the entire amount in a lump sum, take part of it in a lump sum and the balance in monthly installments, or takes the entire amount in monthly installments. If the insured makes option one available to the beneficiary, all four options—including life annuities—become available to the beneficiary at the time of the policyholder's death.

"MODEL HOME" PITCH MAY BE SALES SNARE

"We didn't realize until too late that we had been 'taken to the cleaners,'" read a complaint received by the Consumer Protection Division.

A salesman had promised to use their home as a model, if they would agree to let him install aluminum siding, the distraught householder said.

"He was going to take 'before' and 'after' photographs and use them in the newspaper and on television and we were to get $200 for each customer. This way he said we would be able to pay for the job, or a big portion of it," the complainant asserted.

Actually, the innocent homeowner wound up with two contracts—one obligating him to pay several thousand dollars for the siding job and another promising him a commission on sales that didn't materialize.

A sales approach of this kind promptly should be reported to the Consumer Protection Division.

...by... JOE CLAXON

Income tax preparation, particularly for the farmer, can be a laborious job. But the careful return-preparer can save money legally by following some rules or tips. Here are some, says S. Q. Allen, U. K. Cooperative Extension Service economist.

Investment Credit: This is not an option; it must be claimed the same year these investments was made. It is subtracted from the tax due. If the credit is higher than the tax, apply it against taxes paid in prior years, or carry it ahead.

Depreciation: Claim it on all eligible property. Use rates that truly represent the usable life of property. Claim depreciation for the established life as long as you own the item even though it is no longer in use.

Capital Sales: Keep these apart from ordinary income and report gains and losses from capital transaction on Schedule D. Long-term gains are only 50 percent taxable, and losses are fully deductible.

Children: Claim exemption for children under 19 if you provide more than half their support. If children are more than 19, but are full time students five months of the year or more, and get more than half their support from you, they are still eligible. If the child earns more than $600, six hundred, he must file a report; he can claim himself as a dependant and his parents can, too.

Expenses, Income: Don't forget the farm's share of taxes, insurance, and auto expenses.

Investment Credit Suspension Period: This ended March 9, 1967. Investment tax credit on machinery and certain real property is limited to investments of $20,000 or less made during the period October 10, 1966 and March 9, 1967. Investments after the March 9, 1967 date are eligible for the investment credit, but there are certain regulation on these... Check your income tax man for help.

New Rules on "Rapid" or "Accelerated" Depreciation Rates: There are new rules on "rapid" or "accelerated" depreciation rates on buildings costing $50,000 or more. A check ought to be made of these rules, too.

Self Employed Persons: Farmers can now set up a retirement plan which may lead to income tax savings for themselves. Beginning in 1968, contributions to such retirement plans are deductible. The limit on contributions (for tax savings purposes) is $2,500 a year, or 10 percent of the earned income, whichever ever is less.

Starting this year, farmers can take a business tax deduction for all contributions. Income earned from these contributions is not now taxed.

Pueblo Incident

By M. Gene Snyder, U. S. Congressman, 4th District, Kentucky

At the time of this writing, I have just heard about the Pueblo incident. I am sure I reflect the grave concern of most Americans over the seizure, by North Korea forces, of our reconnaissance ship, Pueblo.

We have no alternative but to support our military forces in difficult times. In this instance that support must necessarily mean recovery of the Pueblo and its crew.

The Commander-in-Chief and those closest to him should be in possession of all of the facts as to what effort has been made to accomplish this recovery. In the same fashion, the Commander-in-Chief and those about him should be in possession of such facts as to whether or not a call-up of military reserves and national guardsmen is necessary to accomplish this. The Congress generally is not in possession of these facts.

If the findings reveal that the Pueblo was in international waters at the time it was boarded, then North Korea has committed an act of war against this country, and our answer must be clear-cut, powerful and instantly decisive. We just use whatever means necessary to recover our men and ship, and it must be done at once. The people of the United States will not support a long, drawn-out diplomatic game, nor will they sit idly by and let a small Communist nation push them around.

There is really only one fact that we need to establish, and that is whether or not the Pueblo was in international waters. I know that it takes time for the White House to nail down the exact truth and I am perfectly willing to bide my time for a short while until they do. But once the fact of its location is known to us, our options are cut to zero. If North Korea has violated international laws governing the freedom of the seas, this Government must act and act at once. If the Pueblo had, indeed, penetrated the international boundary line, then we have a sorry mess on our hands.

I hope that the White House and every member of this body will take note of the disdainful attitude of the Russians in response to our request that they assist us in settling this incident quickly and effectively. They flatly refused to assist us.

Every gesture we have ever made toward that nation that was intended to promote peace in the world has received the same back-of-the-hand, humiliating treatment. This incident is a planned Communist pressure move, no more and no less.

If the Communists are permitted to keep the ship then without doubt they would systematically and periodically seize the other 15 or 20 such reconnaissance ships at the opportune time when we were overextended as we are now in Vietnam.

This country cannot undertake another prolonged limited war. It is unfortunate that the Defense Department and Mr. McNamara did not have available protection in South Korea for such eventualities and that is why we are in this predicament. Decisive action by the Administration is necessarily required at this time to see that we do not get involved in limited war in Korea. It is a common tactic of the communists to overextend their enemy on several fronts in order to accomplish their motives. If this country should continue its stalemate war in Vietnam and get engaged in another limited conflict in Korea, I think we could well see some move on the part of the communists to further their goals in Europe and the Mid-East.

EMPTY GOODIES

Background Scripture: John 6.

Devotional Reading: Matthew 7:31.

I have "a thing" about fancy pastry. With few exceptions, it simply is never as good as it looks. In fact, it seldom ever comes even close to fulfilling what it appears to promise. Luscious and irresistible as it seems, it is filled with calories and little else. Usually it leaves me with a far-from-satisfied feeling in the stomach and my taste-buds have been disappointed as well.

Rev. Althouse

Void Within

Many of the attractive "goodies" of life are in reality much like fancy pastry: they are full of calories (of one kind or another), disappointing, and leave us with that far-from-satisfied feeling. So attractive in prospect, they actually fail to meet our ravenous expectations. When we have gorged ourselves upon them, there is still a void that has not been filled. Nutrition experts tell us that Americans are often greatly overfed and, at the same time, quite undernourished. Our rate of consumption is high, but our level of satisfaction is very low.

Pirandello once wrote a play about five characters in search of an author. Many people today seem involved in this same frantic search without knowing precisely what it is for which they are searching. Many look for it in a bottle, others in a narcotics syringe. Even greater numbers strive to fill the emptiness with bright and shiny "things," with success, with power, with work, with sex, with speed. For some the search leads to the hippie's "pad," for others to strange, mysterious religious cults. Yet there is terrible frustration with all of these because the appetites are never satisfied, only appeased for a short time, if anything.

Inner Man

In this age when some men's stomachs are filled almost to the bursting-point, others are shriveled and painfully drawn in near starvation. Yet, even if we could adequately feed everyone in the world—and we could—there would still be no Utopia on earth. "Man does not live by bread alone," we say, and it is true: there is an even more vital hunger than that for bread. Material things do not really fill the "inner man." Yet we find it so difficult to learn, continuing to respond to spiritual appetites with material goods.

Jesus was well aware of this. Having fed five thousand people on a Galilean hillside in some miraculous fashion, he is pursued across to the other side of the lake by many who saw no further than the bread and fish he gave them. Thus he speaks bluntly to them: physical nourishment lasts but for a short time; seek instead the nourishment of the spirit which God's Son alone can give. Only this will endure and provide eternal satisfaction.

Fatal Choice

The writer of the Gospel According to John sees, then, a deeper meaning in the feeding of the five thousand. It is more than the amazing multiplication of physical matter. It is a sign that proclaims to men that Christ is capable of filling men's deepest needs, of satisfying their most compelling hungers. Thus Jesus could say: "I am the bread of life; he who comes to me shall not hunger, and he who believes in me shall never thirst" (John 6: 35 RSV).

It is one of the tragic realities of life, however, that, confronted with the gift of eternal life, men will still prefer to choose material things. God has provided the people of Israel with manna in the wilderness. Therefore, the crowds ask: "What sign do you do, that we may see and believe you?" He had just performed one great miracle on the hillside, but that was not enough; they wanted more.

What does it take for us to learn that bread alone does not fill the void within. How many times will we turn in vain to the world's attractive but empty "goodies" before we choose instead "the bread of life"?

ON THE WAY UP

Four years out of college... assistant to a department head... the junior executive considered most likely to succeed.

We haven't the slightest idea. All we know is that, right now, he's on the way up.

Many things determine a man's potential for positions of responsibility and trust; one of them is character.

Character isn't easy to define—it is much easier to recognize. This man goes to church every Sunday... not because he is seeking character... but because he is seeking God.

And the people who know him best figure that is one of the clearest marks of his character.

BOONE UTOPIA CLUB

The January 25 meeting of the Boone County Utopia Club was held at the Extension office in Burlington, with John Hetterman, president, presiding.

A short business meeting was held. Quite a few members were absent due to illness.

The club was privileged to have as speaker of the evening, James Stephens, Area Extension leader from Campbell County. He spoke and showed slides on "The Home and Its Surroundings." This program was both helpful and interesting. He stressed the value of a tree—how many beautiful ones are torn down when clearing for a subdivision—then when the home is built, the first thing the owner does is to buy and set out a tree, and it takes a long time for them to become pretty.

The next Utopia meeting is to be held at the Extension office on February 22, with George Toad-vine as speaker.

To Tax Utilities In Boone County

The Boone County Board of Education, Wednesday night of last week, voted unanimously to impose a 3% tax on utility bills.

Bernard Hogan, chairman of the board, said that the tax would be effective on all utility bills mailed after July 1, this year.

The tax will be countywide under the provisions of legislation adopted at the 1966 session of the Kentucky General Assembly. This means that the Walton-Verona Independent School District will also profit by the tax.

Hogan said that the new tax is expected to bring between $100,000 and $115,000 annually.

The board also announced its intention of proceeding at once with plans for a new senior high school at Hebron and a new elementary school at Florence.

Square Dance at Kenton

The Ladies Auxiliary of the Kenton and Community Volunteer Fire Department will give a square dance Saturday night, Feb. 17 at the firehouse at Kenton.

Program On Youth At Wa-Na Meeting

"Youth Is Our Future," was definitely brought to the attention of members and guests of the Wa-Na Women's Club at its February meeting, Monday night of last week.

Mrs. Asa M. Rouse and Mrs. Robert Elsenhardt were hostesses and the meeting was held in the Rouse home.

Mrs. Jack Norris opened the meeting with a very timely topic, "The Boy Who Wouldn't Talk." Miss Donna Webb and Miss Janice Brown reported on the Youth Conference they attended last August at Eastern Kentucky University, Richmond, Ky.

These girls were sponsored by the Wa-Na Club, the Literary Club and several business places in Walton. The conference was organized by Attorney General Robert Matthews, the first to be held in the state where about 700 teenage boys and girls met to discuss the problem of "Juvenile Delinquency." Janice reviewed the program of the three-day conference, and Donna climaxed their report by giving some problems of the youth from their standpoint. She brought out some problems of the Walton community and showed club members that youth is the responsibility of the home, the school, and the community to make good citizens of tomorrow.

One appalling fact, and one that is true, is that the teenage girls do not have one single place in Walton to gather after a ball game or even after school where they can sit around and have a coke and just talk.

Warren White, director of the newly formed Daniel Boone Center for Boys, located at Bellevue, continued the program, discussing problems of boys, 8 to 12 years, that are being trained at the center and readjusted to good behavior after being picked up all over the state and declared delinquent by lawful authority.

Mr. White explained that this is an experimental program, the first of its kind in the state, and that many problems were yet to be overcome. At present there are 20 boys at the center and they have accommodations for 44-48.

Following the business meeting, the hostesses served refreshments and a social hour followed. The guests were Miss Webb, Miss Brown, Mr. White, Mrs. Albert Powell, and Mrs. Tom Cook; and members, Mrs. Henson, Mrs. Norris, Mrs. George Black, Mrs. Gayle McElroy, Mrs. Leo Flynn, Mrs. Jack Rouse, Mrs. Clayton Jones, Mrs. Herman Slusher, and Mrs. David Peebles.

The March meet will be held in the home of Mrs. George Black on Bedinger Avenue, with Mrs. Leo Flynn as co-hostess.

Southern States to Meet In Cynthiana

Approximately 83 members of Southern States Cooperative's local board and committee members, agricultural workers and retail agency managers from this area will attend a regional board meeting in Cynthiana on February 21. The session will be held in the Cynthiana Christian Church, and begins at 10:00 a. m. Also attending will be a number of guest young farmers from this area.

J. L. Campbell, Harrodsburg, a member of Southern States 15-man board of directors, will preside.

A feature of the meeting will be a report of operations by John Henderson, Lexington.

W. D. Moore, Jr., Agency Operations Manager in Retail Operations, will discuss the value of cooperative activities and provide advice.

Those expected to attend the meeting from the Walton area are Chris Combs, manager of Boone County Farm Supply; local board members, Donnie Roenstiel and Arnold Alford, Sr. of Verona; Kendall Hand, Burlington; K. F. Ballard, Crittenden; Marvin Parnash, Walton; and Cecil C. Northcutt of Middlesboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Crowe of Walton, announce the engagement of their daughter, Constance Dannel, to Mr. Walter Puckett, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Puckett also of Walton. Both are graduates of Walton-Verona High School.

The wedding will take place on April 27 at the Walton Methodist Church. The public is cordially invited.

WALTON FIREMEN CALLED OUT TUESDAY MORNING

Walton's Volunteer Firemen were called out about 7:30 Tuesday morning to a fire on Needmore Street. The house was owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ed Berkeimer. A family was in the process of moving into the house but no one was in it the time of the blaze.

Firemen were hampered very much by the frozen water hydrants, and water was pumped from a nearby cistern and from the water truck. The blaze apparently started in the rear of the house near the bathroom. It spread up under the roof, creating a hardship for the Volks to reach it. Damage to the frame dwelling was extensive.

FHA Alumni Club Being Organized

An attempt is being made to organize an Alumni Club of F. H. A. members from graduates of Simon Kenton High School, Independence.

A meeting has been set for Thursday, Feb. 15, at 7:30 p. m., in the R.E.C.C. Building on Walton-Nicholson Road, for the purpose of getting this organization started.

If you are interested in an organization of this nature, call either of these numbers for more particulars: Mrs. Gayle McElroy, 485-4297, or Peggy McEntire, 356-7218.

The organization is open to anyone who has graduated from Simon Kenton and was a member of the F. H. A. while in high school.

To stimulate interest and create a program for this meeting, each person attending is asked to bring their favorite household hint.

During the last four years, University of Kentucky physical facilities have expanded by 963,000 feet.

SCHOOL BUS SKIDS OFF HIGHWAY 17

A school bus with approximately 55 students aboard slipped over an embankment at 3:20 p. m. last Wednesday afternoon in front of Kenton Elementary School on Route 17, south of Independence.

The bus went 40 feet down the bank and stopped sideways near the bottom. There were no injuries and no panic.

Ted William Chapman, 36, driver of the bus, said "I told the kids to keep still and not go out the windows." He was afraid that if they moved around, the bus might have turned over.

Chapman said he moved his bus to the right to let another bus pass in the opposite direction and the front tire slipped onto a loose stone.

"I was a little scared," Chapman said, "but we were in good shape as long as everybody stayed still."

'Cats Set Scoring Record On Friday; Celebs Are Chosen

There was excitement aplenty at the Walton-Verona gym, Friday evening. The varsity squad set a new school record for points in a basketball game as they defeated Brossart 109-81; the King and the Queen of 1967-68 season were chosen; the JV won another basketball game, and a sock hop climaxed the evening.

This was the second straight home game win for the JV boys. They defeated a tough Brossart squad by 49-47. It was anyone's game in the closing seconds of play, with W-V pulling in front with a field goal by Sargent.

The varsity squad thrilled the jam-packed house as they pulled an all-court press, switched from a zone to man-to-man defense, and scored 109 points. The record was 108 set in 1965 against Williams-town. Roscoe Denny was honored as he hit a field goal for the 100th point.

Charlie Holder led the 'Cats in scoring with 20 markers, followed by Cliff Marksberry with 17. Five other Bearcats hit in double figures. Most of the second half was played by the subs as the regulars had built up a 63-30 halftime lead. This gives the 'Cats a 14-11 overall record and a 7-2 conference record.

The president, Mrs. Lloyd Watson, called the meeting to order. Mrs. George Knox led the group in the club collect. Miss Mary West gave the Spiritual guidance. The current issues were given by Mrs. A. H. Gaines. A brief history of Olympic sports was given, and a discussion of the present Winter Festival, now in progress in France.

The speaker for the afternoon was Sgt. Homer Tate of the Kentucky State Police. His talk was very instructive and interesting. He gave causes and some ways in which we can help to make our highways more safe, and how we can help to prevent the very high death rate in Kentucky.

After the business meeting, the members and guests enjoyed the social hour provided by the hostesses.

A Valentine theme was carried out by the table arrangements and in the refreshments.

Members present were: Mrs. Callen, Mrs. Zayda Clore, Mrs. R. M. Daniels, Mrs. J. R. Flynn, Mrs. L. M. Gabriel, Mrs. A. H. Gaines,

I-71 Dedication Ceremonies Held Here February 8th

The 33-mile stretch of I-71 between Walton and Carrollton, was officially opened and dedicated at 1:00 p. m., February 8, by Governor Louie B. Nunn.

The Walton-Verona High School gymnasium was the scene of the dedication prior to the ribbon-cutting ceremonies on the highway. Peter J. Kappas of Kenton County, was emcee for the event. Rev. Charles Saylor, pastor of First Baptist Church, Walton, gave the invocation, followed by a welcome by County Judge Bruce Ferguson of Burlington.

Highway Commissioner William B. Hazelrigg told the large audience at the school of the plans now in progress for the completion of the remaining 35 miles of the Interstate between Carrollton and Louisville. He also spoke of the successful efforts of a Glencoe resident to have the name of that town listed at the intersection of U. S. Highway 127 in Gallatin County. With this, he expressed the feeling that although roads of this type are built by rigid standards, sometimes an individual expression is necessary to make it complete.

Gene Snyder, 4th Congressional District Representative, also gave a brief expression of the commercial importance of the new highway to this area of Kentucky.

Gov. Nunn was welcomed by the Walton-Verona band as they gave a very fine rendition of "My Old Kentucky Home." They also entertained the audience with a few numbers before the program began and also played the National Anthem.

During his address, the governor touched on many subjects relative to Northern Kentucky. He called for cooperation of all people of the three-county area to unite and work together for progress. "You have rivers, highways, people and ability," Governor Nunn said, "and with some sacrifice and working together this Interstate Highway will only be the beginning of finer things for this great section of the State of Kentucky."

Mr. Nunn also made reference in his address of the need for a four-year college here.

He told of the tremendous cost of right-of-ways and construction of the road itself and of inconvenience and hardships placed on some by highway construction. But the benefits, including potential industrial growth and the increase of land value and new buildings many times over repay for the initial costs.

At the ribbon-cutting ceremony under the Beaver Lick road bridge the large group of spectators, many of whom had come from the school, applauded as the governor and other state and county officials cut the white satin ribbon.

As soon as the group had completed their autograph signing and hand-shaking, they moved on to Carrollton for similar ceremonies.

Waiting to take advantage of the new road were many westbound vehicles which would have ordinarily traveled U. S. 42.

Among the many attending the dedication were interested persons from several surrounding counties who came not only for the program but to meet their new governor and other state officials. City patrolman Carl Hartman, and members of the Walton Volunteer Fire Department assisted State Police in directing traffic in and out of town.

This was a big day for local residents because many may never have the opportunity to take part in a dedication like this again.

I just talked to Wilford Wolke whose son, John, is in Vietnam. They had not heard from him for several days so were very glad to get a letter on Wednesday of last week. John had fallen, hurting his arm. It was x-rayed and found not fractured and was OK when he wrote. He also said that it is so warm there that they put on their jackets if it drops to 70 degrees. Let's pray for peace in our time.

Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Rapp had as callers Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Carmichael of Latonia.

Mrs. Emil Stein reports feeling better. We hope the sunshine and warmer weather, which will be here soon, will help her to get out and improve faster.

Staffordsburg Homemakers

The Homemakers Club met at the clubhouse at Latonia Lakes on February 6 with Mrs. Roy Payne as hostess.

We have a new president, Mrs. Victor Damico, who was a little nervous starting out but she managed quite well. The business meeting followed the salute to Old Glory, with which we always open our meetings.

Discussion was held on the special interest meetings. Mrs. Marie Rich had a clipping which she read—Jean Dixon's prophecies for 1968. She doesn't paint a pretty picture. However, with things in turmoil, both at home and abroad, one would indeed have to have rose-tinted glasses to see much promise in the news.

The cultural chairman gave the devotion—asking Mrs. Shaw to read John 15:13-15. Mrs. Hill read a part of the material for January which we had missed because the bad roads made us cancel the meeting.

Our hostess had prepared a delicious meal, which everyone enjoyed very much. Mrs. Paprotta arrived in time to share our desert. She explained many facets of the club work, including that she can get book lists for the individual members this year.

Mrs. Damico and Mrs. Rich did a nice presentation of the lesson on decorations made of nature's products. They showed real skill in a field new to all of us. We are prone to look more at the things man makes and give less notice to those God provides free to all.

Mrs. Elam brought some very pretty Christmas trees which she had made for favors and forgot to bring them in December.

Others present were Mrs. L. J. Rapp, and Mrs. Lee Faulkner. The March meeting will be at the same place with Mrs. Bluch Rich as hostess.

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—My son, a World War II veteran, died recently, and I found to my surprise that although he married and has two children, I was listed as his beneficiary; he never changed his beneficiary on his National Service Life Insurance when he got married. I believe he really intended his wife and children to receive his insurance. May I assign the proceeds of the insurance policy to them?

A—Yes, you may assign the proceeds to your son's wife. Your nearest VA office will be able to help you complete the assignment.

Q—I expect to be discharged from the service within five months after having served five years on active duty. May I apply now for a G. I. Certificate of Eligibility so that I will be able to attend college as soon as I am discharged?

A—You cannot receive a Certificate of Eligibility until you have been discharged from the service, because a copy of your discharge paper, DD 214, is required with your application. However, as a serviceman you are already eligible to participate in the educational assistance program.

Q—I am a Viet-Nam era veteran. May I take a correspondence course under the G. I. Bill?

A—Yes. The educational assistance allowance for a correspondence course is computed on the basis of the established charge for the course.

JOE CLAXON

Record farm output and declining prices in 1967 caused a 10% drop in net farm income. This situation may have a carry-over into 1968, particularly in the grain and livestock sectors.

Those statements are in the bi-weekly outlook letter of the U. K. Cooperative Extension Service agricultural economics department.

Wilmer Browning, economist, author of the current letter, says "large feed-grain production and low prices (from 1967) may exert downward pressure on farm prices and income from both grain and livestock in the year ahead, 1968."

Major impact of these forces may not be noted until the last half of 1968, he says, "but if farmers respond to relatively low feed grain prices by increasing livestock production, lower prices and income from livestock are almost certain."

He noted feed grain production was up 12 percent in 1967, to a new record high. Red meat and poultry production combined are increasing more gradually. Fed cattle prices in 1968 are expected to continue relatively favorable but if production is increased, fed cattle prices will decline.

Hog prices are expected to average $19 to $21 a hundred for the year, unless producers respond to lower corn prices and increase production substantially, the report says.

The report cautioned farmers to "weigh carefully" the probable consequences of large increases in livestock production this year, and the effects on farm prices and income.

The number of farms to be in operation in 1968 in Kentucky is estimated at about 136,000—a decline of some 2,000 from 1967. That's the report of James Koepfer, USDA Kentucky crop and Livestock Reporting Service, Louisville. His report was noted this week by the U. K. Cooperative Extension Service. Average size of these 136,000 farms is expected to be about 125 acres, Mr. Koepfer said, a gain of one acre per farm over last year. In Kentucky, there will be about 17,000,000 acres under cultivation in 1968, down about 100,000 acres under cultivation in 1968, down about 100,000 acres from 1967. In 1910, the report shows, there were 250,000 farms in the state, averaging 85.6 acres apiece, and 22,170,000 acres under cultivation.

Neighboring or nearby states show similar declines in farm numbers. These include Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia, Tennessee and Missouri. Each shows a gain in number of acres per farm, as does Kentucky, West Virginia up an estimated 7 acres over 1967.

Nationally, 1968 will have 3,059,000 farms, down 3 percent from 1967. Total acreage in farms (1,128,000,000) also is declining but more slowly than total number of farms. In the U. S. as a whole, farm size has jumped from 288 acres average to an estimated 369 acres for 1968, the report says.

"FREE FILM" OFFERS MAY BE MISLEADING

Have you been confused by "free film" offer?

A common form of bargain advertising used to promote the sale of photographic film processing is the offer of a roll of film, represented as being free to consumers who purchase a particular advertiser's service.

A guide against the deceptive use of the word "free" by sellers of film and film processing services has been proposed.

"Free" film offers are understood by consumers to mean that the price charged by the advertiser is for processing alone and does not include any part of the cost of the film," according to the Federal Trade Commission, "and if any portion of the represented price charged for processing includes all or part of the cost of film to the processor, the 'free' film offer is deceptive and consumers are misled."

JACKSON PURCHASE

The Jackson Purchase is a 2500-square-mile area of Kentucky west of the Tennessee River. The region was purchased from the Chickasaw Indians in 1818 through negotiations by General Andrew Jackson and Gov. Isaac Shelby.

Children of all ages have one thing in common—they close their ears to advice and open their eyes to example.

THIS I KNOW!

Lesson for February 18, 1968

Background Scripture: John 7 through 9, Devotional Reading: 2 Corinthians 4:1-6.

"Seeing is believing," runs the old adage. Yet sometimes perhaps it is even more correct to say that believing is seeing. Sometimes we cannot see because there is no disposition to believe in anything. If our minds are made up, our eyes are likely to be closed. Then, as Jesus put it, "If they do not hear Moses and the prophets, neither will they be convinced if someone should rise from the dead" (Luke 16: 31 RSV).

For Further Discovery

There could be little scientific advance today if men of science were not willing to believe beyond what has already been proven. Several years ago in the journal of a leading university there appeared an article about "particle 38." Having celebrated its discovery, the writer went on to say: "We are not absolutely sure particle 38 really exists, but it is a most helpful construction for further discovery." There can be no basis for further discovery in any field if we close our eyes and refuse to look beyond what we know to be proven.

Just as we have seen that there are two types of starvation or malnutrition, so there are two types of blindness. Physical blindness is bad enough, but spiritual blindness is an even more serious condition. The loss of one's soul is even more critical than the loss of the eyes.

Furthermore, Jesus makes it clear that spiritual blindness is not accidental. The man who loses his eyesight suffers enforced blindness, but the man who is spiritually blind is different in that he chooses to be blind. He can see but refuses to accept what he sees. His handicap is his unwillingness.

Spiritual Myopia

This is evident in John 9 when Jesus heals the blind man. When the man appears before his fellow townspeople, they can see that his eyes are open, that he is no longer sightless. Yet, skeptically they ask: "Is not this the man who used to sit and beg?" Some agree that it is, while others refuse to accept what they see. "No, but he is like him." Because they do not want to believe, they will not see.

The Pharisees are no less blind. That a man's sight has been restored seems of no consequence to them. They fix their near-sighted vision on a question of propriety: has the sabbath been broken? Healing, they reasoned, was work and work was strictly forbidden on the sabbath. Since they were confronted by something they could not explain, they closed their eyes and saw only what they wanted. They remind us of the physician in Zadiq who predicted that Zadiq would lose his eyesight. When, instead, Zadiq recovered, the physician wrote a treatise on why Zadiq should have been blind!

"Now I See!"

Thwarted in their attempts to get damaging testimony from the parents of the man who had been healed, the Pharisees turn to the man himself. Wasn't he aware that this "healer" was an impostor, a sinner? Theologically, of course, the healed man was no match for them. He was unable to untangle the legal implications of his healing. There is, however, one thing that he can say with complete confidence: "... one thing I know, that though I was blind, now I see."

There is much in both science and religion today that lies beyond our proof and understanding. There is much we cannot explain. But we are not called to prove Christ, to match theological wits with each other, or to author irrefutable doctrines and creeds. We are challenged to meet life with eyes wide-open, ready to see whatever God would reveal to us and share with each other, not our theories, but our experiences of what Christ has done for us.

A STITCH IN TIME—

By Linda Tatum
Area Extension Agent

Congratulations Boone County! Not only did your 4-H members get awards this month but your 4-H leaders council was chosen as the winning county council in the Northern Kentucky Extension Area.

As you know, this area includes eight counties. Beckham Shields is council president, and Mrs. Joe Domaschko, council vice-president, and they received the award February 3. Each year the selected council is honored during the State 4-H Leaders Council winter meeting. Mr. Shields and Mrs. Domaschko were guests of the State 4-H Leaders' Council at a luncheon held at the Springs Motel in Lexington.

The winning council is selected in view of a report turned in, telling of the council's activities and events with the 4-H.

Due to the new change in the 4-H club year, which will be a regular calendar year, the 4-H Senior Project Books were turned in in January. Even though the members had a short time in which to prepare their books, we still had approximately 35 books turned in. Those winning were: Linda Tupman, dairy and junior leadership; Juanita Locke, health, garden and food preservation; Donna Sayre, recreation, home furnishings; Greg Baute, entomology; Carol Schwenke, clothing and bread; Judy Hetterman, electric; Judy Diemar, foods, and Paula Dunn, horse and pony.

The 4-H's will send their books to Area Achievement, February 17, at Williamstown. Since the ruling permits one person to send only two books, Juanita Locke will submit her food preservation record and an over-all Home Economics record. Carol Schwenke will enter in clothing and achievement.

In the last ten years deaths from emphysema have increased six times over.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .

. . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Tobacco Quota Vote Conducted By Mail

The referendum on marketing quotas for the next three crops of Burley tobacco will be conducted by mail during the period February 23 - March 1, according to Chairman Russell Rector of the Kenton County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

A ballot will be mailed to each person 18 years of age or older known to have had an interest in the 1967 crop of Burley tobacco. Any person who shared in a Burley crop in 1967 who does not receive a ballot may obtain one by calling, writing or visiting the ASCS county office at Nicholson. All ballots must be returned to the ASCS county office or be postmarked no later than March 1, in order to be counted.

Mr. Rector pointed out that notices of farm acreage allotments have been mailed to all Burley tobacco farm operators so that they may know what their 1968 allotments are in advance of the referendum.

If at least two-thirds of the growers voting in the referendum vote "yes," quotas and acreage allotments will be in effect for the 1968, 1969 and 1970 crops of Burley tobacco.

Penalties for marketing excess tobacco will be in effect, and price support will be available to growers who do not exceed their farm acreage allotments. Price supports for 1968 will be 64 cents per pound.

If marketing quotas are not approved, there will be no quotas or penalties, and no price support on the 1968 crop of Burley. In that event, another referendum would be held next year on quotas for the following three crops.

The referendum is the same in Boone County, according to Chairman J. Lassing Huey.

FINE OF $20 TO $100 FOR CUTTING, TEARING OR MUTILATING BOOKS, NEWSPAPERS OR PERIODICALS BELONGING TO NATIONAL FFA Week

Is February 17 - 24

Vocational agriculture students in Simon Kenton High School, Independence, will join Future Farmers of America members throughout the nation in activities to focus attention on the importance of agriculture during National FFA Week, February 17-24.

"Challenging Youth in Agriculture" is this year's FFA Week theme. The message that these young agriculturists are trying to impart to the nation is simple. They seek to inform the public of the importance of the agricultural industry to America and to the world, the value of good citizenship development, and the role of Future Farmers of America in helping meet the challenges in world food production that faces America today.

"Because of the many predictions of world hunger in the future, many people have stopped listening," said John Gray, vocational agriculture teacher and FFA advisor at Simon Kenton. "Now, suddenly, the future is here! For the past seven years, our world has not been able to grow as much food as it has eaten. And, finally, the bottomless U. S. surpluses have melted away."

Locally, members of the Simon Kenton FFA Chapter are participating in National FFA Week.

The Simon Kenton Chapter has 41 members. The national FFA organization has about 450,000 members, with 9,000 local chapters in the 50 states and Puerto Rico. Membership in Kentucky totals 14,000.

The week of George Washington's Birthday is chosen each year for the national observance.

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter

Henry Rice whose home is in California, stopped enroute home from a business trip in the east, to spend a day with his mother, Mrs. Mary Rice, of Bristow Road. We were very pleased to see them at church, Sunday morning. I am sometimes reminded that according to Luke 4:18 Jesus "as His custom was" went to the church (synagogue) on the Sabbath day.

Miss Hope Keeney enjoyed a brief visit here with family and friends, arriving Feb. 10 and going on to Chicago Feb. 14. She was a guest of Miss Mary Stephens Sunday evening and of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Giles, Monday, of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Richardson, Monday evening, and Mr. and Mrs. John Klette, Tuesday evening.

We were so sorry to hear that Mrs. William Brannock of Kelat, fell in their yard breaking her hip on Wednesday morning. She is at Good Samaritan Hospital in Lexington. We wish for her complete recovery.

John Shaw celebrated his birthday Monday, Feb. 12. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Giles and little Melissa Folmer visited with the Shaws in the evening. Many happy returns, John.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Richardson and daughters paid a surprise visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Richardson, Sunday, bringing a bountiful meal, ready to serve.

Several people have been on the sick list here. Among them, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Rapp and Bruce, and Mrs. Thelma Binder.

Mrs. James Lancaster of Lexington, called on her parents Sunday. Jim was too busy with school work.

Staffordsburg W. S. C. S.

The W.S.C.S. met at the home of Mrs. Reva Fennell on Tuesday evening. Mrs. Fennell, president, conducted the business meeting, and as usual called for the secretary's and treasurer's reports.

We considered ways to make some money to replenish our account. A bake sale was discussed. We will announce later.

Mrs. Ray Fennell, who made a trip to the Holy land in 1967, showed some very interesting pictures, most of which she took while there. She also brought a dress like those worn by the people who live in that area, and a head dress ornamented with the girl's dowry in simulated gold coins. The prettiest thing she showed was a dress for which she purchased the material there and had made when she came home. We appreciated very much seeing and hearing about these places where many of us can never go. Our thanks to Mrs. Fennell.

The devotion was given following the pictures with Colossians 3:16 as the text. Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom, teaching and admonishing one another in Psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord. Enlarging on the subject, the story was told of how the Bible in the many tongues is contributing the development of stable governments in the emerging states in Africa. Some of the best leaders having been educated in the mission schools. The meeting was closed with the Lord's prayer.

Delicious refreshments were then served to Mesdames D. Ballinger, C. Looney, R. Looney, D. Keeney, C. Faulkner, R. Fennell, H. Rees, J. Richardson, J. Keeney, J. Shaw and D. Parsons. Misses Helen Richardson, Nevo Jo Fennell, and Sharon Parsons.

Mrs. Dawson Ballinger will be hostess for our next meeting with Mrs. John Shaw in charge of the program. We would so much like to have more of the women of the church and community attend our meetings. Can't you come?

The Administration's Crawl-fishing Tactics On the Pueblo

By M. Gene Snyder, U. S. Congressman, 4th District, Kentucky

The Pueblo incident is beginning to take on the air of another U. S. defeat. Both Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense pro tempore Robert S. McNamara on Sunday, February 4, began to back down on the position that the United States was in international waters before the ship was captured.

This is another major issue in the credibility gap. On their TV appearance Sunday, Rusk and McNamara began by sticking to the Administration's previous position that the Pueblo at no time had sailed into North Korea's territorial waters, as North Korea charged when she seized the vessel January 23. But then, both Rusk and McNamara began to qualify their answers: "I think we can't say beyond the shadow of a doubt at no time during the voyage it entered North Korean waters," McNamara declared. McNamara then went on to say there was a period of radio silence from January 10 to January 21 "and it is in that period that we lack knowledge."

On January 26, however, Dean Rusk made the statement that the Pueblo was in international waters "at all stages" before its capture. He called the capture an "outrageous act of piracy on the high seas." Of the Pueblo's crew he said, "They have committed no crime. They were in international waters. They had a right to be where they were." At the United Nations, Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg said on January 26, "The location of the Pueblo was constantly far away from Korean shores, always away from the 12-mile limit until it was taken."

Now, two weeks after the capture, the Administration is changing its story. Both Rusk and McNamara emphasized that the ship had orders not to go within 12 miles of shore, that it had sophisticated navigational equipment—but that now they aren't certain about whether or not it invaded territorial waters, as claimed by the North Koreans, at some time during its 10 days of radio silence.

The backdown is a letdown for the American people. It may be just a diplomatic play designed to have race for the North Koreans, let them have some sort of apology in exchange for return of the ship and crew. If this is the case, it means the U. S. is willing to let a little nation of 12 million people push it around, capture its ships on the high seas. In other words, we cannot defend, nor dare retrieve our equipment or men.

Lucky Clovers 4-H Club

The February meeting of the Lucky Clovers was held at the home of Jane and Jo Ann Duncan. Mrs. Duncan served refreshments.

All of the girls attended the Valentine skating party that night. Pat Glaser was selected as third place Valentine Queen.

Most of the girls are planning to give 4-H demonstrations. The girls are also planning to ask their pastor if they may participate in the church services May 19 to emphasize the Heart H in 4-H club work. Most of the girls attend some church.

Next month's meeting will be held at the home of Neva Finnell.

The other alternative is that we were wrong all the time—that Rusk and McNamara were not telling the truth from the beginning. If so, it is but another in the unbelievable incidents of the "right to lie" which has been the policy of this Administration from the very beginning. What we need in Washington is honest leadership —the people of our country deserve the truth!

The Administration's Crawfishing Tactics On the Pueblo

By M. Gene Snyder, U. S. Congressman, 4th District, Kentucky

The Pueblo incident is beginning to take on the air of another U. S. defeat. Both Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Secretary of Defense pro tempore Robert S. McNamara on Sunday, February 4, began to back down on the position that the United States was in international waters before the ship was captured.

This is another major issue in the credibility gap. On their TV appearance Sunday, Rusk and McNamara began by sticking to the Administration's previous position that the Pueblo at no time had sailed into North Korea's territorial waters, as North Korea charged when she seized the vessel January 23. But then, both Rusk and McNamara began to qualify their answers: "I think we can't say beyond the shadow of a doubt at no time during the voyage it entered North Korean waters," McNamara declared. McNamara then went on to say there was a period of radio silence from January 10 to January 21 "and it is in that period that we lack knowledge."

On January 26, however, Dean Rusk made the statement that the Pueblo was in international waters "at all stages" before its capture. He called the capture an "outrageous act of piracy on the high seas." Of the Pueblo's crew he said, "They have committed no crime. They were in international waters. They had a right to be where they were." At the United Nations, Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg said on January 26, "The location of the Pueblo was constantly far away from Korean shores, always away from the 12-mile limit until it was taken."

Now, two weeks after the capture, the Administration is changing its story. Both Rusk and McNamara emphasized that the ship had orders not to go within 12 miles of shore, that it had sophisticated navigational equipment—but that now they aren't certain about whether or not it invaded territorial waters, as claimed by the North Koreans, at some time during its 10 days of radio silence.

The backdown is a letdown for the American people. It may be just a diplomatic play designed to have race for the North Koreans, let them have some sort of apology in exchange for return of the ship and crew. If this is the case, it means the U. S. is willing to let a little nation of 12 million people push it around, capture its

regardless of the severity of the provocation.

The other alternative is that we were wrong all the time—that Rusk and McNamara were not telling the truth from the beginning. If so, it is but another in the unbelievable incidents of the "right to lie" which has been the policy of this Administration from the very beginning. What we need in Washington is honest leadership—the people of our country deserve the truth!

Lucky Clovers 4-H Club

The February meeting of the Lucky Clovers was held at the home of Jane and Jo Ann Duncan. Mrs. Duncan served refreshments.

All of the girls attended the Valentine skating party that night. Pat Glaser was selected as third place Valentine Queen.

Most of the girls are planning to give 4-H demonstrations. The girls are also planning to ask their pastor if they may participate in the church services May 19 to emphasize the Heart H in 4-H club work. Most of the girls attend some church.

Next month's meeting will be held at the home of Neva Fennell.

THE SHEPHERD

Lesson for February 25, 1968

Background Scriptures: John 10.
Devotional Readings: John 10:1-5.

While we were driving through Wyoming's Big Horn mountains this past summer, one of my sons spotted and called our attention to "hundreds of white rocks" on the road that climbed before us. As we drew nearer we recognized that the "rocks" were in reality sheep; a huge flock of sheep that nearly covered the mountainside was moving slowly in our direction.

Rev. Althouse delighted at the prospect of seeing so close at hand the fluffy, white animals. When at last we reached the sheep, however, engulfing our car on all sides like a swollen mountain stream, we were in for a surprise. Fluffy, white, "cute" at a distance, the sheep at close hand were not so white, not so fluffy, and not at all "cute."

Delicious Luxury

In fact, the sheep had an unpleasant odor. They were inhabited by huge flies. And as they continued to buffet the car—for no apparent reason except that the first had done so—it became apparent that they were none too intelligent either. Furthermore, the shepherd, when he passed us, was hardly the romantic figure we had envisioned. He looked tired, bored, and not in the best of moods.

Indistinctly the twenty-third Psalm came to my mind and I remembered reading somewhere that most people misinterpret it entirely. Many repeat its words and envision beautiful green hillsides, lavender skies, snow-white sheep, and a fair-skinned shepherd who reminds us faintly of "mother." With this idyllic picture in mind, the psalmist seems to be suggesting that religious faith is a delicious luxury. As G. A. Studert-Kennedy once put it, we think of religion, "not as life but as a kind of addition to life which is very nice to have but which we could quite well do without."

Yet the sheep in the Psalm look to the shepherd, not for luxuries, but the bare necessities. They seek no little niceties added to life, but the hard, cold realities of food, drink, shelter, rest, and physical protection. The leadership of the good shepherd is the religion of a realist, a pragmatist who is concerned with providing sufficient strength for the meeting of life's daily problems and difficulties. There is nothing of sentimental luxury here.

Not "Little Lambs"

Thus when Jesus says to them, "I am the good shepherd," he is offering leadership to us for the living of life where we are. He promises to provide for our needs, not our luxuries. He does not guarantee us a path without danger, but his sustaining presence in the midst of it. He is the companion who is with us, not only in our "devotional moments," our hours of worship in our churches, the circle of family prayer, but wherever we are, whatever we are doing, he is there.

Neither are we his "little lambs," regardless of how sentimentally sweet it might seem to think so. Like real sheep, we are hardly as white as snow as we might seem at a distance. It is not always the odor of sanctity that hangs upon us. And there are times when we too seem incredibly stupid, doing what we do, not because it is reasonable, but because we are merely copying someone else.

Concept And Reality

"I am the good shepherd," Jesus said. Yet Jesus was never satisfied with saying a thing; he practiced what he preached, he embodied what he taught. In a short while the words of Jesus would be turned to deeds: "The good shepherd lays down his life for the sheep . . . and I lay down my life for the sheep . . . No one takes it from me, but I lay it down of my own accord" (John 10:11-18 RSV).

The cross proved the integrity of those words. The concept of the good shepherd became more than an interesting theory. It became a reality at Calvary one spring afternoon.

Lizzie Taylor, of Hamilton, Ohio, had passed away. We extend our sympathy to Mr. Smith and other relatives in the passing of this loved one.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Stephenson were calling on Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Edgington, Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. William Edwards and family and Mrs. Mae Sturgeon spent from Friday until Sunday with relatives in and around London, Ky.

We are glad to hear that Harold Rouse is still improving slowly. Hope for him a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Levi Pennington were calling on Mrs. Allie Chandler, Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. May Wilson of Florence, was a recent guest of Mrs. Allie Chandler and other friends.

Bro. and Mrs. Lewis Searcy spent Tuesday with his parents, and Wednesday with her mother. They were all well, we are glad to report.

Refreshing Outlook

What an exciting, stimulating century we live in! There's so much to see and to do. From morning until night we're on the go, and sometimes we can't sleep because our minds are whirling with plans for a busy tomorrow.

It pays to take time to breathe . . . time to unwind. We need a way to restore our souls and bodies so that the demands of modern life will not be overwhelming.

The Christian faith offers in full measure that healing peace within us that the psalmist describes. The Christian outlook is refreshing in its sincere approach to the problems of our complex society.

Why not join your neighbors, and attend church this Sunday? Here is a way to find "that peace which the world cannot give."

DEATHS

MRS. VIRGIE REDD

Mrs. Virgie Redd, 63, of Church street, Walton, died suddenly at 9:30 p. m. Feb. 14, at her home. She and her retired husband, Arthur, operated a child care center, under the auspices of the Ky. Child Welfare Dept., at their residence for many years.

Survivors include a son, Virgil, with the Army in Vietnam; and a daughter, Deanna, of Walton.

Services were held at 1 p. m. Tuesday at Zion Baptist Church. Delaney and Son Funeral Home of Covington were in charge of the arrangements.

MRS. L. E. BOWEN

Mrs. Lelma F. Bowen, wife of L. E. Bowen, prominent international Harvester dealer, Gardnersville, Ky., departed this life at the Heritage House of Lexington, Ky., Feb. 23, at 5:45 p. m.

Mrs. Bowen had been a patient of St. Joseph Hospital in Lexington since Sept. 7, but had been moved to Heritage House three weeks before her death. During the time she spent at the hospital, she bore her illness with courage, love, and understanding that God's will be done. "I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the Faith," II Timothy 4:7. In her passing, the family has lost a dear and true loved one.

She was the daughter of Matthew B. and Lottie Mae Greenwell. She was born Dec. 21, 1905, at Fiskburg, Ky. She was united in marriage to L. E. Bowen on Aug. 12, 1926, in Louisville, Ky., by Rev. W. S. Bullard. To this union was born three daughters, Sue (Mrs. W. L. Bradford of Lexington), Jo (Mrs. Arnold E. Ross of Gardnersville), and Jane (Mrs. Keith Johnson of Butler). She also leaves one sister, Mrs. Hazel Mann of Demosville, and nine grandchildren, who were the pride and joy of her life: Jeffrey, Scott and Sheila Bradford; Kimberly, Matthew, Bradley and Mark Ross; David and Stephen Johnson.

Mrs. Bowen was united with the Gardnersville Christian Church, where she was a faithful and regular attendant and had served as pianist there for 49 years. Her Christian influence was always felt in the church and in her home. She passed on from this life, as all must, but leaves behind her this testimony: She was an acceptor and lover of the Lord and His church, a friend to all who needed her, and truly a loving wife and mother. Our loss is Heaven's gain. God's great and good pleasure and another final victory for the Lord in one of His followers.

Services were held Friday, Feb. 16, at 2:00 p. m., at the Gardnersville Christian Church. They were carried out as Mrs. Bowen had requested. She was laid to rest in the Gardnersville Cemetery.

Bro. Paul Stamper, pastor of her church for the past 13½ years, officiated at the service, assisted by Bro. Earl Swank of Lexington. Music was furnished by a special friend, Mrs. Marie Bishop, who beautifully sang, "Rock of Ages" and "Home of Many Mansions." She was accompanied by Mrs. Roberta Steinhilber at the piano.

Serving as pallbearers were Harold Spaulding, Emory Spaulding, Russell Daugherty, Wendell Bowen, Woodrow Bowling, and Bill Spegal. —Contributed

ROBERT LEE SMITH

Robert Lee Smith, 52, Frogtown road, Union, was stricken while taking a state examination at Louisville last week.

He was taking a real estate board examination when he became ill. He was pronounced dead at Louisville Gen. Hospital.

Mr. Smith was a Boone County native and a salesman for American Businessmen's Life Ins. Co. He served with the Kentucky State Police from 1933-1940 with a four-year interval for Navy duty from 1944-1948.

Survivors include his wife, Cora Lee Rachford Smith; four daughters, Mrs. Kaye Green, Aies, Hawaii; Bonnie Smith, Hebron, Robb; and Renee at home. Also two sisters, Mrs. Leonard Riggs and Mrs. D. W. Miller, both of Union; three brothers, James of Walton; and Eddie E. and Webb, both of Burlington.

Arrangements were made by Grubbs and Rouse, Florence.

Owen Lodge Initiation

At a special meeting Friday, Feb. 17, Owen Lodge, No. 128, F. & A. M., initiated eight candidates in the Entered Apprentice Degree. The eight new initiates were Larry Cobb, Gary Cobb, Tommy McDonald, Danny Jacobs, Bobby Perkins, Joe M. Jett, Charlie Richardson and James Bibb.

There were over 60 Master Masons present, representing 12 lodges, to witness this degree work put on by the Bradford Lodge of Independence. Refreshments followed the work.

Owen Lodge is in the midst of a series of educational programs, under the supervision of Brother William Appel, 32nd degree, K. C. C. H. of Bradford Lodge.

The next meeting schedules by Bro. Appel in Tuesday, Feb. 27 at Owenston, at 7:30 p. m. Judge James Ford, who is District Deputy Grand Master for District 27, urges all Master Masons to attend this next meeting and hear Bro. Appel.

FARM DIVERSIFICATION

The Kentucky Department of Commerce, which plugs for diversification on the farm, notes a substantial increase in acreage devoted to raising of vegetables destined for processing plants.

Commissioner Paul W. Grubbs said the acreage for cucumbers, snap beans and tomatoes has risen from 2,600 in 1963 to 5,850 in 1967. They said the value of the produce increased from $508,000 in 1963 to $1,721,000 last year.

DIG THE BIG SHOVEL

At Paradise, in the coal strip-mining area of Western Kentucky, the tourist can see "Big Brother," the world's largest steam shovel.

CARD OF THANKS . . .

Thanks to the many friends, relatives and neighbors for the get-well cards, flowers and visits to me during my stay at the hospital. Especially Chambers and Grubbs, and Dr. Walker for their quick services; the visits made by the ministers from both Boone and Grant County were greatly appreciated, as we know how busy they are with all the things that go with being a pastor of a church.

"I Keep Seeing A Gangling Freckle-Faced Boy of 13"

The following articles appeared in the Kentucky Post on Sept. 12, 1967, and was just given us for publication.—Advertiser

"Marie Mark Blizzard of Walton, mother of four and stepmother of one, writes for a hobby but never had anything published—until now. She is originally from New Jersey, but has lived here 25 years. This is her reverie put to words about the pride and heartache that comes when a 20-year-old son goes away to college. The son is Dale, who is going to the University of Kentucky at Lexington.—The Editor."

"A faded blue sweatshirt with the arms cut off lay folded neatly with a pile of books. A patch of yellow is the all-important focal point, a dart board which would soon be part of our son's new apartment. What connection with third-year psychology and college exams a gaudy dart game has, I haven't figured out yet. 'His Nibs' has already informed me he is a man of the world and would also take the only decent piece of art we have in the house. Without this masterpiece, how can he leer at little blond mini-skirted co-eds and say, 'Come to my apartment and I'll show you my etchings'. Which is the mis-statement of the year as it's only an old oil painting of a sunburned youth painted by my husband's brother in a spurt of artistic. I also see a coffee pot in the corner, canned soup, peanut butter and other assorted foods. My son declares he can cook. Also, his best girl declares she can cook, if you call pizzas and fudge cooking. On this diet, I figure he can last about six weeks and either break out in hives or ulcers.

"In this corner, I see a well-bounced basketball and dirty old tennis shoes. In fact, you can't miss the tennis shoes. They reek from the long, grinding, sweaty hours on the high school basketball court. We used to keep them out on the back steps until they kept the family cat away. She has a dainty nose and is very fussy as well as fuzzy. She gets hairs on his new sports coat and he tortures her with his gym shoes, so now they are even.

"An ash tray tucked away in case he should want to light up a cigar now and then to prove he is 20 and a man in his own right. Old school pictures, yearbooks, prom pictures and baseball game stubs portray a happy, full high school life. I turn to fix supper and I can't bear to look in that corner anymore. I keep seeing a gangling, blue-eyed, freckle-faced boy of 13, tall and skinny, turning in to a young man of 20, keen-eyed with briefcase, sure of himself, going out to his first home. His face has the holy look of a priest dedicated to his work as he heads for his true love, the university. And I feel all thumbs, spilling the food a little as a sharp stab of pain goes through me, wondering how I'll live through this transition and be able to look in that bare and barren corner next week after he has gone."

A GREAT OPPORTUNITY FOR HOG RAISERS

Wednesday, February 28 will be a date northern Kentucky hog raisers will want to keep open. This is the date selected for the Purina Big Pig Pow Wow which will be held at the Paris Stockyards in Paris, Ky. This new, modern stockyard is a wonderful place to hold this special hog seminar. Of special interest will be a discussion on Opportunities in Hog Production by a practical hog producer who will give his ideas on making the most from your hog opportunities in this area. Dr. Joe Hayden, director of Purina Veterinary Livestock Service Dept., will give suggestions on keeping the herd healthy and preventing disease and parasite losses. Other speakers will include Dr. E. D. Washam, Purina Swine Research Dept.; Dr. Richard Hollandbeck, Extension Swine Specialist, Purdue University; John Dunbar, Purina Farm & Ranch Management Service; Dr. W. R. Prafka, D.V.M., Yeager and Sullivan Feeder Pig Company, Camden, Ind.; and Charlie French, Purina Swine Health Aid Dept. The program will get underway with refreshments at 9:30 a. m. and end at 3:00 p. m. with a question and answer session. GET YOUR FREE TICKETS BY CALLING OUR STORE.

CATTLE AND SHORTAGE OF VITAMIN "A"

If your hay and roughage program was not of the best quality this year, chances are your cattle could be running out of vitamin A, which they stored in the liver. Purina Cattle Plus can replace this much needed vitamin. Each pound of Purina Cattle Plus contains 5,000,000 units of Vitamin A, 1,000,000 units of Vitamin D, PLUS iodine to help prevent foot rot and lumpy jaw. Add one pound to your cattle or dairy ration... costs less than 5¢ per 100 lbs. of finished feed. ORDER TODAY!

FEEDING MORE SILAGE THIS YEAR? Chances are if you are feeding more silage this year to your dairy cows they are running short on phosphorus. Silage is high in calcium and low in phosphorus. Cows need calcium and phosphorus in approximately a 2:1 ratio. New Purina Dairy Mineral can give your cows the much needed phosphorus because it is a balance of calcium and phosphorus in a 1:1 ratio which helps offset the high level of calcium in silage. It also contains zinc, copper, cobalt, sulphur, magnesium, manganese, iron, and potassium. PLUS organic iodine for the control of foot rot and lumpy jaw.

Words of Wisdom
That Are Still Valid

By M. Gene Snyder, U. S. Congressman, 4th District, Kentucky

In his Farewell Address, his last great warning to America, George Washington — whose birthday we celebrated last week — said these words: "Avoid the accumulation of debt not only by shunning occasions of expense, but by vigorous exertion in time of peace, to discharge debts which unavoidable war may have occasioned."

These words are so applicable today, they might have been written especially for us.

We have been led gradually and easily in recent years into accepting debt as an almost natural, national phenomena. It all started with the sly suggestion that the national debt was "only something that we owed ourselves, so why worry about it?"

The answer to that, of course, is "then why don't we just cancel it out now?" Even the most rabid spenders haven't the gall to suggest anything so far-fetched. There would, of course, be a worldwide financial crisis and the whole financial structure of our country would be shaken and perhaps collapse.

For the fact is that the national debt is a debt just like any other. It will eventually have to be paid — and our children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren will be the sufferers.

"Avoid the accumulation of debt by shunning occasions of expense." It is as if George Washington foresaw that one day the country he founded would be bogged down with debt. Well, we have ignored this warning and we are bogged down.

The last time we were out of the red was in 1960—President Eisenhower's last year in office. Since then, we have had a budget deficit every single year.

The total of the yearly budget deficits from 1961-1968 will come to the colossal sum of 69 billion dollars. This year—in spite of a promised "tight" budget—the deficit could be well over 20 billion dollars. The budget—instead of being cut—is 10 billion dollars higher than in fiscal 1968. It is 27 billion dollars higher than in 1967 and 51 billion dollars higher than the budget submitted to Congress in 1968.

During the same eight years, Federal spending has doubled. "Avoid the accumulation of debt!" If this is sound advice for the individual, and I believe it is, it is sound for the Nation—especially during this period when a war is putting added pressure on the budget. Better that we go without some of the fancy, new programs until the budget is brought into line and our current expenses justify them.

This is the worst debt-ridden country known to mankind. It has more debt than the rest of the world combined. It is embarked upon a fool's errand of trying to police and finance the world. It is recklessly piling up hundreds of billions of debt and cowardly passing the responsibility for that debt to the children of today and the unborn generations of the tomorrow.

I know that to many of you, as well as myself, the Nation's financial future looks gloomy and you ask, "Where will it all end?" But look back a moment to the days of the man whose birthday we just honored. Think of Valley Forge when all seemed hopeless and remind yourself that we will, as we have in the past, find solutions to these problems facing us.

Our whole history proves that. I only hope that, after we have solved our financial problems, we remember the lessons that the last eight years have taught.

Celebrates 102nd Birthday

Mrs. Mary Patrick, who celebrated her 102nd birthday at the home of her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Patrick of S. Main Street, had punch and cake served to the following guests:

Mr. and Mrs. John Patrick, Mr. and Mrs. Newton Parrish and daughter, Anna Marie, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Watts, Rev. and Mrs. Russell, Mrs. Everett Bickers, Mrs. Robert Horn, Mrs. Mary Stephenson, Mrs. Ethel Frabler, Mrs. R. Watts, Mrs. Mildred Berry, Mrs. Mary Alice Kidwell and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lealee Watts, and Mr. and Mrs. Foster Shore.

4-H TV Action Series Continues

What phone number would you call in case of a fire? A group of 4-H girls and their leader, Wm. R. Brown, Principal of the Piner Elementary School, could answer the question without looking in the phone book. They are participating in the 4-H TV Action Program which began Feb. 17 on Channel 12 in Cincinnati, at 9:00 a. m. The series on emergency preparedness will continue every Saturday morning for ten weeks.

The Piner Elementary School has approximately 100 boys and girls enrolled in the 4th, 5th and 6th grades. The teachers are Mrs. Stahl, Mrs. Spencer & Mrs. Steinhauer. In addition to making posters of their fire department numbers, they included their doctor's phone, local police numbers, and ambulance.

The TV Action Program for Saturday, March 1, will be on "The Shaking Earth." More than 60,000 boys and girls in Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky are enrolled in the program.

Zoo Membership Month

More than 200 women from the greater Cincinnati area are devoting their time during the month of March to the annual Zoo Membership Campaign. Their goal is 2,000 new family memberships.

Northern Kentucky women participating in the campaign are: Mrs. Byron Dickey, Mrs. William Wilkerson, Mrs. Henry Macy, Mrs. Charles Goering, Mrs. William Mackinn, Jr., Mrs. Dale Anstine, Mrs. Richard Johnston, Mrs. Dunbar Dickey, and Mrs. Leo Oppenheimer.

Burley Referendum Ballot Return Urged

J. Lassing Huey, Chairman of the Boone County ASC Committee, reminds all eligible voters in the Burley referendum to return their ballots to the ASCS County Office by not later than March 1, if they have not already done so. If ballots are mailed they must be postmarked no later than March 1.

Feed Grain Program Signup

Farmers in Boone County are also reminded that signups are under way for participants in the 1968 feed grain and wheat. Program signups are being held at the ASCS county office during the period February 5 through March 15. Farmers who wish to take part in the programs are urged to file their intention early.

Contact the county office before March 15. If you wish to call for more information, phone 586-6175.

This Is Farm Bureau Week

Judge Bruce Ferguson has issued an official proclamation declaring the week of February 26-March 1, as "Farm Bureau Appreciation Week" in Boone County. The proclamation was similar to one issued earlier by Governor Louie B. Nunn.

The proclamation issued by Judge Ferguson points out that the Farm Bureau has been widely accepted as the "Voice of Agriculture" and is the state's "Number One Industry."

The proclamation also stated that farming "is an important and basic industry in the economy of Boone County," and called upon "all farm families to join with their neighbors in support of the Farm Bureau organization and its program."

Local Farm Bureau President Beckham Shields said the observance of Farm Bureau Appreciation Week here was part of the statewide observance initiated by Gov. Nunn's proclamation.

Learning begins as curiosity.

JET SET 4-H CLUB

February 13 was a very interesting date for the Jet Set 4-H Club. A business meeting was held at the home of Leader Mrs. Richardson.

Among the important items planned was a bake sale. It is to be held March 9 at Cherokee IGA. Several members also plan to participate in Rally Day and the Talent Show.

After the business meeting a Valentine party was held, which everyone enjoyed. We wish to thank Mrs. J. Curry for providing refreshments.

On February 27 a sewing and knitting project meeting was held with all girl members present. They were shown how to knit and how to prepare their cloth for sewing. Others present and helping were Extension Agent Miss Tatum, Leader Mrs. Richardson, Junior Leader Chela Richardson, Project Leader Mrs. Durr, and parents, Mrs. Mastin and Mrs. Curry.

COUNTY ATTORNEY

In 1801 Henry Clay was county attorney of Harrison County. The courthouse at Cynthiana, built in 1854, contains many legal records written by Clay.

Double duty in the promotion of research comes from the University of Kentucky Press, which both encourages scholars in their work and provides a medium for publication.

A STITCH IN TIME—

By Linda Tatum
Area Extension Agent

When raindrops fall in March, fashion can still reign for anyone snug and dry in stylish, versatile rainwear. From the "wet look" of a shiny slicker to the deceptive brocade, rain coats can really be any coat—if treated with special fabric finishes that impart an invisible shield to shed water and perhaps even stains.

Modern, attractive, exciting, yet functional 1968 rainwear is rendered in three forms: all vinyl, vinyl-coated fabrics, and fabrics treated with a polyurethane finish.

The best protection is found in the nonwoven, all-vinyls which are waterproof through soft and flexible, splashy enough for the most casual rainwear, yet sleek enough for formal wear. Popular choices for women are the glistening pastels or deep solids, shimmer floral or geometric designs, and even imitation animal skins as well as the clear vinyls. This type of plastic can have the shiny look of patent leather or a dull look like kid-skin. It may be fabric backed or expanded with either a smooth or sueded surface.

The fashion range includes satin vinyl in fluorescent colors and prints; flocked vinyl with a soft suede-like hand; high style gold or silver vinyl with a kid finish; embossed vinyl with a pinwale corded surface; even phosphorescent vinyl which glows in the dark.

Simulating the 100 percent vinyls are vinyl-cotton or cotton blend broadcloths. The cloth backing serves as a self lining in these garments. The only way to keep vinyls and vinyl-coated fabrics clean is by washing them, as solvents stiffen and shrink or remove the plastic finish. They are best washed by hand with soap or detergent suds; a quick way is to wipe the surface with a cloth dipped into suds.

Waterproof vinyl and the vinyl-coated garments, which shed even a downpour, can cause some discomfort in warm or extremely humid weather because they don't breathe—that is the fabric weave has no minute pores or holes to let body heat and perspiration escape and evaporate.

Water repellent finishes shed water only to a degree, as in light rain or drizzle, and for a limited time. Unlike vinyl, which coats and seals the surface, durable fluorocarbon or silicone finishes penetrate the fabric to surround every fiber, but leave the pores open for ventilation. They cause no change in its appearance or feel.

Water repellent finishes turn canvas, duck and gabardine into sporty rain gear; ottomans, twills and brocades into rain-resistant evening coats, and jerseys, wools and blends into all-purpose rain or shine coats. Best buys for dryness are garments made of very closely woven fabrics.

Practical shoppers scan labels to identify fabric rainwear that is washable and has a finish that is durable. Some may have non-washable linings which must be removed before laundering the shell. Polyurethane finishes can be washed if the basic fabric is washable, but it is desirable to follow the manufacturer's care instructions. Durable water-repellent finishes can be expected to last through repeated washings, but will gradually lose their effectiveness, and some are also oil-resistant. A non-durable finish must be restored after each laundering—using a spray product that will last through two or three washings. The garment must first be clean as soil retards the effectiveness of such water-repellant sprays (sold in notions or housewares departments).

Weather wear should be washed before heavily soiled as deep-seated dirt is hard to remove. Pretreat especially dirtied areas—collars, cuffs, pockets, hems, etc.—with dense suds or a concentrated soap or a detergent solution, applied with a soft brush. After washing by hand or machine, rinse thoroughly to remove all traces of suds. Because soap and detergents are wetting agents, any residue will impede the shedding properties of a water-repellant finish.

KENTUCKY EXEMPTED

Amendments enacted last year to the social security law require that federally financed programs for needy children be organized under one agency in all states except Kentucky and Illinois. The reason they—the only states with separate cabinet departments of child welfare—are exempt is that they "found a better way to get their services to needy children," according to the law.

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—A statement in my service medical report says that I have a stomach hernia that I received while in the service. Although I was discharged from the Army about five years ago, is it too late for me to file for compensation from the VA?

A—There is no time limit as to when a veteran may file a claim for compensation for a disease or injury which he believes was incurred while serving in the Armed Forces.

Q—When does the 1968 Hospitalized Veterans Writing Contest close? Does a disabled veteran have to be hospitalized in a VA hospital in order to enter the contest?

A—The 1968 contest entries must be postmarked on or before the closing date, March 15, 1968. Hospitalized veterans of the U. S. Armed Forces (men and women) and domiciliary residents may enter the contest in any or all sections.

Q—May a nonveteran buy a GI home that has been repossessed and offered for sale by the VA?

A—Yes. The Veterans Administration has for sale or rent some 14,000 homes which are available to any qualified buyers or renters without regard to their race, color, creed, or national origin. Your real estate broker probably will be able to advise you if any VA homes are for sale in your area, since most brokers cooperate with VA in the sale or rental of these properties.

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter

We were glad to hear that Mrs. William Brannock, who broke her hip on Feb. 14 and was taken to Good Samaritan Hospital, was able to return to her home in Kelat, on Feb. 21.

Mrs. J. J. Barnett is improving. We hope she will soon be OK.

Neighbors and friends ask, when have you heard from Mrs. Stella Richardson? At last report, she is quite well and also happy. She does enjoy hearing from friends and neighbors, so do try to write to her once in a while. Her address is in care of Mrs. Alva Bradley, Mt. Olivet, Ky.

We also heard from Wm. Gader. He reports feeling fine, but lacks strength. He is back on his job for a short time each day. He also enjoys letters.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Losey and sons went on a trip to the East on last weekend, visiting a friend who was scheduled to leave for the war zone soon. They also took in some points of interest in the Capital.

Mrs. Emil Stein, who has been ill for some time, seems to be improving nicely. She is able now to go to her doctor rather than have him visit her.

Mrs. Edith Ware is nursing a sore knee. She took it to Dr. Lee on Thursday and is going today (Saturday) for minor surgery.

Mrs. Bessie Campbell is feeling much better following a recent illness.

Stephen Keeney was ill on Tuesday. His grandmother spent the day with him.

RID YOUR CATTLE OF LICE AND MANGE MITES

Hog and cattle lice robbing profits from your livestock? Would they rather scratch than eat? We have the answer to your problem with Purina Hog and Cattle Dusting Powder. In fact, Dusting Powder remains active even through the hatching period for young lice. You can just sprinkle a little in the bedding to both kill lice and keep bedding odor to a minimum. So, don't let lice and mites rob your livestock of their haircoat and steal their gain ability. Protect them with Purina Hog and Cattle Dusting Powder.

Dairymen, when your best cow comes up with a hard quarter, or you see other symptoms of mastitis in your herd, what happens? Do you give up like a lot of dairymen? Don't! When mastitis strikes... fight it! We strongly recommend that you use the product that wipes out 99% of mastitis cases fast... Purina Novo Mast. Purina Novo Mast contains five specific antibiotics and two potent sulfas... PLUS... a product to keep down swollen udders. Simply inject a treatment in each diseased quarter according to directions. Eastern Kentucky RECC Favors Span Over Licking

At a meeting of the East Kentucky Rural Electric Cooperative's Board of Directors of Winchester, Ky., Feb. 13, a resolution was adopted favoring the construction of a bridge in the vicinity of a midpoint between Covington and Butler, across the Licking River, to serve the outer limits of Boone, Kenton and Campbell Counties.

Cited as a reason for the resolution was the tremendous growth of the tri-county area. It also said it would be advantageous to the Owen County RECC in making service calls.

This proposed new bridge would be a great thing for this area, and we are glad Eastern Kentucky RECC is in favor of such an important venture.

Boone County's Good Citizen

Miss Donna Sayre was named as Boone County's Good Citizen when she was introduced by Mrs. Roy C. Nestor at a recent meeting of the Boone County Democratic Club. She received a check for $20.00 from the club as an award for the essay submitted in the club's recent contest.

In April, 1967, the Boone County Democratic Club announced that as their part in the 175th anniversary celebration of the Statehood of Kentucky, of which Mrs. Nestor was chairman, that they would offer an award in each of two categories—one for 16 years and older and one for students up to 16 years of age, written on the subject, "Boone County Judges From The County's Beginning to the Present Time."

In introducing Miss Sayre, Mrs. Nestor said Donna had really earned the award by the tremendous amount of research she had done in old records at the courthouse and interviewing people.

Miss Sayre is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sayre, of Dortha Ave., Florence. She is 16 years old and a junior at Boone County High School, where she is an honor student. She is a member of many clubs in school. In addition, she is president of Boone Trail Society, C.A.R., and is also state treasurer of the Kentucky Society of this organization.

W-V Hosts Annual A. S. C. D. Meeting

The Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development (A. S. C. D.) of Northern Kentucky, held its annual meeting at Walton-Verona High School last Thursday evening. This is the first time for the local school to host the group. Approximately 300 persons attended.

ASCD, a unit of KEA and NEA, is the one educators' group which concerns itself solely with curriculum development and the improvement of instruction.

The ASCD is performing a major role in improving educational practices throughout the nation. It is also the only group which cuts across all specialty lines. It is for classroom teachers, principals, supervisors, specialists, superintendents, directors of pupil personnel, guidance directors, college professors, state department personnel, KEA staff members, textbook representatives and anyone else interested in better educational opportunities for children and youth.

In other words, this is the association for professionals who meet for an evening of purely professional discussion.

Fire struck the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Clarkston of Stephenson Mill road early Saturday afternoon. Nearly all the personal items inside the frame house were lost. The Walton Vols did manage to save the building but extensive damage was done to it. No one was at home at the time of the blaze.

On Monday afternoon the vols made two runs to Frogtown road to extinguish grass fires. They advise that no fires be started on the outside without careful attention during this dry weather.

Boone County Eliminates Bearcats In District Tourney Following A Win Over St. Henry

The Walton-Verona Bearcats, in the third District Basketball meet, gave an excellent account of themselves, last week at Dixie Heights High School.

They defeated a strong, talented team from St. Henry before falling to a tall Boone County Rebel squad in their second game. A season record of 18-14 is now history as four seniors put away their uniforms.

In the opening game of the tournament, the 'Cats had to go into double overtime to dispose of St. Henry's Crusaders. W-V took an early lead and were in command of the game most of the time. All five starters scored in the first quarter to give them a 12-10 lead.

St. Henry took the lead 22-20 late in the second quarter and held a 28-25 edge at halftime.

In the third period W-V outscored the Crusaders 10-4 to grab the lead—at one time it was 45-35—but 45-40 was the score after 24 minutes of play.

Both teams scored well in the fourth quarter. The Bearcats did stretch the lead to 56-46 only to see the margin slowly cut away. With the score 64-64 and only five seconds to play, Holder was at the line for a one-plus-one free throw. This looked like the end as Chuck is a very fine charity-line shot. But the ball hit the heel of the rim and bounced high into the air. During the scramble for the rebound, time elapsed.

In the first overtime period, Wethington and Ingram hit a field goal each to put the game into a second overtime at 68-68.

The Crusaders scored first on free throws. Stephens hit two to tie at 70-70. In a scramble for a loose ball, Marksberry was fouled. He stepped to the line and hit two for two. This proved to be the winning margin—72-70.

Each of the boys played a fine game with few foul errors. Ingram led W-V scoring with 18, and Holder had 17. Five men were in double figures.

Letter To The Editor:

This letter is to the people of the Walton-Verona school district and especially to the parents and students of the Junior-Senior class, teachers and school board.

I am sure by now that most everyone is aware of the fact, the prom is being held on Good Friday this year. It seems my husband and I are the only two people that really object to this. Perhaps others have said, "Oh no! Not on Good Friday!" but not out in public. We have been in contact with Mr. Roberts, the ministers of this town and talked to a member of the school board. From Mr. Roberts—we received assurance something would be done. From the ministers—their full cooperation, which they gave. Some of the clergy went to Mr. Roberts and with his permission, tried to help. Not to cancel the prom at the Lookout House, but to change it to another day. For this they have received a great amount of criticism from some of the students and adults. The member of the school board could see nothing wrong with a prom on Good Friday. In fact, accused us of NOT separating the church and state. We have one thing to say about this comment — there has been enough separation of church and state already. When the Supreme Court gave the ruling to obliterate prayer in our public schools, they did so because an atheist "pushed" for this. Not because a Christian "pushed!" Oh no! We haven't pushed hard enough to get it back in the schools, either!

My husband and I want the Junior-Senior class to know that we are not against the prom, just the day it is on. Have you never been taught to respect Good Friday? We believe you have, because even in my old fashioned day, it was taught and I do not believe this has been changed, yet! If your parents object to this letter, let them do so. At least they will have exercised their right of freedom of speech, which we have done. Surely a prom at the Lookout House is the greatest. If you cannot have it on a Friday or Saturday night, what about a Thursday night? The school is dismissed for basketball tournaments, couldn't they excuse you the day after the prom? Or for Good Friday at noon to attend services without a zero for the day?

I'm sure the band that is booked would cooperate in changing the day. They would not want bad publicity to the effect they would not change the day from Good Friday.

My husband and I except we will be criticized, but we will accept it as the price we must pay for expressing our opinion. However, we still must oppose having the prom on Good Friday.

Thank you,
MRS. EDWARD F. EGAN

PINER HOMEMAKERS

The Piner Homemakers met on February 27 at the lovely home of Mrs. W. O. Marshall, of Fort Mitchell. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Clarence Duncan.

Roll call was answered with "What Do You Want Most Out of Your Homemaker's Program This year?" The devotional, titled "Love," was given by Mrs. Frank Elliott.

The club members reported having read six books. Mrs. Richard Colclough reported on the special interest lesson, "Yeast Breads," which she and Mrs. Duncan had attended.

The lesson, "Physical Fitness," was very capably given by Mrs. Duncan and Mrs. Marshall. They demonstrated many simple but beneficial exercises for the club members.

Others present were: Mesdames

Fred McMillian, Chester Mullins, Marion Martin, Malcolm Oliver, Louis Schlachter, Marshall Hills, William Woods, William Wolterman, and three children, Carrie Marshall, Diane Hills and John Duncan.

The club will meet March 19th at the R. E. C. C. building with Mrs. Marion Martin as hostess. The lesson will be "Quick Meals."

Meeting of Kenton County Garden Club

The club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Damon on Rose-lawn drive for the February meeting on March 1. Crazy? The weather was too bad on the regular date of Feb. 22.

Miss Taylor opened the meeting with the reading of the collect, followed by the sec. & treas. reports. The roll call was answered by "What are your garden plans for the coming spring?"

Notes were read from Mrs. Phyllis Laubisch and the Pitcher family with a letter from Mrs. A. Rutterer regarding the work of the district.

On presentation of bills, Miss Margaret Stephens moved all bills be paid.

Miss Stephens was named to head a committee for a memorial to Mrs. Velma Pitcher, one of the charter members who passed away recently. The program chairman took charge and read the 100th Psalm, followed by a reading by Joseph Fort Newton on how to enjoy the happiest day of your life—today. Also an ancient manuscript, Desiderata.

Mrs. Wm. Straw and Mrs. Wesley Hall gave a demonstration on antiquing flowers. Most of the members brought specimens liked the result. Mrs. Damon served delicious refreshments to the following members and friends: Misses Elsie Hiteman, Margaret Stephens, Elma Taylor, Elaine Hall and Chela Richardson; Mesdames Pat Thornton, Helen Jarger, Kathryn Guttridge, Leontine Stephens, Delores Richardson, Lucille Hall, Inez Stram, Marjory Keeney, Audrey Gouge and her friend, Mrs. Edna Simpson of Lebanon, Ohio, and Mrs. J. A. Keeney.

The next meeting will be with Miss Elsie Hiteman at her home in Independence, March 28. Work started this month will be completed at next meeting.

HOW FAR?

Lesson for March 10, 1968

Background Scripture: John 12 and 13. Devotional Reading: Philippians 2:1-11.

Nothing is more sobering to a preacher than the knowledge that he usually "talks a far better game than he plays." He is aware that the moral dimensions of his preaching and teaching must go beyond the limitations of his own accomplishments. Thus he can hardly help saying in effect: "Do as I say, not as I do," although actually it is not "as I say," but as the Word of God instructs us.

Rev. Althouse, the minister who holds up himself as the model to which the people should aspire is both thinking too highly of himself and pointing his people at too low a target. He may rightly strive to "preach what he preaches," but he ought to aim higher than "preaching what he practices."

The Message

This is true of any Christian, particularly the Christian parent. He ought to strive to set the best example possible, but not forget it is Christ himself who sets the example we need. Just as we ourselves ought to be continually dissatisfied with our level of spiritual and moral growth, so we need also to point our children to a level that is ever higher than the one on which we stand.

With Jesus, however, it was different. He not only had a message for his people, he was the message. He was the embodiment of the Good News he brought, the incarnation of all to which he exhorted his followers. His preaching and practice were all cut from the same bolt of cloth. To do what he said was nothing more or less than to emulate what he did.

We see this at work in his last evening with his disciples. It is his plan to give them a "new" commandment: "that you love one another" (John 13:34). Oh yes, THAT commandment! That's the ONE with which we have so much trouble and frustration. What do you mean by "love," Jesus, and how is it possible in a world like this? Aren't you asking for something beyond the grasp of ordinary folk?

The Example

Jesus, however, did not intend for his "new" commandment to become just an interesting philosophical question. He left no doubt as to what he intended: "even as I have loved you, that you also love one another." The questions of "how much love?" "what kind of love?" etc. were taken care of by that one yardstick he gave for measurement: "even as I have loved you . . ."

The love of Jesus was something which they had already experienced in so many ways. Yet he did not rely upon their memories of the past, but instead gave them a new example that pin pointed the meaning of his command in dramatic form for the rest of their lives: he "girded himself with a towel . . . poured water into a basin, and began to wash the disciples' feet" (John 13:4-5 RSV). His preaching and his practice were a single, indivisible message.

The Limitations

What was he teaching them? Was he merely commanding them to practice foot-washing? No, he was giving them "an example" of the love which was implicit in his command to "love one another." This love he demonstrated was not a mushy sentiment (washing dirty feet is guaranteed to keep us from sentimentality!). It was nothing they deserved or had a right to expect of him. It was something done to them (not necessarily felt toward them), not because they were "lovable," or because Jesus felt "loving." No, despite their unworthiness, he humbled himself, doing what he didn't have to do, performing something he owed to no one.

If he, the Christ, could humble himself to undeserving, unlovable men, his disciples were to respond with no less a love than that. "And how far should such love be expected to go?" we ask, hoping for some "sensible" limitation. "As far as he did," comes the unsettling, though not unexpected, answer: "As far as Calvary!"

Dear Pat...

I know it has been a long time since I've written. As you can imagine, I've been very busy getting settled here. Everyone has been wonderful, and what an experience it is teaching these first grade children! It's a real thrill to watch them as they learn to read. I've already met some wonderful people, both here at school and in church...

So she writes her letter, and although "it has been a long time . . ." these words will stretch across the miles and the fibres of this friendship will be as strong as ever.

If you were never to write a letter you would lose touch with people who mean a great deal to you. By the same token, if you never were to go to church, you would fail to keep the fabric of your faith woven tight and strong. True, you might still believe firmly in God, but the affirmation and continued growth of this faith requires worship in His presence and in His house.

Thinking about a friend isn't the same thing as writing a letter to him — wanting to be in that person's presence. Believing in God isn't the same as professing that belief by attending church regularly.

KITE FLYING RULES

As it is with most things in life, there are two ways to fly a kite—the safe way and the wrong way.

Here are some tips from The Union Light, Heat & Power Co. for flying a kite the safe way—the fun way:

Never use wire, metal, foil or string in any part of the kite, tail or string. Make sure the string is dry and never fly a kite in the rain. Don't run into the street. The best place to fly a kite is a park or open area. Keep the kite away from power lines and radio or television aerials. Avoid fallen wires, too. If a kite gets tangled in an electric line, leave it alone. Don't yank the string or climb a pole.

Atomic Power and Nuclear Explosions

Kenton County boys and girls will learn about atomic power and nuclear explosions when they see the 4-H TV Action program on WKRC-TV, Channel 12, Saturday morning, March 16.

According to Ray Morgan, area Extension agent, Kenton County has 7,000 young people as members of the 4-H TV Action Club, which focuses on the television series—a half-hour program, beginning at 9:00 a. m. Most of the members are fourth, fifth and sixth grade students and are participating in this new kind of 4-H activity as part of their science studies in school.

Schools taking part are Piner, Visalia, Bromley, Crescent Springs and Park Hills.

Although the programs are being shown especially for 4-H TV Action Club members, any member of the family can gain useful information from them. Mr. Morgan pointed out. The March 16 program may be of particular interest, he says, since it will emphasize protection from radioactive fallout, the major danger after an atomic explosion.

Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Ballinger, Mrs. J. B. Richardson and Mrs. George Fimell, Jr. visited one day last week with Mr. and Mrs. William Brannock, Mrs. Brannock having returned from the hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Ballinger remained until Sunday afternoon and have returned for a few days stay this week.

Mrs. Alfred Damon and Mrs. Don Keeney visited with Miss Nell Neihoff at Booth Hospital, on Wednesday evening.

We congratulate Pleasant Grove Methodist Church on having their new building almost completed. We are glad to learn that Mrs.

Edith Ware, who had a badly inflamed knee, made a nice recovery without having to resort to surgery, as she had feared.

A number of the members met at the church and gave it a good cleaning Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Charles Losey and J. B. called on Mr. and Mrs. Leo Flynn recently and were very glad to find Mr. Flynn improving.

I know Mrs. Carsee Brinkley is having a pleasant weekend since she brought her granddaughters, Dana and Stephanie, home with her tonight.

The Homemakers Club met at the Latonia Lakes Club House on Tuesday, March 5. A good number were present, which was most encouraging. Mrs. Bluch Rich was hostess.

The program opened with a salute to the flag led by the president, Mrs. Victor Damico. The secretary's report and roll call was followed by the treasurer's report, and the payment of all current bills.

The programs for the coming months were reviewed, and plans made for the white elephant sale, which is an annual event of the spring season.

An article in Life magazine by Arnold Toynbee, English historian, was discussed and several excerpts read by Mrs. Rich.

Mrs. J. A. Keeney reviewed the book, "Daughters of the Legend," by Jesse Stuart. For the devotion the scripture was read by Mrs. F. Elam, Matt. 5:14 and Proverbs 20:27, followed by an inspirational story, "Candles of the Lord."

Following a delicious luncheon, the lesson, "Meals In Minutes," was given by Mrs. Harold Nitschke and Miss Rich.

We were glad to have Mrs. Emil Stein, who has been ill, able to be out again. Others present were Mrs. C. Hill, Mrs. Al Boscoe, Mrs. Cook, Mrs. John Shaw, Mrs. L. Faulkner, Mrs. L. Rapp, Mrs. J. Perkins and Jennifer, Mrs. R. Payne and Mrs. L. Wayman.

Mrs. J. Shaw will be hostess for the April meeting, which will be held in her home.

Letter To The Editor:

Dear Sir,

Last week I sent a letter to you and you published it. For this, I am grateful. Many people called me or saw me in town. They shook my hand and thanked me for writing that letter. The same people agreed with me, that Good Friday was a bad night for a prom.

My husband and I went to the school board meeting Saturday night, to object to the night of the prom, not to the prom. Mr. Roberts explained why it was scheduled and remained on this day. He has good reason, I'm sure after talking to him again. However, the prom could still be held on a different night. Even Thursday night. Not a Sunday or a Good Friday!

As I said last week, our school is dismissed for a basketball tournament, that our team will not even participate in. And so it is, March 14 and 15, Thursday and Friday. But still, not an extra day for a prom! According to the chairman of the school board, our complaint is petty. Maybe it is, but then again maybe it isn't.

This was the first time in my life I ever went to a school board meeting. I always felt they were capable of handling our school district. Well, if any of you kind people of the Walton-Verona District have any complaints, please, please do not go to a school board meeting! You can walk through town and be insulted just as easily. Maybe not by the chairman, but by some other good person. Not all the members of the school board had anything to say. They must have felt Mr. Doggett said it for them. "Petty" as my letter was, I don't believe I insulted anyone.

You are right people, you, the ones who told me it would do no good to go to school to settle anything. You are right!

Thank you,
MRS. EDWARD EGAN

THE PRESENCE

Lesson for March 17, 1968

Background Scripture: John 14.
Devotional Reading: John 16:1-15.

BIRD-IN-HAND is the name of a quaint little Pennsylvania Dutch (German) town not far from where this writer lives. The name of the town is a reminder of the old proverb: "A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush."

It is a kind of common-sense philosophy and quite descriptive of the dynamics of much human nature: a person will rarely give up something good for the promise of something better. This is why the settlers always outnumber the explorers. "I'll stick with what I've got" is the theme song of the majority of people.

Someone Else?

We can imagine, then, the feelings of Jesus' disciples on what proved to be his last night before Calvary. They had taken, it had seemed, a tremendous risk in leaving behind their homes, their families, their vocations, and their security when they answered his call to "Follow me!" And now he was saying that he would soon leave them! Someone else was going to be sent to take his place.

In their three exciting years together, they had become dependent upon him. Even that evening they had unintentionally demonstrated once again that they were not ready to "go it alone." Nevertheless, said Jesus: "the Father will give you another Counselor" (John 14:16).

He had to help them understand that it was really best that he go from them. For one thing, his going would be part of fulfilling the Father's will, completing the mission he had been given. Furthermore, the "Counselor" who would be sent in his place would be able to do even more than Jesus had been able to accomplish during the past three years. The Counselor "will teach you all things" and "be with you for ever" (John 14).

The Different Way

The promise sounded fine, but it was still Jesus whom they wanted, not someone else a Messiah in the hand was worth two Counselors to come. But they had not understood: when the "Counselor" came, they would not lose Jesus; instead they would have him more surely than ever before. He would be with them in a different way now, no longer in the body, but as spirit. Repeatedly he assured them: "I will not leave you desolate; I will come to you . . . but you will see me . . . In that day you will know that I am in my Father, and you in me, . . . and I in you . . . and I will love him and manifest myself to him . . ." (John 14:18-21 RSV).

Now there would be no limitations on his presence. In his earthly body he had been limited in time and space; he could be at only one place at a time. But now he would no longer be limited as a man is. Now he would be available to all who believe in him and are receptive to his spirit. Thus, as he was later to put it: "It is to your advantage that I go away, for if I do not go away, the Counselor will not come to you" (John 16:7 RSV).

Our Advantage

It is common for many of us to wishfully wish that we could share with the disciples their privilege of knowing Jesus in the flesh. We may feel disadvantaged by comparison. Our eyes never behold him, our ears never hear his voice, our bodies never feel the healing touch of his corporeal hand — we think! How much easier it would be to believe with all one's heart, to live triumphantly and serve him faithfully — it seems!

Yet it was Jesus himself who said: "Blessed are those who have not seen and yet believe" (John 20:29 RSV). This may seem strange to us and hard to understand, but those today who experience the presence of Christ in the Holy Spirit have a relationship no less vital than that which was the privilege of his first

Copycats

Kathy and Kevin celebrate St. Patrick's Day . . . Kathy wears her green plaid dress, and Kevin his sweater with the emerald stripe. The hats are those we brought home from last night's party!

They don't really know what the day is all about. But they heard Dan singing in the shower, "the wearin' o' the green," and saw the color of the tie he placed on the door knob.

They don't miss a thing! That old saying that actions speak louder than words is certainly true around our children. They are regular little copycats.

That's why Dan and I make it a habit to go to church every Sunday with them. We want God and His Church to be a real part of their lives, not just something they have heard about.

Give your children a chance to know God. Go to church and take them with you.

If you want to use Enide 50W on your tobacco plant bed this year, apply this chemical as recommended.

(1) Use it after March 10, when weather permits and if the air temperature is 50 degrees F. or higher. Apply immediately after seeding (of the plant bed) with a backpack or low-pressure sprayer at the rate of 3 to 5 gallons of water per 1,000 square feet. A sprinkler irrigation of at least one-half inch of water should follow the application.

(2) Rates: Use 4 1/2 ounces (1 1/2 cups) of Enide 50W per 1,000 square feet of plant bed. This works out to approximately four ounces of the chemical in a plant bed nine feet by 100 feet (900 sq. ft.) and five ounces in a plant bed 12 feet by 100 feet (1,200 sq. ft.).

Do not use this chemical at a higher rate shown above.

Pick your tobacco crop field for 1968 carefully. If the field won't grow other crops, it won't grow tobacco. Here are field requirements:

(1) A well-drained field free of diseases is best. It should have been in a grass-legume sod three years.

(2) A fertile field is needed with good soil structure. Beware of heavy, tight, "clayey" soils. They are not good tobacco fields.

(3) Disease-free sites are needed. Grass-legume sod fields are best for this. Fields with a black shank history or black rot, or any other of the major diseases, will keep on giving trouble. Use a planned rotation that will avoid such fields for at least four, preferably five years.

Socialism Setbacks

By M. Gene Snyder, U. S. Congressman, 4th District, Kentucky

The results of three recent elections in Scandinavia indicate that people are beginning to look at the price tag of socialism and are saying "no sale." In Denmark in January the Social Democratic Party which had socialized the Danes for 15 years was thrown out. A wag said that they finally found out "what was rotten in Denmark."

Norway voted three years ago for less socialism after 30 years in the "welfare wonderland." In 1967, Swedes gave the Socialists, who had put in a cradle-to-grave system during their 30 years rule, the worst setback in three decades in last year's municipal elections.

Why the revolt? Doesn't everyone like benefits? In Norway, Sweden and Denmark, the voter rebellion was not against the welfare state itself but against the high cost of paying for it.

The story is the same for the other Nations. Taxes increase as socialism expands its benefits. Prices increase as production goes down through the dying out of incentive. High taxes cast a pall over the production scene. Sweden was paying 80 per cent of its total Government revenues for social welfare, including pensions and children's allowances. In Denmark, prices rose 40 per cent in 7 years.

In Canada this week, Prime Minister Lester B. Pearson's Liberal Party lost a surprise vote over a five per cent tax surcharge similar to LBJ's 10 per cent demand.

In the case of the Scandinavians, they apparently want to eat their cake and have it, too. But, faced with the fact that they can't do both, they apparently are weighing the benefits of socialism against the cost.

The United States (already deeper in debt than all the rest of the free world combined, is bombarded with semi-socialistic welfare schemes. The favorite talking point is that we are so rich that we can afford it. Those who point to fiscal reality are talked down as nay-sayers.

The plight of England, who went down under socialism's paralyzing dead weight, and the awakening of the Scandinavian countries should provide an example for the U. S. With a government that keeps adding more programs, spending more money and telling us we can afford it all, we have the same day of reckoning. We differ in one respect, which perhaps makes our situation worse: The Scandinavians are neutral, Britain is a military neutral—but the U. S. is involved in one expensive war and on the brink of other military engagements. Our decline could be precipitous if socialism's costs are added to war.

CATTLEMEN—REDUCE GRASS TETANY

This costly problem, resulting usually from the faulty metabolism of calcium salts, can be prevented. Cattle on high forage rations (grass, silage, hay) receive extreme high levels of calcium in comparison to phosphorus. Yet cattle use calcium and phosphorus on a 2:1 ratio. New Purina Range and Pasture Mineral contains phosphorus and calcium ratios on a 1:1 ratio with the phosphorus coming from three different sources. Fed free choice, Purina Range and Pasture Mineral fills all the known trace mineral needs of cattle in amounts exceeding the National Research Council's recommendations. It also contains organic iodine to help prevent foot rot and soft tissue lumpy jaw, and iron in highly available sulfate form. SEE US TODAY FOR NEW RANGE & PASTURE MINERAL.

WALTON, KENTUCKY -- THURSDAY, MARCH 21, 1968

Volume 53—Number 12

Nunn's Nickel Nips The Entire State

A five percent sales tax in Kentucky will go into effect April 1. No "April Fool" joke. This will be the largest such tax in the Nation, according to reports.

The Kentucky Senate, late last Wednesday, approved the two cent increase by a vote of 21-17. Several substitutes and amendments were introduced but were defeated.

And Mr. Nunn said no increase in taxes during his campaign for the governorship—who can you believe these days?

All sales will be taxed except farm machinery. It had been proposed to exempt food and medicine, but these measures failed.

In other last week action, the auto license tag cost was raised to $12.50 from its present $5.00. However, this will not be effective until 1969.

Also approved was the $2.47 billion budget for the next two years.

With the increase in sales tax to five percent, the cost of the Walton Advertiser will be $3.15 beginning in April, and of course, all job printing will carry the new sales tax. Advertising has carried no tax in the past and, so far as we know, the new bill did not include advertising—now classed as a service.

We feel that this area of the state will be hurt, at least for awhile, as a result of the increased sales tax. We have heard several people say that they would buy their groceries in Ohio—just stop by a market on their way home from work.

Roberts Purchases Insurance Agency

On March first, the Gaines and Conner Insurance Agency transferred their business to the Roberts Insurance Company, Walton.

The Gaines and Conner Agency, partnership of Alan Gaines and Fay Conner, had been in business for 29 years and operated in the Walton Lumber Company building situated on Depot Street, Walton.

Mrs. Conner's retirement from the insurance business marks an end to a long line of family participation in this line of business in this community.

Mr. S. L. Edwards, grandfather of Mrs. Conner had an agency about 1900 or before. At that time policies were written in long hand. Miss Lovenia Edwards continued this insurance business of her father until a short time before her death in 1939 at which time the Gaines & Conner agency was organized.

The Hartford Insurance Co. of Hartford, Conn. has been one of the leading companies in the three previous agencies of the Edwards family and will continue with the Roberts Insurance Company.

Mr. Gaines and Mrs. Conner wishes to express their appreciation to their many customers over the years for all kindness shown to them.

They know the Roberts agency, under the direction of Dan J. and Charlie Roberts and their staff, is qualified to give the best of insurance protection that is available.

BETTY CROCKER WINNER

Miss Patty McCord

Miss Patty McCord, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McCord of Ryland Heights, was presented an attractive Homemaker charm for being the Betty Crocker winner at Simon Kenton High School, Independence.

A letter from General Mills said to Patty, "You can wear your Homemaker charm with pride, knowing that it represents outstanding qualities and understanding of fine homemaking values, which are even more important in their way than the practical skills of cooking and sewing."

Patty ranked in the upper ten percent of the girls in the nation who took this test. This is the 14th year of the Betty Crocker Search, initiated in 1954-55 by General Mills to emphasize the importance of homemaking as a career.

Besides being a song leader and an active member of her FHA, Patty is secretary-treasurer of the Art Club and is a member of the Y-Teens, Pep Club, and FTA. HOME AND FORT

A STITCH IN TIME—

By Linda Tatum
Area Extension Agent

With Spring just around the corner—I hope—you'll begin thinking about new wardrobe. Since time and energy is a precious commodity these days, permanent press fabrics are made to order just for you. Why not make your own clothes, keeping the following information in mind—

Permanent press fabrics can not be handled the same as other yard goods because of their built-in resist to creasing.

In making a ready-to-wear garment, the manufacturer starts with fabric to which the permanent press finish has been applied but which has not been "cured." After the fabric is cut and sewed, high temperature presses are used on the garment and then it is "cured" in an oven; the heat sets the shape, smoothness, pleats, and creases permanently. Home pressing equipment cannot give the heat or pressure needed to "cure" the permanent press finish, so the fabric is already "cured" when you buy it. For this reason, you'll find it difficult to get sharp edges at hemlines, flat seams and crisp, permanent pleats when you sew with permanent press.

Follow these suggestions to help you get good results when making garments of permanent press fabrics. When you select a pattern, choose a simple garment with straight lines, a minimum number of seams, and few details. Shifts, shells, A-line dresses, and jumpers are good choices. Avoid frilly, complicated styles and fullness in sleeves and other shaped areas. Fullness cannot be steamed or pressed out so you may want to alter the pattern to remove some of the fullness from such areas as sleeve caps.

The "unpressed" look of the hem will show up less on patterned fabric than on a solid color. Use mercerized cotton, nylon or "polyester core" thread. Pins should be fine and sharp, and the needle should be very sharp and as fine as possible for the fabric. Zippers and interfacings should be pre-shrunk. Tape, interfacings and linings should have the same easy-care qualities as the garment fabric.

Use 10-14 stitches per inch for lightweight fabrics and from 8-10 per inch for heavy ones. Tension on both the spool and bobbin should be adjusted for minimum "grab." The presser foot should rest lightly on the fabric with just enough pressure to feed it through. Guide the fabric gently when making seams—don't pull or force it. Puckering at seams is a slightly greater problem with permanent press fabrics, and puckers are more difficult to press out, than with other yard goods. Press each seam as you sew. Use a hot iron after first testing the temperature on a scrap of the material. Steam usually helps, too; use a steam iron or a dry iron over a damp cloth. Be very careful as you press, for pressed-in wrinkles are hard to remove. Because of fabric's resistance to creasing, you'll need to use heavy pressure at the hem and when opening seams. Give the finished garment a careful, final pressing on the right side.

In laundering the permanent press garments, remember these easy rules: First, be sure you have read the label and/or hangtag. Follow carefully any directions given there. Turn slacks and pleated skirts inside out before washing to protect the creased edges. Don't wash white and colored items together—sort them into separate loads for washer. Don't overload washer or dryer.

Freeman's Switch From Farm to Ghetto

By M. Gene Snyder, U. S. Congressman, 4th District, Kentucky

What was once called farming and now known as agribusiness is in serious trouble. Great Society spokesmen have ceased to talk about the family-sized farm as the "backbone of America." In fact, they have cast broad hints that farmers should get big—or get out.

Many of them have been doing just that. Somewhere in America this year or next, when a farmer calls in an auctioneer and sells out, the total number of U. S. farms will fall below 3 million. Some idea of how fast farmers have been "Freemanized" is given by the fact that in 1960, there were 4 million farms. One-fourth of the farms in the Nation have disappeared under the New Frontier and Great Society. The Great Spenders off-repeated concern for the family-sized farm has given

Each item has a better chance to wash and dry thoroughly in smaller loads. If the garment hangtag or label gives special instructions about bleaching, be sure to follow them. If no instructions are given, use bleach with care, as you would with any other garment. Usually, liquid bleaches should be used only on white fabrics.

To remove grease stains that have had a chance to "age," brush the stain with liquid detergent and allow it to stay on the stain for at least an hour. The stain can then be removed easily by using a dry-cleaning solvent. Like regular garments, permanent press articles can be sent to the dry cleaner or can be cleaned in coin-operated equipment. They also can be sent to commercial laundries, although the garments will receive a pressing that is not necessary when they are done at home.

way to concern for the family-sized ghetto, where they know that mining for votes is more productive per dollar spent than on the sparsely settled farms.

Farming, because this is a vast country, is a big business. It is bigger than oil, autos, or steel. Some three of every 10 non-government jobs depend on agriculture. In supplying nearly one job in three, agriculture has been taking a fiscal beating. Farm prices are now down five percent from 18 months ago. Farm costs are up. One farmer, for example, had income of $19,051 in 1965. In 1966 it dropped to 14,964 and hit $9,000 in 1967. High interest costs are cutting profits for farmers who borrow money to buy cattle to fatten. Some get credit cut off. The next step is to sell out, quit farming.

Farm debt is climbing fast. Farmers buy $5.3 billion worth of equipment yearly. When prices drop, farmers can't pay. The $256 billion in land, buildings and equipment that comprise farm assets are yielding a poor return. It is said in the 1930s that the depression began on the farm. Today's agriculture is still big business, but inflation, coupled with Freeman's follies, may start another general downturn for U. S. business when the farm fiscal burden becomes too great. Many farmers are living off the inflated value of their land. When debts pile up, they get a bigger mortgage, pay more interest, go deeper in debt, finally give up.

I think the time is long overdue for the Agriculture Department to get back to its task of solving the farmer's problems.

It's the hard tasks that make us.

Diesel fuel used in non-highway vehicles, such as farm equipment, is not subject to the Federal income tax credit of six cents per gallon. A recent release from our state office was in error about the tax credit on diesel fuel for non-highway vehicles. We said such fuel was subject to the 6-cent a gallon tax credit. However, we are told dealers do not charge farmers that six cents a gallon tax at purchase, if the use is for non-highway vehicles, but simply mark on the invoice, "not for highway use."

When diesel fuel is used in highway vehicles, the Federal tax per gallon is four cents, the same charged for gasoline.

Only lubricating oil used in non-highway vehicles gets a six cents per gallon tax credit.

Last year, Kentucky farmers spent more than $45 million for fertilizer and limestone. And if they bought needed fertilizers and lime, they got from $3 to $5 return for each dollar invested in the fertilizers and lime. This could mean from $135 to $225 million dollars in crop returns under those conditions. How best to use fertilizer and lime, and what does your farm need? Test soils for the best and most accurate guide.

Collect soil samples that represent the field or area to be treated as soon as possible. Do it when the ground is dry enough to plow. Get these soil test results well in advance of purchase of lime and fertilizer.

Check area extension offices in your county for advice.

The manner of giving shows the character of the giver more than the gift itself.

THE SOURCE

Lesson for March 24, 1968

Background Scripture: John 15 and 16.
Devotional Reading: John 15:1-8.

A young man idolized Abraham Lincoln. He bought and avidly read every book on Lincoln he could find. He made a collection of the Great Emancipator's speeches. All the drawings and photographs of the sixteenth President were systematically hunted down. Some of Lincoln's memorable sayings were committed to memory.

One day, years after the great project had been begun, someone said to him: "Do you know what you remind me very much of Abraham Lincoln?" Smiling a Lincolnian smile, the other replied: "That is understandable, for I have lived with him for many years."

To Resemble Him

It is sometimes said that when we live with someone long enough, whether in a literal or figurative sense, we may very well become quite like them. Partners in marriage, for example, often come to resemble each other. Adopted children may sometimes seem to bear the likeness of their foster parents.

It is in this same way that a person may grow in his fellowship with Christ, until, at last, he begins to take on characteristics that reflect the influence of the Master. This was the challenge Jesus set before his disciples: "By this my Father is glorified, that you bear much fruit, and so prove to be my disciples" (John 15:8 RSV).

This power to "bear much fruit" finds its source in a close, living relationship with Christ. "I am the vine," says Jesus, "you are my branches. He who abides in me, and I in him, he'll be that bears much fruit, for apart from me you can do nothing" (John 15:5 RSV). Anyone who has ever tried to do it "on his own" knows the truth of Jesus' claim. He is the source of whatever power we have.

The Withered Branch

Sometimes, however, men and women, as they have climbed the ladder to "success," have cut themselves off from the source of their success. John Wesley found that many of the poor people who were converted under his ministry became moderately prosperous because of their new way of life. Unfortunately, as many of them grew in material success, they tended to drift away from their faith. They became "too busy" for the fellowship that lifted them out of their poverty. Wesley's solution: "If those who gain all they can, and save all they can, will likewise give all they can."

This is always the danger of prosperity. It tends to seduce us away from our source. We grow further and further away from Christ and, as we do, we find our power begin to dwindle. It may not happen suddenly, but bit by bit. At last, overextended in every direction, we find we have exhausted our God-given power and find nothing but emptiness where once Christ dwelt in us. "If a man does not abide in me, he is cast forth as a branch and withers..." (John 15:6 RSV).

A Matched Set

Jesus said, "... unless you abide in me" (John 15:4), but how do you go about "abiding" in him? We have already seen how one young man lived for a number of years under the influence of the words and deeds of Abraham Lincoln and became like him. We may abide in Jesus in the same manner. He himself said: "If... my words abide in you" (John 15:7). As a young man immersed himself in the utterances of Lincoln, so the Christian may do the same with the teachings of Jesus Christ.

If Christ is the "true vine," the branches are bound together too. "This is my commandment, that you love one another as I have loved you." The Christian who remains close to his source, life in Jesus Christ, also finds it brings him close to his fellow man. It is impossible to have one without the other. The source compels us to be one.

BARBED WIRE and Babbling Brooks

Spring sun shines on babbling brooks—and barbed wire. A bird song lifts prettily on fragrant air—and a sniper shot splits the silence. New green burgeons through brown winter grasses—and red blood drenches jungle earth.

One's description of the season depends upon location. In some parts of the world there are happy people, enjoying the spring, looking forward to Easter services. Other faces of this globe find suffering people, anguished by the sunshine, hungry, afraid, lonely, dying.

Centuries ago on black Calvary hill, Jesus of Nazareth demonstrated perfect love. Down through the ages, His life and teachings have pointed the way for mankind to heal the ills of the world.

So, in this Lenten season let us offer ourselves—our time and talents—to the service of His Church, in its task of making His kingdom come upon earth.

Mrs. J. A. Kenney, Reporter

As I start to write some news today, I realize that news is about as scarce as the proverbial hen's teeth. This brings to memory an argument a certain person gave me one day, to the effect that chickens really do have teeth, else how could they eat the hard grains they do eat?

Hear that Mrs. Edith Cram Kattelman, who recently had a serious operation, is recovering nicely.

The consensus of opinion seems to be that the Lay witness mission held here March 8-9-10, was much enjoyed by those attending. The strangers who came to spend the time with us—one flying in from Los Angeles—seemed to be old friends when they departed. They told us how they try to encourage one another, sharing their victories and their failures. I am sure many of us have been both helped and challenged to walk closer to our Lord.

In these days of indecision, frustration and misdirection, I often think of these lines, learned when in school...I live for those who love me...whose hearts are kind and true...for the heaven that smiles above me, and awaits my spirit too...for the cause that lacks assistance...for the wrong that needs resistance...for the future in the distance, and the good that I can do.—Geo. L. Banks Electric heating is a success. The recent 3,000th home installation compares to a mere 79 back in 1960.

The distinction of owning our area's 3,000th electrically heated home belongs to Mr. and Mrs. Corbett Sponcel.

Electric baseboards and electric ceiling panels keep the Sponcel's home cozy and warm.

This type of sunshine silent electric heating is controlled room-by-room. And, see how little Scotty Sponcel enjoys the draft-free floor.

The estimated electric heating cost for this family's 1684 sq. ft. home ... averages $21.17 a month ... spread over a year.

Gene Snyder Will Seek Re-Election

Congressman Gene Snyder

Rep. Gene Snyder, citing the work he has done for the Fourth District, said last Friday he will seek re-election this year.

Tied in with the Jeffersontown Republican's announcement was a hint of his campaign strategy. Snyder called for a more "resolute evaluation of federal spending policies to curb deficits and control inflation."

Snyder said he could be either a hawk or a dove on the war in Vietnam, depending on which was the best way to "bring an honorable conclusion to this conflict."

The 40-year-old congressman, whose district runs from the suburbs of Louisville to the suburbs of Cincinnati, also said his work on flood control, rivers and harbors had been important to all of Kentucky.

Snyder has served two non-consecutive terms in Congress, being elected in 1962 from the old Third District, which was Jefferson County, and from the new Fourth District in 1964.

Dr. Laurence V. Kirkpatrick

"Operation Good News," is the theme of a series of evangelistic sermons to be delivered by Dr. Laurence V. Kirkpatrick, General Secretary of the World Convention of Churches of Christ (Disciples) with headquarters in New York City.

Sermons will begin with the Sunday morning service March 31, with evening services Sunday and continuing through April 4, at 7:30. These services are a pre-Easter revival for the local Christian Church.

Dr. Kirkpatrick, a native of Oklahoma, received his college education at Phillips University in Oklahoma; Yale University, and his doctorate is from Columbia University in New York City.

Grass Fires Continue to Beckon Local Firemen

Last Tuesday was a good day or was it a bad day for the Walton Firemen? Any way they answered three calls in response to grass fires. One call was to the property of Chambers and Grubbs; another was to the Seebree property on south 25; and the third was to give assistance to Florence. During dry conditions the firemen advise to use extreme caution in burning anything on the outside, especially during windy days.

The Walton vols gave stand-by assistance to the Independence Firemen.

A CORRECTION—

In last week's Advertiser in the Card of Thanks of Harry E. Johnson we mentioned the name of Rev. Saylor as one of the ministers thanked. This was an error. It should have been Rev. Taylor, pastor of First Baptist Church in Covington. We're sorry, Harry!

Simon Kenton High School Home Economics Classes Enjoy Field Trip to Cincinnati, Ohio

On Thursday, March 14, the Simon Kenton Home Economics students traveled to Cincinnati for a tour of Smith's Furniture Store, the Art Museum, and Pogue's Department store. Sixty girls boarded the bus at Simon Kenton at 9:00 a. m. and were driven to Cincinnati by Mr. Mullins. Due to the large number of students taking part in this outing it was necessary to divide into two separate groups which were supervised by Mrs. McElroy and Mrs. Cooper.

First stop was at Smith's Furniture Store. Third and Race Sts. The girls in Group I were the first to be conducted through the store, while the remainder of the girls toured the Cincinnati Art Museum.

The two-hour tour of Smith's, one of the oldest and best known furniture establishments in Cincinnati, proved to be informative and extremely interesting. Through the direction of the congenial guide, Mr. Mongenas, the girls were able to view both Early American and modern furniture. First, they were shown slides produced by the Baumritter Corporation, makers of Ethan Allen furniture, concerning the different American traditional periods. This included Early American, Colonial, Federal, American Victorian, Pennsylvania Dutch, Shaker, American Provincial and Mission furniture styles. In addition, Mr. Mongenas showed various carpet samples of many colors and fibers. After viewing these slides, the group was directed to the fifth floor, where they saw Early American style furniture, including Ethan Allen and Hitchcock. Mr. Mongenas explained that Hitchcock furniture and Ethan Allen furniture are of excellent quality and are two of the most renowned American designs. The most important point stressed by Mr. Mongenas is that it is extremely important to purchase good quality furniture from a reputable store. Next, the group went to the sixth floor where they were able to see some of the most unusual modern

Boone Civil Defense Needs Special Skills

Paul Diebert, Jr.

The Boone County Civil Defense Organization needs new recruits in specialized areas.

The Auxiliary Police Division is now recruiting new members, and preparing a complete training program in the duties and responsibilities of the C. D. Auxiliary Policeman.

Ex-policemen, former military policemen, and men with a deep sense of community responsibility, interested in learning more about how they can help the county, are urged to contact Captain John Younger, Walton, 359-4387, or Lt. John McVey, Florence, 282-7339.

The newly formed Water Recovery Division is, at present, preparing a complete training program in the art of SCUBA diving. The division has two fully qualified professional diving instructors. If you are a diver or a strong swimmer, in excellent physical condition and feel you can pass the rigid physical endurance test required of a SCUBA diver, you are needed. For further information call Bud Reinman, Florence, 283-6371, or Paul Diebert, Jr., Florence, 282-1214.

All other persons who have an interest in Civil Defense and wish to learn how they can be of great service to the community are urged to contact the Boone County Civil Defense Director Robert Coffey, 282-2130, or the administrative officer, Don Bennett, 282-1259.

furniture of today. This included living room, dining room, and recreation room furniture and many accessories, such as lamps, pictures, clocks and other odd wall hangings. At approximately 11:30, the girls terminated the tour of Smith's, thanked Mr. Mongenas for his excellent guidance, and met with the other half of the touring party for lunch.

After lunch, which was spent at Frisch's in Covington, the girls returned to Cincinnati to complete the trip. Group II, with Mrs. McElroy, which had previously gone to the Art Museum, went to Smith's and the girls in Group I with Mrs. Cooper went to Pogue's Department Store.

The tour of Pogue's proved to be equally as interesting as that at the furniture store. The girls visited the different departments that would be helpful to home economists, including the silver, houseware, yard goods and china and crystal departments. While in the silverware department, they were able to see the silver pattern chosen by the President's daughter, Luci, and also many expensive European patterns. On the sixth floor of Pogue's, the group toured the housewares department, and next went to see the china and glassware, which was very fascinating. In both the silver and china departments, much literature was received which could be helpful in the future. Last, was the yard goods department and all were overwhelmed with the yards and yards of beautiful fabrics and numerous sewing notions.

At 1:55, Group I met promptly with Mrs. Cooper in Pogue's Arcade and traveled to Smith's furniture store where they joined the remainder of the students and Mrs. McElroy. All then boarded the bus for the return trip.

All in all, this field trip proved to be very, very interesting, educational and enjoyable. Most of all, it was extremely beneficial to each and every girl who faces the future as a wife and home economist.—Patty McCord

 Agriculture and related fields employ 23 million men and women. No other field is half as broad in variety and skills, and there is evidence that average earnings are as high or higher than the average for all university and college graduates, according to the Agricultural Institute, a foundation for the advancement of agriculture. Yet many of the good positions go begging.
 Farming itself offers employment to 7 million people, and related industries account for another 16 million, about 40 percent of the nation's private jobs off the farm. Off-the-farm careers include finance and investment, transportation, processing and selling agricultural products, manufacturing agricultural inputs and research.
 At least 1,000 young men and women are needed yearly to fill the openings in the poultry industry created by expansion, promotion and retirement.
 The Department of Poultry Science of Virginia Polytechnic Institute reports that starting salaries ranged from $5,500 to $7,500 for persons with B. S. degrees and are considerably higher for those with advanced degrees. Many experienced individuals are earning $12,000 to $35,000 and more annually, as VPI indicated in a brochure titled "Careers Unlimited In Poultry."
 Opportunities range from research to production to service to communications to education and beyond. Research, which usually requires a M. S. or Ph. D. degree, includes such specific areas as genetics, physiology, nutrition, pathology, flock management, engineering (housing, equipment, etc.), marketing, processing, new products, packaging, environment and quality control.

 Enrollment in the nation's colleges of agriculture is 7 percent above that of the 1966 record. Fall term enrollment for persons receiving a baccalaureate degree in agriculture is 47,723, an increase of 3,127 students over the 1966 total.
 These figures were reported by Dr. Louis M. Thompson, Iowa

State University, for the 68 member institutions of the National Association of State Universities and Land Grant Colleges.
 Iowa State University, with 2,792 students, had the largest increase, 344. Texas A&M University, one of the top ten in enrollment, had the second highest increase, 213. The University of Tennessee had an increase of 121 agriculture students.
 Dr. Thompson has reported that the greatest increases came in junior and senior classes, indicating a larger number of transfers.
 Graduate student enrollment in agriculture increased 10 percent.

WHO CAN YOU BELIEVE ON THE 10 PCT. SURTAX

By Gene Snyder, U. S. Congressman, Fourth District, Kentucky

As the Great Society gyrates wildly around in support of its tax increase proposal, the American people are being treated to a spectacle of indecision, imprecision and incredibility. In the March 13 Washington Post there was a story which said that a top-level Treas-

FOR US!

Lesson for March 31, 1968

Background Scripture: John 17, Devotional Reading: 1 Timothy 2:1-4.

One summer while on college vacation, I was working as a door-to-door salesman of miscellaneous household items and had an experience that made a deep impression upon me. It was a broiling July afternoon: sidewalks hot, air thick, and not the slightest hint of a breeze. I hadn't sold anything all day and I was both hot and discouraged as I dragged myself up the front steps of the next house.

As I rang the doorbell, I noticed an elderly man on the steps of the house two doors away. He smiled and nodded. I nodded back but was probably unsuccessful with the smile. The door in front of me was opened and I was invited in. Not only was the woman interested in my wares, but she made a substantial purchase.

I Prayed For You

Minutes later as I left the house, I noticed the elderly man once again. "Sold something, didn't you?" he said in a voice that indicated that he wasn't really asking a question. "Yes," I replied, "but how did you know?" His eyes twinkled as he said: "I prayed for you; you looked so discouraged when you went in."

For a moment I was speechless. The words, "I prayed for you," kept sounding again and again in my mind. The best reply I could manage was: "Well, thanks very much; I appreciate it." His smile seemed to rest upon me all the way down the street.

Though I would not claim that the man's prayer produced my sale that day, neither would I discount it. The important thing, however, is that a perfect stranger had compassion and prayed for me. While I had been in the midst of making that "one more try," the old gentleman outside was holding me in prayer!

Unknown Intercessors

The words, "I am praying for you," may sound trite to us, but when we are in deep need of spiritual strength and power, they may sound wonderful to our ears. For some reason, our own efforts at prayer may be fruitless. Perhaps we are too emotionally involved to be able to pray as we might. It is then that the prayer of someone else on our behalf can mean so much to us.

Those close to us may pray out of their specific knowledge of our need. Others whom we do not know may be of help to us as they pray more generally for, "the sick," "the lame," and "the infirm." A friend may place our name on a prayer list. It is amazing how swiftly a request for prayer can "get around" among people who believe in the power of intercessory prayer.

Yet, even if it seems that no one is praying for us, there is, in reality, someone who may be sure does intercede on our behalf: Jesus Christ. The seventeenth chapter of John records that first prayer of intercession for us: "I do not pray for these only, but also for those who are to believe in me through their (the disciples) word, that they may all be one" (17:20).

An Advocate

Nor is this the only evidence of his intercession for us. Hebrews 7:25 tells us: "... He always lives to make intercession for them (who draw near to God through him)." In John 2:1 we read: "... we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous..." And the Apostle Paul assures us in Romans 8:26 (RSV): "for we do not know how to pray as we ought, but the Spirit himself intercedes for us with sighs too deep for words;

Though there are times when we feel that nobody cares, that we are utterly alone in our concern, it is not so. We are never abandoned by Christ. Thus, whenever we feel utterly alone, let us remember that Christ at least is praying for us and, very likely, there are others praying with him... for us!

ury Advisory Committee, headed by former Secretary of the Treasury C. Douglas Dillon, "yesterday warned that failure of President Johnson's surtax proposal would endanger worldwide confidence in the dollar." This would indicate that the committee favors the tax as an anti-inflation move. The Post declared that it is "unusual" for this committee to say anything at all, and puts great stock by its breaking audio silence to plug for the President's anti-inflation tax hike.

But, on the same day, the Baltimore Sun headlined a story which quoted present Secretary of the Treasury Henry J. Fowler as saying that the tax is a war tax, made necessary by more troops going to Vietnam. Fowler, testifying in favor of keeping excise taxes, said a higher tax yet might be needed if the war heats up further. The Sun notes Fowler's switch in tactics: "In contrast to previous appearances before Congressional Committees in behalf of the Administration tax package, Fowler plainly call the excise extensions a Vietnam tax rather than an anti-inflation levy." Sen. George A. Smathers (D. of Fla.), who is not running in 1968, said Congressman would find it easier to justify their votes for a tax increase as a war measure than as an anti-inflationary move.

Fowler said he would back a plan by Smathers and Rep. Clinton P. Anderson (D. of N. M.), to bypass the House Ways and Means Committee, where the surtax bill is stymied, by tacking it onto the current excise bill extending the taxes on telephones and autos.

Fowler said it costs $20,000 per GI sent to Vietnam. With plans under consideration involving 200,000 more troops, the cost of the war could rocket above the $25-, 800,000,000 budgeted for Vietnam in fiscal 1968.

As the Administration reveals its inventive talents in discovering new reasons for a tax increase, nothing is said about cutting back on non-war spending. Nothing is said about postponing Great Society experiments in throwing money at America's problems to see if they will go away. Nothing is done to cut waste.

Fowler said no wage and price controls are seen as necessary. No cutbacks in domestic spending are necessary. The only wartime necessities apparently recognized by this Administration are more troops and more taxes.

The New Hampshire primary, which the President laughs off as "insignificant," revealed that many Americans are beginning to doubt Great Society War-waging as being either wise or necessary.

Courage at Dusk

We live longer today! But thanks to questions, plans, knowledge, the wisdom, the strength, the power, they may sound wonderful to our ears. For some reason, our own efforts at prayer may be fruitless. Perhaps we are too emotionally involved to be able to pray as we might. It is then that the prayer of someone else on our behalf can mean so much to us.

There is the faith... they believe in their Bible, their prayers, and their help. But when dusk comes they find a kind of courage that no other will give.

A STITCH IN TIME—

By Linda Tatum
Area Extension Agent

A sure cure for the winter dollums is the fashion forecast for spring and summer fabrics. The "pretty" look is back and the colors and textures usher in a season for true femininity.

Colors are cleaner, easier to wear, more flattering. Pretty pails appear in pinks, melons, apricots, coral and lime. Ivy-shedder colors set off sleek fabrics like saten.
Intense bright colors are used in new combinations. The brights are toned down with dashes of neutrals or held dramatically in a season with deep colors—black, rich brown, and navy.

Prints are in profusion. Everyone can find a print that appeals.
There are flurries of flowering stripes, bouquets of tiny button flowers and giant florals. Stems play an important part in many patterns. Projecting a neat geometric look are classic patterns with new twists: broken squares, double plaids and soft box checks.
Stripes, both horizontal and vertical, continue to be a favorite.

Ruffles, flounces and waist-hugging belts take on fresh importance in floral and geometric prints, stripes and plain colors.

An outstanding group of formals includes a floor-length circular skirt of polyester with a rich velvet texture in red or blue. It is worn with a colorful print blouse with cowl neck and three-quarter bouffant sleeves gathered below the elbow to form a wide ruffle.

Dramatically striking is a long, flowing sheath in a swirling black and white psychedelic print.
Two long flowing panels attached at the neckline and molded the shoulders fall free over the arms giving a butterfly silhouette.

Reminiscent of the gay nineties is a short cocktail dress with a double-flounce skirt, cinched at the waist with a cummerbund in a gay contrasting print. Short puffed sleeves gathered into a wide band with rows of stitching terminate in a pet ruffle at the elbow. Creating a swinging wind-blown silhouette is a sleeveless minidress made entirely of spun-bonded polyester.

Multicolored stripes are featured in charming mother and daughter dresses. Horizontal stripes used in the body of the shift dress compliment the vertical stripes in long, full raglan sleeves gathered at the wrist to form a ruffle. The collar is a pet standup ruffle.

Ideal for lounging and informal wear are long sleeveless culottes in gay dramatic prints.

Cinch a waist, ruffle a neckline, lengthen your hemline and be completely feminine this spring, ladies!

JET SET 4-H CLUB

The Jet Set 4-H Club is preparing for the busy months ahead.
At our fifth meeting March 14, we made plans for the coming spring.
Our bake sale March 9 was a success and we plan to open an account in the club's name at the Bank of Independence. This money will be used later in the summer for a special project. We are also having a special meeting on March 28 to discuss the possibility of entering the Talent Show. It was voted that we would collect used clothing as a good will project. Several club members also plan to go to the demonstration and speech training March 30.

Recreation and refreshments followed the adjournment. Besides the 11 present, we had a visitor, Debbie Cook.

Our April meeting will be held on the 9th at the home of Melony

Veterans Administration
Questions and Answers

Q—I am a Viet-Nam Era veteran, married, and plan to take college courses under the new GI Bill. I know the educational allowance for a veteran with one dependent is $155 a month for full time enrollment, $115 for three-quarter time, and $75 for half time in college. But how many semester hours are required in these classifications?

A—Full time college training means 14 or more semester hours or the equivalent; three-quarter time training consists of 10 to 13 semester hours, and half-time is 7 to 9 semester hours of college courses or the equivalent.

Q—I understand most VA benefits are tax exempt and do not need to be reported as income. Is there any VA derived income that a veteran must report as taxable income?

A—Yes. A veteran who holds a GI Insurance participating policy and has left his dividends on deposit with the VA has a source of income in the interest that these dividends are drawing. This must be reported as income. The dividends themselves, however, are tax free and need not be reported as income.

Q—As a widow of a retired officer, I am drawing a portion of my husband's retirement pay for my five children under the Servicemen's Family Protection Program. Does this preclude my children's receiving a survivor's pension allowance from the VA and college educational assistance under the Orphan's Educational Assistance program?

A—Your children may receive pension payments from the VA and may continue to receive them while attending college. But the fact that they are receiving pension indicates your husband did not die from service-connected causes, so the children are not eligible for the Orphan's Educational Assistance program.

21, 1968. The president, Mrs. Robert Chapman, opened the meeting and announced the winners of the

SNOW CREATES EXCITEMENT; 135 TRAFFIC MOST AFFECTED

One would never know that the Spring season was here by the way the elements carried on with the outpouring of snow last Friday. When the anticipated forecast of four inches was made in the early hours of the day little did we expect to be engulfed in the year's worst snowstorm.

The unofficial measurements in the area ranged from 10-13 inches depending on which department store yardstick one might use. It was deep enough to slow traffic to a one-lane-at-a-time crawl. Many autos were in the ditch but few serious accidents were reported on the local scene.

The aluminum awning in the front of Benton-Bosar department store fell under the weight of the large amount of snow accumulated on it. Shrubs and trees were subject too injury by the snow being piled on so deep.

With the warming trend developing early this week it seems that most of the snow will have vanished by press time.

Emergency First Aid Learned By 4-H'ers

The right care as soon as an accident happens could mean the difference between life and death for the accident victim, 4-H TV Action Club members learned last Saturday.

Emergency first aid for victims of home accidents was emphasized in the seventh 4-H TV Action program, "Emergency Living in the Home," shown March 30 on WKRC television. Viewers also learned about handling emergency situations in the home, such as failure of home services.

Club members watch each program, discuss the topic in class the following week, and do projects and experiments connected with it. Some 1265 fourth, fifth and sixth grade students in Boone County schools are members of the club, according to Miss Linda Tatum, Area Extension Agent.

Next Saturday's program will be on emergency living outdoors as members will learn what to do when lost outdoors. Some of the earlier programs have included earthquakes, very cold weather, tornadoes and atomic explosions.

Beechgrove Homemakers

"Meals in Minutes" was the topic of the lesson given to the Beechgrove Homemakers by Mrs. James McHale during the March meeting in the home of Mrs. Roy Kunkler, with Mrs. Virgil Kelly as co-hostess.

Two new members were welcomed into the club, Mrs. William Letcher and Mrs. John Mutch, while one member was welcomed back, Mrs. Gus Schadler, after an absence of several months because of illness.

Members attending, other than the above mentioned, were Mrs. Raymond McHale, Mrs. Faye Powers, Mrs. Raymond Dickson, Mrs. William Endres, Mrs. William Wolsing, Mrs. Verner Stephens, Mrs. Thomas Ritchie, Mrs. Tony Stirling, Mrs. Wilson Hall, and Mrs. Stanley Parker.

The next meeting is to be in the home of Mrs. William Schepher with Mrs. William Wolsing as co-hostess on April 25.

Open Housing Is Law In Kentucky

Last Thursday, Kentucky became the first state south of the Mason-Dixon Line to have a statewide open housing law. Gov. Louie B. Nunn allowed the bill to become law without his signature.

The law prohibits discrimination because of race, color, religion or national origin in the sale or rental of housing.

It exempts sale of houses by homeowners who do not use real estate agents or brokers; all rental of housing of four units or less when one of the units is occupied by the owner; direct rental by individual owners of six or less housing units, and transactions by religious and charitable institutions.

The law empowers the state Human Rights Commission to issue cease and desist orders against violators.

In allowing the bill to become law, Gov. Nunn, an outspoken critic of such a law, reaffirmed his position but said the state legislature had spoken.

State Rural Road Program for Boone

State rural road program for Boone County were announced last week by Commissioner of Highways William B. Hazelrigg.

Under the Rural Secondary Program, which is financed with two cents of the seven-cent-a-gallon motor fuels tax, Boone County has been apportioned $175,751.40 for the 1968-1969 fiscal year.

The Boone County program approved by the Commissioner for this year includes: Construction of a bridge and approaches on the Beaver Lick-Walton Road; resurfacing, ditching and shouldering of 1.7 miles of the Constance-Sand Run School Road; and maintenance of the 71.5 miles of Rural Secondary System roads in the county.

Under the County Road Aid Program, Boone County has been apportioned $65,093.14 for the 1968-69 year. This money comes out of an annual appropriation from the State Road Fund as required by law to help counties maintain their own roads.

According to the agreement for this year between the Department of Highways and the Fiscal Court, the Department will furnish materials to maintain 70.8 miles of Boone County Roads. The county will furnish equipment and labor.

Motor Vehicle Inspection Stays; Nunn Vetoes Bill

Gov. Louie Nunn has vetoed the bill to repeal the annual motor vehicle inspection law. This means the compulsory inspection law remains in effect.

Kentucky stood to lose $12 million in federal highway funds if annual inspections were eliminated.

Many local inspection stations had good business last week, following the governor's action. The governor stated that any inspection station which was not operated correctly would be eliminated from the system.

For the benefit of any reader who is in doubt as to whether or not your vehicle inspection is due—if the last number of your license plate is three, inspection was due in March. However, due to the uncertainty of the law, Gov. Nunn has extended the time for the inspection of March numerals thru April; the license number ending in a four is due for inspection in April. However, a vehicle may be inspected at any time earlier than the designated time and all are good for one year.

IRON MANUFACTURE

Manufacture of iron products in Kentucky began so early that men digging the ore required a guard to protect them from marauding Indians.

Americans have paid $111 billion in state and federal taxes since the first penny gasoline tax was enacted in 1919.

Out-of-Town Calls Keep Firemen Busy

Would you believe snow on the ground one day and grass fires the next day? Such was the case last Wednesday as the local firemen responded in the afternoon to a woods fire on the Union-Big Bone Road, at the Castleman property, and to the Mullins property near Concord Church on Route 16 to a grass fire.

On Tuesday, at noon, a two-story garage storage building at the Ed Mains property on North Main St., Walton, caught fire. Several items stored on the second floor were destroyed, as well as those on the ground level. A large box of tools were saved by Hess Vest, one of the first on the scene. Mr. Vest was an active member of the local department some years ago.

Friday noon a run was made to the property of a Rev. Thompson, near Big Bone. A house and barn were lost in a suspected arson case. Two persons were seen leaving the premises prior to the fire, and the smell or kerosene was said to have been in the air.

Again on Monday of this week, the Bishop house and contents on a nearby farm was destroyed by fire, as flames were too advanced by the time the firemen reached the scene. No foul play was suspected here, however.

Have Fireman's Training

About a dozen men completed the 20-hour basic firemanship course at the Walton station last week. Fundamental instructions were given in hose handling, ladder work, pump operation, tools, and notch and hitch for reserve work. New members needed the training and the regulars enjoyed the refreshing.

Walton Fire Chief Charles Worthington expressed concern this week regarding some difficulty experienced by some volunteers in getting to the fire station during emergencies. They have been delayed by traffic failing to yield the right of way. "Most of the time the public is very cooperative but some times they are not. A delay might cost a life or a building. We are informing you of the law and hope you will abide by it," he said. In part, the House bill reads:

An act relating to fire apparatus enacted by the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, February, 1962:

1. All fire apparatus and other vehicles of the fire department of a fire protection district, and all automobiles of members and volunteers of said departments and the automobiles of other employees of the fire protection district, including automobiles of the trustees, shall have the right-of-way on any highway over all vehicles except those carrying the United States mails, with due regard to the safety of the public.

2. A STITCH IN TIME—

While today's automobile has achieved mechanical prowess, a sleek design, and recently a "miracle" body finish, it has not yet learned to bathe itself. That function, for the time being, remains the owner's responsibility.

To keep looking its best and to retain its traditional value, a car must be washed regularly. The sand, grit and often salt that flay a vehicle traveling at turnpike speeds can hasten chipping and wear on the paint finish. And the hard-shelled bugs that crash into a speeding car are not only able to nick off paint, but also give off a deposit, a highly corrosive juice. But even deadlier to a car's finish than high-speed abrasion, according to auto experts, is air pollution fall-out. This fall-out, the layer of black dirt that won't wipe out after a light rain or heavy dew—is a combination of smoke, salts, tars, acids, and plastic fumes. Even in areas where there is no industry, accumulations of just plain mud lodge in ledges, crevices and pockets underneath the car and in areas not visible to the eye. Each time the accumulation gets wet, its acts as a poultice which holds the moisture and hastens deterioration. Added to automobile wastes by hydrocarbon deposits for engine exhausts and diesel smoke, the result is repaid paint deterioration, unless regular washing is part of a car's care.

The new acrylic lacquers, first heralded as needing only an occasional hosing down to accomplish the equivalent of waxing, have proven by experience to also require regular thorough washings.

A weekly laundering is essential if any fall-out film develops. And an additional daily hose-down is a wise habit in very dirty industrial areas. Many authorities maintain that a car driven daily should be washed weekly, regardless of the weather or location.

While a commercial automatic carwash is an easy and efficient way to wash a car, a satisfactory job can be accomplished by a non-professional, especially as to the interior, where regular good care is reflected immediately.

A car should be washed in the shade or in the cooler hours of morning or late afternoon to avoid the direct rays of the sun. Start with the interior, and remove surface dirt with a vacuum cleaner or stiff brush—ceiling and visor first; walls, door panels, and upholstery next; lastly, the floor. Be sure to lift mats and seats to get at hidden dirt.

Candy and flowers make some wives happy—other wives get suspicious.

Farmers are using more fertilizer every year, especially nitrogen—to boost crop yields.

This coupled with these increased yields, means there is more need for agricultural limestone—more than half the soils tested last year needed limestone applications for any field crop grown in the state.

Soils that test between 6.0 and 7.0 in soil acidity (pH, or acidity level index) give the most economical crop production and best returns on fertilizer investment. Any soil testing below 6.0 needs liming. Soil testing is a logical basis for determining limestone needs. The level of yields, rates of fertilization and kind of crop grown should determine the rate and frequency of application. Soils can be tested now for winter or spring applications.

Pastures probably need a top-dressing of fertilizer now—April usually has good growing conditions, moisture and temperature. A soil test should be taken first, and attention should be paid to type of plants grown. For instance a stand nearly all grass and which will not be renovated would take a nitrogen fertilizer. If the stand has 25 percent or more legumes, nitrogen is not needed.

If a soil test has not been taken, it usually is assumed that phosphate and potash are in the low range. Pasture with little or no legumes and not renovated should be treated with about 500 to 600 pounds an acre of a 10-10-10 equivalent. Pastures with 25 percent or more legume content (clover, etc.) should get 300 to 400 pounds an acre of 0-20-20 or its equivalent. If you want the clover content to make seed, use 300 to 400 pounds an acre of 0-20-20-B.

We discussed participation in the Talent Show to be held May 3 at Twenhofel. Several of our members are preparing speeches and demonstrations for Rally Day to be held May 4 at the Independence Christian Church. Dottie Dixon presented her speech to the club which she has planned for Rally Day.

We want to announce plans for a bake sale at John Friedman's Store, April 12, at 1:00. There will be a large variety of cakes, pies, homemade bread and cookies from which to choose.

After the meeting was adjourned, Steve and Jim Vaughn served refreshments.—Reporter

The one big gripe now days is about television commercials. How often do you hear these words from the announcer, "Be back in a minute, after this." Then follows three or four commercials from 3 to 4 minutes. Some of the best programs do it, but why? Why don't they say, we will be off just long enough to pay for this story you are viewing, or to pay for this story you are seeing We call them "back in a minute" programs.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Union Sunday School Lessons

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE STUMBLING-BLOCK

Lesson for April 7, 1968

Background Scriptures: John 18 and 19. Devotional Readings: 1 Corinthians 1:18-24.

Little Billy's mother was appalled. While doing some cleaning in Billy's room, she had spied his new Sunday school quarterly, picked it up, and thumbed through it. What she found on its pages shocked her sensibilities and stirred her anger. She found it hard to believe that Billy's teacher would deal with something so unpleasant as the crucifixion! That might be all right for adults, she reasoned, but hardly fifth grade children.

"Billy!" she called. Absorbed in his favorite television program, "Vampire Man," Little Billy did not respond immediately. When at last he did appear, he simply confirmed that "Yea, that is what we are studying in Sunday school now." Armed with this answer, his mother decided to call on the pastor and voice her complaint. The pastor waited patiently while she stated her objections. "In other words, Reverend," she concluded, "I don't feel there's any place in the children's department for a subject so distasteful as the cross. Reserve that for the more mature students, and delete it from the children's department." The minister waited until she was finished speaking and then said, "Mrs. Nlap, if we take away the cross, there is nothing of Christianity left. Surely you understand that? Surely, she didn't.

Stumbling block

Nor is Billy's mother alone in her feeling about "the cross and all that." Paul himself acknowledged that the cross was "a stumbling block to Jews and folly to Gentiles." A well-known actor of several decades ago once admitted that he appreciated the story of Jesus "up to the point of the crucifixion." That he found to be personally obnoxious. "Take away the cross; it's the story's one weakness."

Without the cross

Yet it cannot be done. Assume for the moment that, after Jesus had prayed for his disciples, he left them and disappeared, never to be seen or heard from again. Would that have made any difference for the Church? We would still have his wonderful teachings, would we not? We could still practice and live by the "Golden Rule," couldn't we?

The answer ought to be obvious: It is the cross which makes Christianity both unique and possible. Others may debate the nature of God, but the cross translates into action what the words about God can only suggest. As Christians, we do not have to speculate about God, he has already shown us what he is with the cross. He has said it as dramatically and plainly as it can be said.

Without the cross, then, there would be no Christianity. Extract the cross from the New Testament and, no matter how cleanly you snip with your scissors, you will find that there is little left. The teachings of Jesus, the "Golden Rule," are taken seriously only because of the cross.

Do as I do!

Unlike most of us, Jesus did not ever ask his disciples to do what he himself would not do. His approach was not one of "Do as I say, not as I do." If anything, his whole ministry was founded upon the invitation to "Do as I do." The had been evident in the upper room when he washed his disciples' feet to demonstrate the humility they should practice in their love for one another. Now, on the cross, he was demonstrating both the power and the endurance of God's love.

Delete the cross? No, it cannot be done; it must not be done, for this "stumbling block" is really the gospel's power, not its weakness.

Florence Edgington, Reporter

Miss Sheila Wallace and brother, Dennis, of Nebraska City, Neb., were recent guests of the John Scott family. Dennis and Kenneth Scott were in service together in Germany. Dennis will be leaving for Vietnam, the first of April.

Bro. Ralph Curry and Mrs. Elizabeth Strong both entered Booth Hospital, Covington, last week. Bro. Curry was to be operated on last Thursday, and Mrs. Strong is taking tests for gall stones. We hope to see them both back in Verona soon.

Thomas Leek was confined to his home last week with something wrong with his back.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Orr visited with her brother, Ed Varner, Sunday afternoon, who is in St. Elizabeth Hospital. We hope for his early recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Winfred Swearingin and children were calling on Mrs. Allie Chandler, Sunday.

The Wyoma King Circle of New Bethel Baptist Church met March 21 at the home of Mrs. Theora Locke with eight members present, and two Sunbeams. The meeting was called to order by the leader, Mrs. Alice Smith. Those taking part were Alice Smith, Florence Edgington, Mrs. Lois Barker, Marian Searcy, Gwyn Dunn, Nora Brashear, Theora Locke, Mrs. Etta McManama. After the meeting, the hostess served refreshments of frozen salad, cookies, tea and coffee, which was enjoyed by all. The next meeting will be held on April 18 at the Alice Smith home at 1:30 p. m. Visitors are always welcome.

Who's Responsible For Civil Disorders?

By Gene Snyder, U. S. Congressman, Fourth District, Kentucky

The much publicized report of the President's Commission on Civil Disorders has one glaring weakness which may aggravate, rather than lessen the pressure for further violence and rioting. The report fails to even indicate the principal culprit responsible for inciting riots—overpromising people that easy and quick solutions may be found for every complex national problem.

The report places the blame for riots and violence on practically everyone except the principal culprits—the lawless who seize on any excuse to pillage and destroy and the politicians who, for political advantage, overpromise the disadvantaged.

This report follows the familiar pattern of holding out false hope that the problems of poverty, and prejudice will be quickly and easily solved by spending more money. In this aspect the report only increases the potential for disorder when those whose hopes have been raised for an easy and quick solution learn once again it was only a political gimmick to garner their votes.

There is no doubt the problems outlined in the report do exist. Few, if any, conscientious Americans needed a million-dollar study to find out this is true. But the solution is not a mass solution.

Our country is a nation of individuals and the problem is an individual one multiplied many times. The solution must be found in solving the problem for the individual, the man who is unemployed and uneducated and untrained.

Instead of seeking more billions to search for a mass solution that is unattainable, let us start to use the billions already appropriated to expand the workable programs, both public and private, to improve the education and vocational training to equip a man with basic education so that he may be turned over to industry equipped to take on a job and hold it.

Each man we train is one less on the rolls of the unemployed and the whole problem is solved when we multiply the equipping and training of the individual by a thousand, 5,000, and a million.

To continue the tragic political game of promising people their economic and social life will be improved without some individual desire and effort is to lead our country down the road to disaster.

One of the areas of agreement I find with the report is the statement of the failure of welfareism. However, I find it difficult to reconcile the admission that welfare programs have failed and then the broad hints that we should institute a broad program of guaranteed wages regardless of whether a person works. A guaranteed income is only an up to date designation of the dole and the dole has failed to help the poor wherever it has been tried.

The proof that just spending money will not solve the problem is shown in these figures on the amount of money which has been spent in helping the poor:

Fiscal year 1960, $8.5 billion.
Fiscal year 1963, $12.5 billion.
Fiscal year 1968, $24.6 billion.

Spring is a Miracle

Spring is so much more than just a season. It is a miracle, enacted against a backdrop of perfect days. It is the time of rebirth . . . of reaffirmation.

Spring is Christ's story, beautifully illustrated by nature. It is all the teachings of the Church, brought to reality, spread out gloriously for you to see. Nature, in her sweet, new loveliness, touches the world, touches you with the Christ-like spirit. If your vision has been dulled, she gives you the chance to see again more brightly than ever.

Palm Sunday is here again. Never before have the doors of the Church seemed to stand quite so open . . . so ready to receive you. Never has the lesson of everlasting life . . . Christ's lesson . . . been so poignant. There will be new richness in your life if you will trust in the Church. In your soul there can be eternal spring, and all the bleakness, questioning and doubt can be erased from your heart forever.

Letter To The Editor:

Editor
Walton Advertiser
Walton, Kentucky 41094

Dear Sir,
A recent letter to the editor, published in your newspaper stated that the Junior class of Walton-Verona high school should change the date of the Prom; because the date scheduled falls upon Good Friday. In reply to that letter, I would like to say first of all that I have nothing against Good Friday, but we must concede that Good Friday is not a legal holiday. It, as well as Easter, are not even recognized by some religions at all, plus the fact that our public schools are not operated under the beliefs of any particular religion. Church and state are separated in the United States, therefore religious institutions should not dictate dates for proms, ballgames, or any other school activities.

Furthermore, it would be highly unprofitable for the Junior class to reschedule the Prom. The band must be paid regardless if it plays or doesn't play, and I am sure that the Junior class could not afford many checks for $125.00.

Once again, I would like to say that I have as much respect for Good Friday as any one else, but I do feel that the public should be informed about both sides of a question. There are always two sides to every dispute, and I feel compelled to balance the scales. Thank you.

Sincerely yours,
Dwight E. Searcy

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—This April will be the first time since I got out of service that I will file an income tax return. I am receiving disability compensation and an educational assistance allowance. Must I report these payments on my income tax?

A—No. Compensation for a service connected disability and educational assistance allowance are tax exempt benefits. Other veteran benefits that are tax exempt and need not be reported are subsistence payments for vocational rehabilitation training, grants for "wheelchair" homes and automobile equipment for the severely disabled, payments to surviving dependents of deceased veterans, and compensation allowances for dependents of certain disabled veterans. Only interest earned on G. I. insurance dividends left on deposit with VA is reportable and taxable.

Study of Fires On 4-H Action Series

What would you do if you were lost in a strange country? Would you know how to signal for help? What would you do if you were alone? Would you know how to protect yourself from insect bites or how to build an emergency shelter?

Boone County 4-H TV Action Club members learned the answers to these and other questions about emergency living outdoors on the eighth Action program on April 6, on WKRC-TV. The past week, most of the members were taking part in class discussions and doing experiments and projects in school on this subject. This new kind of 4-H activity is part of school science studies for fourth, fifth and sixth grade students in the county.

The boys and girls learned that it is always best to let someone know where you are going before starting on a hike or trip, and if you get lost, stay put, don't wander around.

The angel wrote the epitaph in Gethsemane, "He is not here... He is risen, as He said... and go quickly and tell. Scripture references used, I Cor. 15:16-17, Matt. 28:6. RESOLUTION OF RESPECT

At the regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Verona Bank, held in its office in Verona, Kentucky, on the third day of April, 1968, there was a vacant seat occasioned by the death of our associate, Tom Carr, who had served as a member of our board for the past 22 years, giving his excellent ability and time wholeheartedly to the advancement and security of the bank. The members of the board are deeply grieved over the loss of such a stalwart, untiring and able associate. Now, therefore, in open session, by motion, the following resolutions were adopted:

BE IT RESOLVED, in the passing of Tom Carr, the Verona Bank has lost a valuable executive, one whose place will be hard to fill; that Boone County has lost one of its most upright, honorable and valuable citizen; that his family has lost a kind and affectionate father.

Be it further resolved that a copy of this resolution be printed in the Walton Advertiser, a copy sent to the bereaved family, and a copy be spread upon the minutes of the Verona Bank.

STAFFORDSBURG HOMEMAKERS MEET
 The Homemakers club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Shaw, April 2, with the president, Mrs. Damico, presiding.
 The meeting opened with the usual salute to the flag, followed by the reading of the minutes and roll call. Following this, Mrs. Rich acting secretary, read a poem, "She Was A Friend," by L. McDonald, in tribute to Mrs. Gertrude Cook, a valued member of the club, who passed away since the March meeting.
 Mrs. Damico gave hints on buying and caring for fabrics, stressing the importance of reading and following instructions printed on the label. Announcement was made of a meeting on Family Life at the "V" on April 10. Devotion was given by Mrs. Elam, Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Keeney. Text Luke 16:10-13 and Proverbs 28:20, and theme, "Let's leave the world a little better for our having lived." A few songs were sung with Miss Carol Shaw as accompanist. Carol has such a nice new organ which she got for a Christmas gift.

 The delicious luncheon served by Mrs. Shaw and Carol was enjoyed by the following members and a guest, Mrs. Don Riddell, from Oak Island Club, Mesdames V. Damico, B. Rich, L. Rapp, a guest, Mrs. L. Deuser, C. Hill, J. Ware, F. Elam, H. Nitschke, L. Wayman, Perkins, W. Riley, R. Payne, L. Faulkner, F. Keeney, and the Shaw family.

 Following the noon hour, Mrs. Faulkner and Mrs. Shaw gave pointers and passed out leaflets on rose culture. Mrs. Riddell presented the lesson on making bread—making it sound so inviting, it made us hungry for some good homemade bread.
 Our next meeting will be at the Staffordsborg church, May 7 with Mrs. E. Stein as hostess. Our friends are invited to the white elephant sale which is an annual spring event, which causes much merriment. Some rare species of elephants are for sale.—Reporter

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
International Union Sunday School Lessons
BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

VIVIT! VIVIT!
Lesson for April 14, 1968

Background Scriptures: John 20 and 21.
Devotional Readings: 1 Corinthians 15:51-58.

When accumulating troubles seemed to rise up on all sides, Martin Luther was once seen to write with his finger in the dust of a table-top: VIVIT! VIVIT! —"He lives! He lives!"

Just as Luther found strength in that thought in the midst of his troubles, so may we. Let our troubles be enumerated before us and we can reply in litany-like fashion:

Though life seems ready to overwhelm me,
He lives! He lives!
Though friends prove fickle and disloyal,
He lives! He lives!
Though defeat stares me in the face,
He lives! He lives!

A fact for me

There is no trial, no temptation, no problem, no danger, no defeat, no pain, no sin so great that it can stand in defiance before that overpowering reality: He lives!

The resurrection of Jesus stands, not as a happy ending for a gripping story, but as a fact that uproots and changes everything with which it comes into contact. German theologian Helmut Thielicke testifies: "At a single stroke it has altered my own life. For Jesus Christ is a living Lord with whom I may be linked at any moment, who now speaks to me and to whom I may speak..."

The Hallelujah Chorus from Handel's Messiah is dramatic and stirring music, but for the person who has experienced the reality of He lives! in his own heart and life, even that grand music seems a vast understatement. The experience exceeds our means to express it.

Beyond an empty tomb

Why is this all so important for me? Consider what might have resulted if Jesus had not been raised from the tomb; the disciples probably would have disbanded and gone home with broken hearts. The story of Jesus' death would be little more than the saga of one more martyr who lived, died, and is no more. Paul and others like him would hardly have risked their lives to carry the Good News throughout the Mediterranean world. There would likely be no Church of Jesus Christ and your local congregation would not exist. All of these are highly dependent upon one fact: He lives!

Yet, how did they come to this conclusion? To be sure, they found an empty tomb, but that was hardly conclusive. It merely gave them, perhaps, a ray of hope. Then too, there was the excited testimony of Mary Magdalene. She claimed to have spoken with the Master at the garden tomb. But there was a third reason and it was this that made all the difference: "... Jesus came and stood among them and said to them, 'Peace be with you'." (John 20:21).

To a living Lord

The body of Jesus might have been stolen from the tomb. Mary Magdalene may have been the victim of a hallucination. Now, however, they themselves were seeing him, experiencing his risen presence, communing with him, and receiving the inspiration and strength that only he could give.

Socrates was a great teacher who also died a martyr's death, yet who today seeks his presence in times of crisis and need? Gandhi was one of the finest men to have lived, yet who calls upon him in the event of sorrow or tragedy? These men are dead, gone from us.

The essence of Christianity, however, is not just that Jesus' great teachings still instruct us, or that his humble life inspires us, or that his brave demeanor in facing death is still a model for our own. These are all true, but the heart of the Good News is found in the fact that we are convinced that Jesus himself survived the ordeal of death, indeed conquered both death and sin, was found to be alive... and still is present as our living Lord today.

HALLELUJAH

Eddie was the smallest one in the choir today. He stood at the end of the front row, stretched tall as he could, and sang with his whole heart.

I looked up at his round freckled boy-face and wondered what he was thinking as the Easter anthem rose in crescendo and blessed the April air. Were his thoughts on chocolate bunnies and rainbow-colored eggs, or on the stirring story he was singing—"He is not here, but is risen?"

Of one thing I am certain, when he is grown and thinks of Eastertime back home, it won't be the candy eggs and Easter baskets he'll remember; but the smell of lilies at the chancel rail, the joy of joining his voice to a Hallelujah chorus.

Give your child a lifetime gift. Celebrate special Sundays and every Sunday by going to your church and taking him with you.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter

J. B. Losey, Mr. and Mrs. Don Keeney, Clayton and Stephen, and Mrs. Francis Keeney spent the weekend visiting Rev. and Mrs. S. B. Rucker of Ashland, Ky. We enjoyed our trip very much, because the Ruckers seemed so happy. They have a lovely home and almost remind one of newlyweds. They are enjoying a class in ceramics and had some elegant samples of their work. The pastor of the church which we attended was Rev. Edward Tullis, whom we had known as a boy. We enjoyed hearing him and meet his wife.

Mrs. Mayo Smith, following a visit to her son, Rev. Mayo Smith, in Philadelphia, visited with Mr. and Mrs. John Shaw and Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Gabbard before returning to her home in Crestwood. She attended services at the Morning View Methodist Church, Sunday, where Mr. Gabbard is pastor.

A revival group, formed following the Lay Witness Mission, met at the Ronald Losey home last week, and this week at the Geo. Finnell, Jr. home. On April 18 it is scheduled at the J. Snowden home. We believe this can prove of benefit first to those attending and thus to the church community.

We were sorry to hear that Mrs. Emil Stein was not so well recently and sincerely hope she is feeling much better.

I spent Friday with Mrs. C. Carpenter and Kevin. I enjoyed seeing their beautiful new home, seeing Kevin much improved, and all the good conversation. It was a wonderfully pleasant day.

Little Paul Pohlman was home this week with the mumps.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Adams had a letter this week from Mrs. Thelma Miller, saying that her mother, Mrs. Ida Keeney, suffered a fall recently. No bones were broken but multiple bruises necessitated a stay of a few days in the hospital. By the way, Mrs. Keeney's birthday is June 1 and her address, 414 Johnson Dr., McGregor, Texas 76657. She loves cards.

Starblazers Hold Meeting

The fifth grade 4-H Club at Piner School put on a play called "Alice In the Looking Glass Land." We invited Mrs. Bailey's and Mrs. Stevenson's fourth grade classes to watch the play. We asked them because they will be in 4-H next year.

President Lynn Duncan asked Cindy Northcutt, Gail Darison and Terry Drysdale to lead us in some songs. Then she asked Debbie Wolfe to call the roll. We had to name a flower when she called our names. We sang more songs while the actors put on their costumes. We invited Miss Tatum and Mr. Morgan to have refreshments. We are looking forward to our Achievement Day in May.—Reporter

SOUTHERN

INNOVATIONS THAT SQUEEZE THE WASTE OUT OF DISTRIBUTION

SOUTHERN RAILWAY SYSTEM, WASHINGTON, D. C.

How fast can we locate a car on our 10,400-mile railroad?

Would you believe 2 seconds?

Let's say you're a Southern Railway customer who wants to know the whereabouts of your freight. So you can gear production schedules to rail delivery of raw materials, or reduce warehousing and handling costs through close coordination of en route shipments.

Through our Direct Inquiry Service—which employs the largest centralized computer complex in the railroad industry—you simply contact our computer and give it the identification number of the car carrying your freight. In less than two seconds, the computer will start printing your reply, giving you all the information needed to pinpoint the location of the car on our System.

This service is available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week and is answering customer queries on some 12,000 cars a day. It is one of a host of Southern Railway innovations benefiting shippers and consumers by squeezing the waste out of distribution.

Innovations and improvements that enable us to squeeze the waste out of distribution benefit all who live in the Southern-served South. By reducing the total cost of transportation they help combat today's trend of steadily rising consumer prices. They attract new industries into the South and help industries already located along our lines to grow and expand, providing more and better hometown job opportunities. All of us benefit!

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—I am 61 years of age. May I convert my National Service Life Insurance term policy to the Modified Life Plan? What would the new premium be?

A—it is not possible to convert to the Modified Life Plan after age 60.

Q—I served in the Army from 1956 to 1959. Am I eligible for any GI Bill benefits, particularly a business loan?

—You are eligible for many benefits, from education and training to home and farm home loans, under the "Veterans Readjustment Benefits Act of 1966," popularly known as the Post-Korean G. I. Bill. However, this Act, which covers veterans who served in our Armed Forces after Jan. 31, 1955, does not include business loans for veterans among the benefits it provides. The Small Business Administration, though, may make business loans to veterans. Check with your nearest U. S. Veterans Assistance Center or VA office for information and assistance on all your veteran benefits.

A representative from a pickle company will also be present, according to William T. Straw, Area Extension Agent in Horticulture.

A STITCH IN TIME—

By Linda Tatum
Area Extension Agent

Every family has at least one favorite bread recipe that has been handed down from generation to generation. This is especially true about Easter holiday breads. A traditional one is Hot Cross Buns.

Although Hot Cross Buns are associated with Christianity, they actually are filled with pagan symbolism. The cross represents the four quarters of the moon. The buns were also sacred to the gods of the ancient Aztecs and Incas; both the Egyptians and Saxons offered them as sacrifice to their goddesses, believing that the cross had magic powers in preventing sickness and insuring good baking throughout the year. The English adopted Hot Cross Buns for Good Friday in the early days of the Christian Church.

In old Russia, the Orthodox Easter Sunday was celebrated with a great feast, featuring Kulich and Paska—a molded cheese dish: Kulich is so delicate that homemakers put pillows around the pan in which it was rising so that it would not fall. Husbands with heavy boots and children were kept out of the kitchen until it was safely out of the oven. The letter XV, initials meaning "Christ Is Risen," were shaped in the top of the cake.

Babka, a Polish Easter bread, derives its name from the word meaning old woman, because the cake, which is tall and wide, looks like an old woman with wide skirts. It is also served in Czechoslovakia where young girls put love messages on Easter eggs and present them with Babka to their boy friends.

Why not serve a different bread than usual to your family Easter?

For the recipes to these delicious Easter breads, contact the Boone County Extension Office in Burlington.

DAIRYMEN—BOOK YOUR DAIRY FEED NEEDS

Now through April 15, we can book your dairy feed needs for the next 90 days. We have a special price on complete, pelleted 16% Purina Milking Rations, Purina Sweet Brew 24%, Purina Golden Bulky, and Purina Dairy Concentrates. Stop by and let us book your needs. With the International situation the way it is, corn prices and supplement prices could advance. Let us give you a 90-day protection price on all your dairy feed needs.

GET YOUR DAIRY CATTLE DUST NOW

Be ready for the fly season! We have a new shipment of Purina Dairy Cattle Dust in... the largest selling fly control dust today. Just rub Purina Cattle-Dust in and rub out horn flies... that's how easy it is to keep horn flies from biting your cows and your milk checks. At our store you can get the effective, season-long way to control flies. It contains methoxychlor... the preferred insecticide for horn fly control on dairy cattle. So, for the easy, economical, sure way to eliminate costly "milk production slumps" (that could cost you dollars per cow) caused by horn fly attacks, just stop by our store and pick up handy sprinkle can or economical 5-lb. bag of Purina Cattle-Dust. Meets all milk order requirements.

FEEDING ON SPRING PASTURE FOR PROFIT

Lush spring pasture sure looks good to a dairyman... and even better to his cows. But spring grass is about 85% water. Fill a cow up with grass and she's only 15% full of solid milk and body-building nutrients. That's why we recommend feeding a well fortified Purina ration like Checkerboard Dairy 16% or Purina Golden Bulky or Purina Sweet Brew 24% with Purina Dairy Supplement and corn. A recent university test showed that cows fed on pasture produced 1,751 pounds more milk per cow than the grass-only group. At 5c per pound for milk this was $87.55 more income... less $31.50 for feed... equals $56.05 MORE PROFIT. If you were milking 30 cows this would amount to $1,681.50 more PROFIT. Come in... let's talk about a Purina Dairy Ration for your cows on pasture this summer.

Final 4-H Action Series, Saturday

"Fire!" Panic and disaster can follow such a cry unless someone knows the right thing to do.

After watching the 4-H TV Action program, last Saturday, Boone County boys and girls now know ways to save lives and property in case of fire. They learned methods of fire prevention, ways to prepare for a fire, steps to follow when a fire is discovered, how to escape from a burning building, and how to treat burns. They also learned the three classes of fires...wood, cloth or hay burning; fires which involve materials such as grease and gasoline, and electrical fires.

The tenth and final program in this series may be seen on WKRC-TV, Saturday, April 20, at 9:00 a. m. The subject of this program will be, "The Temperature's Rising," and will concern ways to prepare for very hot weather.

The steeple atop the new sanctuary of First Baptist Church, Walton, was mounted last Thursday afternoon.

The fifty-foot structure is made of aluminum and is topped by a four-foot cross. A window graces each side. Flood lights will illuminate it at night.

Campbellsville Industries, a division of Campbellsville College, manufactured the steeple, and their workmen were many hours securing it in place. A huge crane lifted the spire into place as a large audience gathered to watch. This is now one of the tallest structures in Walton.

Completion date for this new sanctuary is expected early in July—at least this is the hope of the local congregation.

Want Action On Big Bone Park

Members of the Big Bone Park Development committee of the Covington-Kenton-Boone Chamber of Commerce said last Friday they would proceed at once to ask Gov. Louie B. Nunn to start development of the park as outlined in an already prepared master plan.

Park commissioner E. R. Gable earlier this year told Chamber of Commerce officials that the state was prepared to move ahead with development of the park in accordance with the master plan. The state has $14.8-million to spend in developing the park.

Last Friday the committee, headed by Wallace M. Lucas, decided it was to proceed under the terms of the master plan. A lodge is not included in the plan. The feeling of the committee is that this phase can be accomplished under private enterprise.

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter

The April meeting of the WSCS was held April 9 at the home of Mrs. Frances Keeney. Mrs. John Shaw was in charge of the program, assisted by Mrs. F. Phillips and Mrs. R. Cooper. The subject was the work with the Navajo Indians. These native Americans have not been given a fair deal, but with schools, hospitals and vocational training, there is the hope for a better standard of living. As usual, most everyone present, took part in the discussions. The devotion was given by F. Keeney, the subject, Preparation for the Resurrection. Here was stressed that the mystery of life and death and the thinness of the veil of separation between them must be realized before we can really appreciate the meaning of the resurrection for each one of us and it must be a personal experience. The election of officers resulted in only one change, that of naming Mrs. R. Losey as secretary for the coming year. Among others attending were: Miss Helen Richardson, Mrs. D. Parsons, Mrs. D. Keeney, Mrs. C. Faulkner, Mrs. D. Ballinger, Mrs. C. Losey, Mrs. G. Fennell and Rev. F. Phillips. May meeting will be at the home of Miss Helen Richardson.

Friendly cooperation was enjoyed by all. The message of the season for all ages, He Lives, He Lives, Christ Jesus Lives Today!

Now is a mighty good time to topdress your pastures. Spring applications take advantage of ideal growing conditions—the moisture and temperature of the approaching spring. These early applications also let you get the job done ahead of spring plowing, etc.

Since there are big differences between one field and another a soil test is an excellent guide to the kind of fertilizer you need to use. The type of plants you grow also helps to determine your fertilizer needs. For instance, if your stand is nearly all grass and you are not renovating, you should use a nitrogen fertilizer. If the stand is 25 percent or more legumes with grass, nitrogen is not needed.

When a soil test is not taken, it is usually assumed that phosphorus and potassium are in the low range. Pasture with little or no legumes should be treated with about 500-600 pounds of a 10-10-10 equivalent. Pastures with 25 percent or more legumes should be treated with 300-400 pounds of a 0-20-20 fertilizer. If you plan for or want the clover to make seed, use 300-400 pounds of 0-20-20-B.

Proper fertilization of your pasture is the cheapest way to buy feed for your livestock.

A new practice is being offered by the Boone County ASCS. This is a walnut tree management practice. Practically every tract of land in the county has a number of walnut trees that could be improved by following proven practices. Since walnut trees, especially good trees are becoming scarce, this new practice should become very popular.

The practice is divided into two parts—release and pruning. The purpose of releasing is to increase the rate of growth. Research has shown where competition is removed, the rate of

A CLEAN-UP QUIZ—

Clean-Up Week is coming up, and the local Fire Department asked us to print the following question and answer item.

Closets, attics and basements should be used to store: 1, Only necessary things, neatly arranged and kept away from the furnace, hot pipes and other sources of heat; 2, Old papers, rags, boxes, clothing, curtains, mattresses and other junk; 3, Things to be thrown away when someone gets around to it.

Litter is as unsightly and as unwanted inside the house as it is on the lawn or on the highway. It is best to: 1, Pile litter in a dark corner of the basement, where it won't be seen; 2, Burn litter in an open metal barrel in the back yard; 3, Gather litter in metal rubbish cans, with covers, and have it burned in an approved incinerator or carted away.

Electrical appliances and wiring should be checked as part of any clean-up effort and: 1, Frayed wires put under the rug where they won't be noticed; 2, All frayed wires and loose connections repaired or replaced at once; 3, Electrical items used as long as they work, even if sparks fly when they are plugged in or turned on.

Ash trays should be large and deep enough to keep burning cigarettes from falling out. Ash trays should be emptied into: 1, A wastebasket; 2, A large paper bag, and the bag put into the trash can; 3, Only a metal container which has a tight cover.

growth can increase 50 percent. Most of our walnut trees must compete with other less valuable trees for sunlight, moisture, nutrients and space. By deadening this competition the walnut trees will respond by increased growth rate.

The second part of this practice is pruning. While the releasing increases growth, pruning improves the log quality. Limbs up to three inches in diameter can be removed. This size of scar will heal quickly, and new growth will be free of knots.

The cost of sharing rates are 80 percent of the cost, not to exceed 50 cents per tree for releasing, and from 15 to 60 cents per tree for pruning, based on height of pruning. The Kentucky Division of Forestry is responsible for the certification of performance for this practice. Where 50 or more trees are to be included, prior approval from the service forester will be necessary. The practice is being tried in four counties: Campbell, Boone, Gallatin and Grant. Hopefully, several farmers from each county will carry out the practice this year. Those interested should call and sign up at the ASCS office.

Newspapers, magazines & other paper are fuel for fire. Store newspapers: 1, For several months until a local organization has its annual paper collection; 2, The least possible time—just until the family has read them and perhaps clipped any items they want to save; 3, Practically forever, because the papers may have historical value in years to come.

Use great care to stay well away from the fire when rubbish is being burned in an incinerator or other outdoor fire, because: 1, Burning trash often has a smell you won't like; 2, A gust of wind could suddenly blow the flames in your direction and your clothing could catch fire; 3, You might get freckles from the fire's heat.

Paints and other painting materials, gasoline and benzine are among common liquids which catch fire and burn easily. Keep these flammable liquids in: 1, Metal containers, with tight-fitting lids; 2, Glass jars, so you can see the colors of the paints; 3, Any kind of glass, plastic or metal container, just so it's marked "Danger!" on the outside.

... ANSWERS ...

C-1, Clean out attics, basements and closets at least four times a year, and dispose of ordinary trash at least once a week.

L-3, If your family burns its own rubbish, be sure to follow any local regulations regarding use of home incinerators and their location.

E-2, It pays to be cautious about defective electrical items, because their misuse is the second greatest cause of building fires.

A-3, Be sure every last cigarette butt and ash is cold before you dump it out. Smoking and matches are the leading cause of fires in buildings.

N-2, Let the library take care of the historical material in newspapers. When stored at home, they only provide an easy breeding place for fire.

U-2, Never turn your back on an outdoor trash fire, and don't leave it until you are sure it's entirely out.

P-1, Store flammable liquids in a cool place, outside the house if possible, and keep them in small quantities only.

Problems of Peace

By Gene Snyder, U. S. Congressman, Fourth District, Kentucky

Looking at some of the problems of the much-sought peace settlement in Vietnam, the results indicate a bleak patch that makes the task look more like a matter of years than months or a few weeks.

There are no front lines—and the question of who would be left in control of what areas would have to be worked out for hundreds of villages. North Vietnamese troops would have to go back where they came from. But how rapidly would Hanoi agree to order them home when it has never even admitted they have gone in to South Vietnam.

The southerners of the Viet Cong would have to turn in their guns. But how could the South Vietnamese Government make most Red guns wouldn't be secretly cached away? And how could the Red guerrillas feel safe in surrendering their arms, unless their own National Liberation Front had been given a role in a coalition Government, perhaps after new elections in which they participated? How could the U. S. induce the present South Vietnamese Government to go for that—since Saigon violently objects? Even if they change their minds, how could they get the Reds in without wrecking their new constitution?

The problems also involve the one primary negotiating interest of the Reds—to nail down the withdrawal of American troops, which the U. S. long ago promised would occur "not later than six months after" North Vietnam "withdraws its forces to the north, ceases infiltration and the level of violence thus subsides." Who would certify that the North Vietnamese had really left? Who would guarantee to the Reds that the U. S. would keep its pledge? Who would measure the violence and set the date at which it had subsided?

All these questions indicate that "any final settlement would require an international control force—a new and different body from the one that has not notably failed to police the old Geneva accords." This would mean broadening negotiations to include other world powers, thus complicating them even more. The problem of Communist intrusion into Cambodia and Laos would call for settlement along with Vietnam.

One Federal official summed it up: "We're taking a step or two, but it's a long stairway." Escalating took six years, and with the hardening of positions, the need for Asian facesaving, and the lack of any form to the field of strife, deescalation in a hurry is highly improbable.

It required two years and a lot of U. S. casualties in Korea to get a ceasefire. U. S. forces must still appear to be winning for our negotiators to press their terms on the enemy during negotiations.

It is questionable whether we are likewise gaining in wisdom. For example, what good is it to reach the moon if we still have not learned how to get along with each other? And what good is this space program if we are not on this plane? We speak of various technological "gaps." Perhaps we need to be more concerned about the gap that exists between knowledge and wisdom. We have the knowledge to blow-up the planet today, but do we have the wisdom to use our knowledge constructively and prevent our own self-destruction? The Bible is admittedly an old book, but it is the only book that would deny the timeliness of this observation from across the centuries? "Happy is the man who finds wisdom, and the man who gets understanding, for the gain will be his and his profit be great" (Proverbs 3:13, 14 RSV).

A New Church Born April 23

On Tuesday morning, April 23, in Dallas, Texas, The Methodist Church and the Evangelical United Brethren joined forces to become The United Methodist Church.

This action has been in the planning stage for some ten years and more than four years have been spent in the actual writing of the Plan of Union.

With this merger, the new congregation forms the second largest American body with a membership of over 11,035,000.

Members of the General Conferences of both churches met in Dallas on Sunday in their last separate identities as such. Representatives from around the world attended the colorful assembly.

Both congregations were pioneer movements in the American settlement and have paralleled in courses for about 175 years. They share a common heritage that traced in part to the close friendship between two early leaders—Methodist Bishop Francis Asbury and United Brethren Bishop Philip William Otterbein.

The total ordained ministers will be 33,000, serving more than 42,000 churches. The value of local and district property will exceed $5 billion.

There are many small details yet to be dissolved, but none is expected to hinder the growth of the new congregation.

4-H TV Action Series Completed

An overdose of sun on a hot summer day can make a person very ill. Members of the 4-H TV Action Club learned last Saturday how to protect themselves in very hot weather and how to treat a person who is suffering from heat exhaustion.

Boone County boys and girls who are members of this club watched the final program in the series on April 20, on WKRC-TV. The ten programs concerned different kinds of emergencies, what causes them, and how to prepare for them, according to Linda Tatum, Area Extension Agent.

In the tenth program, "The Temperature Is Rising," the members learned about heat energy, the sun as the earth's major source of heat, the importance of heat to life, and the dangers of too much heat.

They were told that in very hot weather, one should stay out of the sun during the hottest part of the day, protect the body from the sun's rays, and wear light colored clothing. They also learned that one should never drink a lot of very cold water when overheated and that taking salt tablets or putting salt in drinking water is helpful in hot weather.

Subjects of the nine earlier programs were preparing for emergencies, fires, floods, earthquakes, tornadoes, very cold weather, atomic explosions, and emergency living at home and outdoors.

Kiwanians To Sponsor Girl Scout "Happening"

Music will be provided by "The Merry and the Happy New," a groovy group with a way-out sound. There will be dancing, skits, a style show, art and camping exhibits and a swinging country store called the "Flower Power."

The event is being sponsored for the Girl Scouts by the Covington, Latonia, Erlanger and Campbell County Kiwanis clubs.

Tickets will be available at the door at 5:00 p. m.

Mrs. Charles Voorhees of Independence, will be in charge of the art exhibit.

JET SET 4-H CLUB

One of the important 4-H events coming up is the Variety Show on May 3; also scheduled for May is Rally Day, and the Style Show.

During the April meeting at the home of Melony Curry, the Jet Set 4-H Club discussed and planned for these events:

First, the meeting was called to order and pledges said. Roll was answered by giving a word pertaining to Easter. Dues were collected and the officers' reports given. Discussions concerning the aforementioned events followed. Four members plan to give demonstrations at Rally Day. Seven attended the demonstration and speech training at the courthouse. Most of the girls are participating in the style show and we are planning an act for the variety show. A community project being planned by our club is the collection of good, used articles for the needy.

The meeting was adjourned and refreshments served. May 14 at 7:00 p. m., is the date for the next meeting.—Reporter

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Porter spent Easter Sunday with their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Ferguson and girls of Dry Ridge.

Mrs. Alice Smith was calling on Floannie Edgington, Monday afternoon.

We were sorry to hear of Mrs. Marian Searcy, wife of Bro. Lewis Searcy, and two children being in an auto accident last Wednesday afternoon. She lost control of her car and hit a post. She is in Booth Hospital in a serious condition from a spleen operation. We wish her a quick recovery.

Mrs. Mable Readnour spent a few days recently with her son, Harry Readnour, and wife.

Mrs. Ruby Edwards spent last week in London, with her mother, who was quite ill. We hope for early recovery.

The Wyona King Circle met on April 18 at the home of Mrs. Alice Smith with six members present: Gwynn Dunn, Rose Hamilton, Floannie Edgington, Adeline Reed, Thora Locke, Nella Webster and Alice Smith. After the meeting adjourned, the hostess served refreshments of Jello, cake and coffee, which was enjoyed by all. The May meeting will be at the home of Gwynn Dunn. We hope there can be more present for the next meeting.

NUMBER-ONE PARK STATE—A program of continuing modernization and expansion of State Park facilities is keeping Kentucky the nation's number one park state, according to Parks Commissioner Robert E. Gable. The State operates 35 separate parks and shrines, 12 of which designated by circles on the map, are complete family vacation centers offering full resort facilities. Three new resort parks are in stages of development (shown in rectangles). To be completed and operational in the near future are Lake Barkley and Barren River State Parks. Development plans for Resort park facilities at Greenbo Lake State Park are continuing.

A STITCH IN TIME—

By Linda Tatum
Area Extension Agent
It's spring cleaning time again! Time to clean all of the furniture, starting with upholstered pieces.
You can send upholstered pieces to a commercial cleaner for shampooing or dry cleaning, but why not do it yourself? When doing the job yourself, do not let the fabric get wet. Otherwise, the color in the lining or padding may run and stain the upholstered fabric. You can shampoo flat fabrics such as tapestry, frieze, rug, but not pile fabrics such as velvet or velour.
First clean upholstery thoroughly with the vacuum cleaner. Try to identify the cause of the stain and remove according to directions. Don't rub or brush spot any more than can be helped. Begin at outer edge and work toward the center of the stained area.

If you use a chemical to clean the article, test it on a place where it won't be noticed. Make sure it will not affect the color or otherwise damage the furniture.
If you use a detergent solution, test it in the same way. With a soft brush, scrub a small area and rinse well with a sponge wrung dry out of clean, warm water. Caution: Be careful not to let the water soak through the cloth to the stuffing. Change rinse water as soon as it becomes soiled. Proceed until the entire surface is cleaned. Dry quickly with an electric fan or vacuum cleaner blower, and don't use until completely dry.
If any greasy spots remain, use a dry cleaning fluid to remove them. Use non-toxic, non-flammable type, if possible. Follow directions and safety precautions on the label. Apply lightly, moistening only the pile. If the rest of the upholstery is clean, the fluid probably won't leave a ring.

Check the label of a commercial upholstery shampoo before you buy it. Compounds that you can use for cleaning fabrics over foam rubber include soaps, synthetic detergents, glycerine and denatured alcohol.
Get the help of a skilled professional cleaner for stains you cannot remove. Remember, removal is effective only if the cleaner doesn't injure the fabric.

THE CLOSED MIND

Lesson for April 28, 1968

Background Scriptures: Proverbs 1 through 3.
Devotional Reading: Proverbs 2:6-11.

For most of us the greatest barrier to wisdom is our refusal to acknowledge that we have something further to learn. In his Markings, Dag Hammarskjöld once observed: "What! He is now going to try to teach me! — Why not? There is nobody from whom you cannot learn. Before God, who speaks through all men, you are always in the bottom class of the greatest school."

Rev. Althouse

A learned ignorance

This is hardly a new discovery. Socrates, the great Greek philosopher who lived before the time of Christ, once said: "As for me, all I know is that I know nothing." Coming from a man who is still remembered for his great knowledge and wisdom, this sounds like a strange statement. Yet, his conclusion is quite in harmony with the findings of all the greatest thinkers.

Spurgeon, the famous preacher, once said something quite akin to this: "The doorway to the temple of wisdom is a knowledge of our own ignorance." He had discovered that the more we learn and the more we understand, the more that we find our learning and understanding are inadequate. Only when we are willing to admit our limitations, can we pass on to the greater wisdom.

It is this failure to acknowledge his own ignorance that so often keeps man in the darkness. We find this same line of thought in the Old Testament Book of Proverbs. "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of knowledge" (Proverbs 1:7 RSV). Of course, when the sage speaks of "fear of the Lord," he refers not to fright, but to reverence. If we revere God, if we approach him, not as an equal but as one whose knowledge is so far beyond our own, we will be able to receive the gift of wisdom he would give us.

Hard-headed wisdom

The wisdom and knowledge of which the sages wrote in Proverbs must not be mistaken for intellectual brilliance, theoretical learning, or the possession of sheer facts. The Hebrew was not interested in ideas as such, especially not abstract knowledge. What he sought was that which he needed to know in order to live successfully day by day. This wisdom had to be practical and useful.

The source of this hard-headed wisdom to live one's daily life, then, was reverence for God. He was not expected to be dependent upon his intellect alone. The key was his willingness to accept God's guidance. The man who cannot acknowledge his need for guidance will be too proud, too self-satisfied to accept God's direction. Thus, humility is of even greater importance than cerebral brilliance. "Be not wise in your own eyes; fear the Lord, and turn away from evil" (Proverbs 3:7 RSV).

Unfortunately, few of us who read these words from Proverbs will feel that they apply to us. We are certainly not too satisfied with our own wisdom and knowledge! We are certainly not closed to what God would teach us! Are we really sure of that? Really?

All wrong, but...

Many years ago there was a stubborn old Scottish elder who vigorously opposed the union of the Scottish Presbyterian Church with the Church of Scotland. Finally, however, the majority vote prevailed and the union was approved. The man was heard to mutter to himself: "It's all wrong, I tell ya. It's all wrong. But evidently it is the will of God." Often it is hard to let go of what we "know" in order to accept the truth of God.

Isn't it quite possible that our minds too are tightly closed against God's truth, that we reject his wisdom for the simple reason that our own understanding fits in better with the kind of lives we want to live and attitudes we want to hold? Might it not be that when we claim we are merely standing upon our convictions, what we are really doing is sitting on the lid of a closed mind?

A Bird in Hand

The hands are gentle and deft... the bird-banding process painless and quick. Soon the bird will fly off, safe and unharmed, unaware that it has become another link in the chain of research concerning the migratory habits of birds.

Our feathered friend has no interest in the fact that his experience ultimately will help chart the flight lines of all migrant birds. With heart beating wildly in its soft, downy throat, it longs only to be free.

Sometimes people are like that bird. Caught in circumstances beyond our control, we fail and thrash about. Fear and doubt overwhelm us and we fail to realize and acknowledge the loving arm of God that is present and sustaining in every situation.

Place your faith and trust in God and His Church. In times of need, strength and help are yours for the asking.

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter

Mrs. Goldie Swinford visited for a few days with Mr. and Mrs. John Shaw the past week. She came to church with them Sunday evening and we were all glad to see her.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Rapp entertained on Easter with a dinner for the L. J. Rapp family.

It does one good to see a genuinely happy and thankful person. That was just now my experience when John Wolke, recently home from Vietnam, stopped to say, "hello!"

We were very glad at the regular worship service Easter morning to receive into the membership of the church here some 11 young people. It is a joy to see young people make the start of a christian life. We are reminded in Ecclesiastes 12:1, "Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth, while the evil days come not, nor the years draw nigh when thou shalt say, I have no pleasure in them." My understanding of this text is that if we live as christians, we will not find the evening of life to be frustration and regrets.

Mr. and Mrs. Carsee Brinkley had as guests on the Easter weekend, Mr. and Mrs. Lathan Brinkley and daughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Losey, J.

B. Losey and I visited with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gilligan of Batavia, Ohio, Tuesday of this week. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Giles and Miss Helen Richardson spent the past week in Florida.

A group from here went to the Rocknoll Nursery, Morrow, Ohio, Wednesday to purchase some plants—mostly flowers.

The men of the church here served a delicious breakfast Easter morning, following the early service.

We congratulate Miss Mary Stephens on winning the spelling contest at W-V and hope she can go on to Washington.

CARD OF THANKS . . .

Just a word of thanks and appreciation to all my friends, relatives and neighbors for all the kindness and thoughtful deeds to help out during my stay in the hospital and since returning home. Also for the cards, flowers and prayers. May God bless one and all.

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—I understand that the veteran pension law President Johnson signed recently raised the amount of income a veteran may receive and still be entitled to a pension from the Veterans Administration. How much was the limit increased and when does it take effect?

A—Effective Jan. 1, 1969, income limitations, which govern financial eligibility for VA pensions and dependency benefits, will be raised $200 for all beneficiaries. This increase is particularly important to "old law" pensioners since it will mean that the recent Social Security income hike will cause no loss in VA payments.

Q—How will the $100 increments in the new Veterans Administration pension structure, which goes into effect next January, affect pension rates?

A—Basically, the $100 increments in the new VA pension structure will mean that maximum VA pension and dependency and indemnity compensation benefits will go to veterans, widows and parents with the lowest income. For example, under current law, the monthly VA pension for a veteran with one dependent and an annual income of $1.00 to $1,000 is $109. However, the re-structured pension program will provide payments ranging from $120 a month for an income of $500 or less to $109 a month for an annual income of $900 to $1,000. And VA monthly pension benefits will be reduced an average of only $3 or $4 for each $100 increase in income up to the new ceilings.

REBEL RIDERS MEET

The monthly meeting of the Boone County 4-H Rebel Riders was held at the home of Chris England. There were 11 members present. Bill Gohl went over the rules for the 4-H Horse Shows. The Rebel Riders are putting on a bake sale at Albers. June 1-2 is the 4-H Pony Clinic at Boone County Fairgrounds. All Boone County 4-H'ers are welcome.

Next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Diemar on May 16.—Reporter Deciduous (broad leaf) trees, like other plants, usually perform better if fertilized periodically. Tree appearance, resistance to certain insects and disease-causing organisms, and general vigor can be partly maintained by proper fertilization.

Type of fertilizer, and the time, rate and methods of application are important. Fertilizers containing 10-to-15 percent nitrogen and lesser amounts of phosphorus and potassium are recommended. Combinations such as 10-6-4, 12-4-4, 14-7-7 and 15-5-5 are satisfactory.

Spring and autumn are the best times to fertilize trees. Spring applications should be made from March through May. Frequency of fertilization depends primarily upon amount of growth desired. Young trees can be fertilized annually. Large specimens may be fertilized once every three years.

One to two pounds of fertilizer should be applied for each inch of trunk diameter for trees less than six inches in diameter. Larger trees should receive two to four pounds of fertilizer per inch.

If fertilizer materials are to be effective, one must place them close to the tree roots. Broadcasting fertilizer over the soil surface, even if it is worked into the top few inches of soil, is of little value to the tree.

To apply fertilizer in holes drilled around the tree is an excellent method. Holes 12 to 18 inches deep and about 12 to 24 inches apart should be made under the tree canopy. A punch bar or auger is satisfactory for drilling the holes. Fertilizer for the tree should be distributed uniformly among the holes.

Got acid soils on your farm? Be careful about fertilizing them unless you have correct soil acidity.

"Fertilizer applications on acid soils have retarded crop growth on some Boone County farms." Farmers not only did not get satisfactory returns on their investment, but lost money by using fertilizers.

Proper applications of limestone will correct soil acidity and assure better returns on the fertilizer investment, it is shown. Fertilizers, especially nitrogen, increase soil acidity immediately after application and this condition may persist throughout the growing season. Thus, soil acidity may be lowered to a point where elements that are toxic to growing plants are released to the soil water.

RIOT TORN WASHINGTON

By Gene Snyder, U. S. Congressman, Fourth District, Kentucky

The murder of Dr. King and its aftermath has been a topic of concern and discussion across the country. Illegal killing can never be condoned whether it be the President of the United States, a civil rights leader, or an innocent victim pulled from his car on a NW Washington street beaten and killed because he was not a "soul brother."

The basic civil right of any citizen is the security of his life and property. The civil rights of all citizens were jeopardized and violated as a wave of rioting spread across the country after Dr. King's death. Generally, the responsibility for the security of all citizens falls upon the shoulders of the local law enforcement officials. In Washington, when disorder broke out, the local authorities soon realized that they could not contain the hundreds of looters who smashed windows and plundered stores. It was clearly a situation beyond local control. Before Federal troops were called in, there was a long period of violence which further threw the city into a state of chaos and anarchy. I can assure you that there were many moments of tension and anxiety as we heard the wailing of sirens and saw clouds of smoke streaming from the downtown section of our Nation's capital.

Although the billows of smoke no longer hang over the Capitol, the effects of a long weekend of terror and destruction are even more evident. Washington is a stricken city as are Baltimore and Chicago and others across the country. Large areas of the inner city have been destroyed by the senseless act of the arsonist. Estimated damage to buildings alone is $13.5 million and this does not include the inestimable loss of personal property and goods. Hundreds have been left homeless and, most tragic of all, ten are dead in Washington alone.

Evidences of the riots go beyond the shells of gutted buildings as the damage incurred is greater than the loss in property. I am struck with a sense of irony and unbelief as I see the streets and buildings of our Capital guarded by troops. Many hours of work have been lost and business disrupted as employers and employees must leave work early to be home before the curfew. It must be a great shock for many to see the Capital of the world's strongest republic guarded by troops.

The most damage, though, has been done to the residents of the inner city. Every bit of destruction lessens the resources available for reform. The millions in property losses in one day in Washington could have provided the salaries of thousands of teachers and money for thousands of positions in private industry for on the job training. This is indeed more than regrettable at a time when our budget is sorely taxed.

I believe that the less fortunate of any race could well be given self help opportunity, but outright gifts only encourage idleness and lawlessness and lead to chaos. I am fearful that I am in the minority here is the firm belief that we should not appease trouble makers—but should encourage obedience to law and encourage punitive measures for looting and arson as well as murder. Until the rights of all citizens can be established, the chance of coping with urban problems is dim.

The vast majority of our Negro citizens are acceptable to our society and deserve equal opportunity to achieve greatness in our society, but militants of any color should be dealt with sternly and not appeased.

Fine Arts Festival Is Well Attended

A very nice crowd of parents and friends attended the first Fine Arts Festival at Walton-Verona High School, Sunday afternoon.

Displays were set up in the hall showing what students had done in the area of sewing, woodworking, arts and crafts.

Glenn Saylor, Industrial Arts instructor, showed some very fine pieces of furniture made by his advanced students. Smaller items of woodworking, metals and leather craft were on display.

Mrs. Betty Combs had on display articles of clothing, pillows and other small handmade items made by girls in her sewing class.

For the first time art has been taught in high school. James Layne, instructor, had displayed charcoal drawings, pencil sketches, water colors and oils in still-life, animal and landscape. There was also a table of sculptured pieces.

After viewing displays, parents and friends assembled in the gym where the band, under the direction of Mr. Layne, presented their spring concert. The elementary, junior high and senior bands had part on the program, as did the majorettes. There are about 110 members in the three bands and they presented a nice concert.

Following the concert, refreshments were served by the Band Boosters in the cafeteria.

Local Firemen Aid Falmouth Victims

The Walton Volunteer firemen responded to aid the residents of Falmouth after a tornado hit that city last Tuesday afternoon. Four men were dispatched to the storm area with the salvage truck and a portable generator. "There was not too much we could do except help provide the generator for power," Chief Charles Worthington said.

The tornado claimed four lives and more than 100 were injured. Property damage is expected to exceed $3 million.

Some halstone damage was reported in Boone County, but no damage in and around Walton. The halstones which fell here were about as large as a marble.

Program for PTA
The Walton firemen presented a safety program at the New Haven school last week. Main items discussed were general safety and life saving.

Picnic Grounds Damaged
The picnic grounds of the local fire department were damaged in the last few days to the extent of about $100. One booth was torn down and light fixtures around the recreation area were destroyed. Some other acts of destruction were also found.

A squad run was made early Sunday evening to the home of Milton Bryant, 1 mile South, on U. S. Highway 25. Mr. Bryant, 65, had been mowing his lawn and suffered an apparent heart attack. He succumbed before the life squad reached his home.

PANDERING ADVERTISING

Mail patrons offended by pandering advertisements can now take steps to curb such mail, according to a new law which gives each family the right to decide that an ad is "erotically arousing or sexually provocative."

The law gives a mail patron the sole right to decide what is offensive, and does not deny others the right to receive the same mail. Congress felt it does not violate Constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech.

When an advertisement sent through the mails is offensive on these grounds, a postal patron can now ask the post office to direct the mailer to send no more mail to him and to remove immediately the patron's name from all mailing lists he owns, controls or rents.

To assist patrons, the Post Office Department has published a brief pamphlet—How You Can Curb Pandering Advertisements—which is now available at the Walton (Ky.) post office. In addition to explaining how the law works, the pocket-size leaflet contains a form letter one can use when sending his complaint to the post office.

Alumni Banquet On Saturday Night

Alumni of Walton-Verona High School will gather at the Walton school gymnasium for their annual dinner on Saturday, May 4, at 7:00 p. m.

Dan J. Roberts, program chairman, will present the program, and Tom Johnson, vice president, will preside during the business meeting. The alumni banquet will be in memory of Tom Cook, who was elected president at the last meeting, and who passed away during the year. Supt. Earl Roberts will give the school progress report.

AREA AGENT'S ½ ACRE

...by...
JOE CLAXON

By the end of May most of the Spring flowering bulbs have produced blooms. However, to ensure an equal quantity and quality for next year, certain procedures must be followed.

After the flower has deteriorated, the dark green foliage remains on the stem. These leaves are manufacturing food that is stored in the bulb to form more bulbs and flowers for the following season. If the leaves are removed, fewer flowers and flowers of poorer quality will be produced next year. The leaves should be left intact until they die naturally. Thus, if the bulbs are growing in a grassy area, the area should not be cut until the foliage has died. While the leaves are dying, the plants should be provided with plenty of water to insure maximum food production.

The bulbs may be moved if the area is to be used for other plantings; however, some quality will be sacrificed. The bulbs with the leaves intact should be lifted with a fork and as much soil left on the roots as possible. The bulbs are then placed in soil at another location where there is shade and where water can be provided. The bulbs are left here until the leaves die, then they can be dug up and stored in a cool, dry, well ventilated place. They also may be left and transplanted in the fall.

Shortly after the leaves die is a good time to separate the bulbs and transplant them to other locations in the yard. After a few years, bulbs such as daffodils become crowded and tend to produce poorer quality flowers. The best flowers are obtained when the bulbs are separated every other year; however, every 3-4 years is usually sufficient. The bulbs are dug up and the small bulbs are separated from the larger ones. They should then be planted to a depth of 2-3 inches for small bulbs, 3-4 inches for medium, and 4-5 inches for large bulbs. The sooner the transplanting is done after the leaves have died, the better will be the quality of flowers produced the following season.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

DEADLY SERIOUS!

Lesson for May 5, 1968

Background Scriptures: Proverbs 16:22-32; 20:1; 23:12; 23:35

Devotional Reading: Proverbs 16:22-32

Your friend has "had a few" and suddenly he's the life of the party. Quiet, reserved, he begins to tell funny stories, do imitations, and sing rousing songs. Everyone smiles as he picks up steam and in a few minutes they will be laughing gaily at his hilarious antics. Everyone except his wife, for she knows how the performance must always end.

The tipsy friend may amuse us. The helpless drunk on television may seem hilarious. Someone's admonition to temperance may seem a caution to smirk. Yet alcoholism is no joke. It is not funny to the alcoholic, nor his family, nor his employer, nor anyone else whose welfare may be jeopardized by him. It is deadly serious.

Wrong because . . .

It was from witnessing the tragedies of drunkenness and alcoholism that the writers of the Old Testament wisdom literature developed their proverbs of counsel in regard to the dangers of alcohol. When the sage said, "Be not among winebibbers . . . for the drunkard . . . will come to poverty. . . ." (Proverbs 23:20-21), he did so because of his careful observation of the consequences.

Too often it is assumed that the moral teachings of religion are the biased result of a "kill-joy" attitude toward life. What is often overlooked, however, is that the moral teachings are based upon some very practical matters. Intemperance is wrong, for example, because of its destructive results. Drunkenness is castigated because of the misery and suffering it brings to people. Alcoholism is evil because of the terrible cost it exacts from society.

Because the wise men of the Old Testament had observed many personal tragedies and seen what insobriety could do to society, they were being extremely practical when they counseled:

Be not among winebibbers . . . Do not look at wine when it is red, when it sparkles in the cup and goes down smoothly . . . (Proverbs 23:31 RSV)

He who rules his spirit is better than he who takes a city (Proverbs 16:32)

More than "Don't"

They had seen the tragedy of the winebibber. They had observed those who had been deceived by the attractive and harmless appearance of drink. They knew the sheer practicality of learning to master one's appetites.

Thus the sages were appealing to the minds of men, not their sense of obedience. They were not content to say "Don't," but went on to tell "why not." Alcohol, it was obvious, brings disgrace, making men look foolish; it provokes fights, triggers violence (Proverbs 20:1); it interferes with our ability to work, causing us to lose our jobs, our money (Proverbs 23:21); it brings all kinds of woes, sorrows, and strife; it is the cause of accidents and injuries, it dissipates the physical body, induces hallucinations, degrades the mind, and releases our worst selves (Proverbs 23:33); and it forever tempts us to escape from reality into a fantasy world (Proverbs 23:35).

The pragmatic way

In short, alcohol destroys the drinker, physically, mentally, and spiritually. Nor does it stop there, injuring those around us, destroying our relationships with those around us. Ultimately it tears down the moral fabric of our society. The Hebrew wise men had observed all this and their resulting advice is nothing less than a pragmatic manner of dealing with a very real problem.

Thus it is the sages who are the realists, who are dealing with the facts. The wisdom of the Proverbs is thousands of years old, but it is no less realistic and contemporary for a society where alcoholism is a major health and economic problem. The problem is serious; the consequences are deadly. Thus it calls for a response that is deadly serious.

Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Adkins and children moved from Mrs. Nannie May's house to Flingsville.

Walter Cooke and granddaughter Geraldine Roberts, visited his sister, Mrs. Austin Vest, at St. Joseph Hospital, Lexington, last week.

Mrs. Letty Grace Ramsey of Stockton, Calif., spent a week with her aunt, Mrs. Mollie Alphin.

Mrs. Mattie E. Froscoe and daughter, Nancy, of Cincinnati, were Wednesday guests of their aunt, Mrs. Mollie Alphin.

PINER HOMEMAKERS

The Piner Homemakers Club met April 16 at the RECC building with 11 members present. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Clarence Duncan. The roll call was answered with "an experience remembered from childhood about spring." Several of the ladies had some very interesting things to tell.

The devotional, given by Mrs. Richard Colclough, was about natural beauty. The scripture text was from Luke 16:10-13 and Proverbs 28:20.

The lesson for the day on growing roses was given by Mrs. W. O. Marshall and Mrs. James Bentley. They gave tips on transplanting, pruning, fertilizing, weed control and winter protection.

During the meeting, reservations were taken for the spring meeting May 16 at Summit Hills Country Club.

Others attending were: Mrs. Charles Flynn, Mrs. Frank Elliott, Mrs. Chester Mullins, Mrs. Marion Martin, Mrs. Louis Schlachter, Mrs. William Wolterman, and Mrs. Malcolm Oliver.

The next meeting will be held on May 21 at the home of Mrs. Chester Mullins.

By Linda Tatum
Area Extension Agent

Are you an expert salad maker? Anyone can if they follow these simple steps—

1. Wash vegetables—wash greens with lukewarm water. Lukewarm water makes creases in leaves from head lettuce: core and let water run through.
2. Dry them—drain excess water from head lettuce on a rack, tea towel or paper towels. Drain or toss leafy greens in a tea towel or paper towels. Store in plastic bags or in refrigerator crisper for several hours or overnight before using.
3. Your salad bowl—choose any shape in porcelain, glass, wood or plastic. Your bowl should be large enough for tidy tossing of prepared salad. Chill bowl before using.
4. To tear or cut salad greens—opinions differ. Take a cue from restaurants: their saladmakers use sharp French knives to cut the

- hardier greens. Whatever method you use, handle greens quickly and tenderly so they won't bruise. Compact iceberg heads can be cut into wedges or slices. Iceberg, Boston, Leaf or Bibb lettuce give cup-shaped leaves to hold salad mixes.
5. Chop or cut other ingredients—cut celery on the bias, peppers in rings, tomatoes in wedges, fruit in balls or sections for variety and interest. Do not cut or add tomatoes until just before serving. The juice runs out and "thins" your salad dressing.
6. Chill salad until serving time—cover salad in salad bowl with aluminum foil or plastic cover and refrigerate without dressing until ready to toss and serve.

Make the dressing toss a real event. Do it in the kitchen or at the dining table, but do it with a flourish, like a real chef perfecting his art. When every green glistens with dressing, serve.

Discipline is something for every child to learn but the lesson requires a wise teacher.

CONSTANT COMPANIONS

Copyright 1968 Keltor Advertising Service, Inc., Strasburg, Va.

"Those three are always together," remarked Lisa's mother. She was referring to her little daughter, who is seldom seen without her beloved collie, and her well-worn rag doll. They are constant companions.

"Lisa is very sensitive about friends," her mother continued. "And this week she came home from Sunday School with a very important lesson. Her teacher told her about God's love, and how He never leaves us. Lisa came skipping into the house and announced, 'Now I have three good friends, and the best one of all is Jesus.'"

Little Lisa had indeed learned a wonderful truth. All of us need to discover it for our own lives. For every life needs the companionship of God. Let your church bring this hope and promise to you.

BATTLE OF THE BOATS—The great race was again set this week between the Delta Queen of Cincinnati and the Belle of Louisville, during Kentucky Derby Festival Week. This was the fifth time the sternwheelers have met, with the Delta Queen holding an edge in the win column. It is always a colorful event with a large crowd in attendance. The race took place over a 12-mile course on the Ohio River at Louisville.

America Never Had It So Good!

By Gene Snyder, U. S. Congressman, Fourth District, Kentucky

Shortly before he threw in the towel, the President made a rousing speech in Miami to labor leaders of our nation. Waxing eloquent, he shouted: "America never had it so good." Sober reassessment by his own political mentors prompted him to drop the defense of his Great Society and pursue the princely paths of peace instead. Even making election year allowances for political exaggeration, the President's recent exclamation was received with a large grain of salt by many members of the 90th Congress.

And, I suspect this statement that "we never had it so good" wouldn't receive unanimous agreement throughout the country. Particularly, by the families of the 500,000 or more U. S. servicemen in Vietnam.

Folks on the home front, too, may have been surprised to hear they never had it so good with crime in the streets at all time high, and major cities trembling from the fear of rioters this summer.

From the economic and fiscal standpoint, there is additional doubt that the U. S. never had it so good. The home owner who sees the cost of raising a family sky-rocketing finds himself on an endless treadmill, racing Johnson inflation—and losing. The national cost of living for the average city family has risen more than 8 percent since President Johnson was inaugurated for a full term on January 20, 1965. The dollar of three years ago is now worth about 92 cents. A ten-dollar bill of three years ago, is now worth about $9.18.

Farmers continue to lose ground under the Great Society. The average net income per farm dropped $500 in 1967.

Money in the bank has even lost ground. If you had $500 in a savings account three years ago, and if it is still there, it has depreciated in value to $459.10, a loss of $40.90.

A $10,000 insurance policy of three years ago is now worth $9,182, a depreciation of $818. If you are retired, and if you had a retirement income three years ago of $2,500 a year which has not changed since, you are now down to $2,295.50, a loss of $204.50.

Federal interest rates are the highest since 1861 when the nation was in the Civil War. Those in business, such as auto sales, where large amounts must be borrowed to buy inventory, hardly feel that they never had it so good. Home buyers face mountainous mortgages. The nation's financial difficulties are caused primarily by the huge deficit in the Federal Government.

The individual bankruptcy rate ten years ago was one in 1,000; last year, one in 400. The cost of living has reached an all time high and is advancing each month due to the Great Society inflation.

Actually, when you stop and think about it, the only segment of the country that "never had it so good" is the administration. On an average day, the Great Society hires 3,600 persons.

Boone Democrat Club Meeting at Florence

Carlton Anderson, president, chaired the meeting of the Boone County Democrat Club at the home of the secretary, Mrs. G. M. Poynter, 23 Mikkelsen Drive, Florence.

Routine business was discussed and plans were made to hold the election of officers at the next regular meeting June 7, at the Boone County Courthouse, in Burlington. Nominations will be made from the floor.

Mrs. Charles Patrick, Joe Ryan, Francis Dooley and Bob Greene were named to assist the Teenage Democrat Club. Mrs. Kathryn Rudicill, Lennie Masters and Burman Roberts have been appointed to help establish a Young Democrat Club in Boone County. The committees will have a joint meeting May 8.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess.

KINDERGARTEN COMMENCEMENT

The Walton Kindergarten will have its commencement exercises on Friday, May 17, at 7:30 p. m. in the sanctuary of First Baptist Church. May 21 will be the last day of classes.

Mrs. Gene Roland, teacher, said the 15 pupils will present a program centered around class activities during the year. The public is invited to attend.

REVIVAL IN NEWPORT

Rev. Kenneth Gaub, world traveler and speaker, will be in a revival May 7 through May 12 at the Full Gospel Assembly Church, 13th and John Sts., Newport, Ky. Services nightly at 7:30.

Federal inspectors check the health of more than 32 million animals at our stockyards each year.

Boone County's Poverty Discussed

At the April 23 meeting of the C. A. C. Neighborhood Services Advisory Committee of the Boone County Community Action Commission, circumstances of poverty in the county were discussed. A great many residents are unaware of the conditions and once advised wonder what can or is being done.

There is in existence an emergency fund which has relieved acute miseries of our people during the waiting period of two weeks to two months before State Aid can become available. This fund is under the direction of Jack Caldwell, Director of Boone County C. A. C. Neighborhood Services. It is for needs such as purchase of coal for heat, bottled gas for cooking, payment of electric bills, or additional items to complement the basic staples of foods available from the commodity program.

Funds for this program are extremely moderate, and there is no guarantee of appropriations for this fund.

A dance is currently being planned, the proceeds going to the emergency fund. Here is an opportunity to do something a little extra for your county. Boone is one of the fastest growing counties in the state and its needs are also growing. Become interested and participate in your county's activities, and watch for further notices. Community Action Commission meetings are held in the courthouse in Burlington, at 8:00 p. m. the fourth Tuesday of each month.

Airport Expansion

Last week approval of the purchase of several acres of land was given to the Kenton County Airport Board. The latest acquisition of property will cost about 1/4 million dollars. Largest of the parcels is a 115-acre farm. Several houses and lots were also bought.

The Kenton County Garden Club Meets

The Garden Club met at the R. E. C. C. auditorium, April 25. We who were present, were quite disappointed at the small attendance. It reminded me of the parable of the marriage feast, told in Luke 14:16-18, "They all with one consent began to make excuse." That is the members who could not attend had many and varied reasons.

Miss Taylor opened the meeting by reading the collect, followed by a short business session. The place for the next meeting was discussed, but will be announced later. Resolutions of respect for Mrs. Velma Pitcher were read. Report of the nominating committee resulted in retaining the officers who served for the last year.

We had invited for our program, "Jack" Lynn, a member of the Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Commission, to show pictures, "Kentucky's Feathered Rainbow." It was beautiful and well worth seeing. Many of the birds spent the entire year in our state, others go south for the winter, but quite a few stop for short periods as they migrate across this area. A series of pictures of animals of Kentucky is being prepared and we are looking forward to seeing it also, when completed.

Miss Alice Jane Williams was hostess for the evening, assisted by some of the other ladies. She served delicious refreshments to the following: Mr. Lynn and his assistant, Dale Dooley, L. Gouge and Mrs. Gouge, Misses Mary Jane Cooper, Mary Margaret Stephens, and Elma Taylor, Mrs. F. Popp, Mrs. Leontine Stephens, Mrs. Helen Jaeger, Mrs. Francis Keeney, and the hostess.—Reporter

Small Crowd at Alumni Banquet

Less than one hundred, the smallest group since the alumni was organized, attended the annual Alumni Banquet at Walton-Verona High School, Saturday evening in the Walton gym.

Tom Johnson, vice president, conducted the meeting. Father Joseph Reuter gave the invocation. After the dinner, Charles Holder introduced those present from the 1966 senior class, who are always guests of the alumni each year.

Dan Roberts, program chairman, introduced Warren White, Director of the Daniel Boone Boys Camp, who was the guest speaker for the evening. Honor classes were those of the years ending in "8," and only a few were represented. Mrs. Viola Roberts represented the 1968 class; Mrs. Ted Anderson of Ashland, was the only graduate present of a class of ten in 1928. Mrs. John Maddox spoke for the class of 1948 and two other of her classmates were in attendance and identified themselves and spoke briefly. They were Mrs. Dean Burdine Kimberlain and Norman Ferguson. Mrs. Jesse Kinman of Frankfort, was the only one present from the class of ten years ago—1958.

During the business session, the following officers were elected to make plans for next year's event: President, Dean Pore; Vice President, Mrs. W. W. Rouse; Secretary, Mrs. Christine Thompson; and Treasurer, Mrs. Ernestine Deslaur.

Those who did attend enjoyed themselves and wished there could have been more former classmates present for this yearly visit.

Mrs. J. A. Keeney, Reporter

Neighbors and friends of the Goedde family were shocked to hear that John L. Goedde was found dead in bed on Thursday morning. He had been in poor health for some months and was scheduled to enter the hospital later in the day for tests and possible surgery. A man of quiet disposition, he was one of the quickest to respond to any need among his neighbors. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Bernadette Goedde; one sister, Mrs. Marcella Fildis of near Detroit, Mich.; two brothers, Bernard and Joe, of this community, and several nieces and nephews. Funeral services at St. Cecilia on Monday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Carsee Brinkley enjoyed the company of their son, Lathan, and family of Cincinnati.

Mrs. Hazel Pickett and Miss Marie Armstrong of Covington, called on Mr. and Mrs. Charles Losey one afternoon last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Keeney and sons spent the weekend at Jenny Wiley State Park.

We are glad to welcome Joe Goedde, Jr. home from his draft service.

Mrs. John Klette and Mrs. John Klette, Jr. made brief calls on Monday on Mrs. F. Keeney and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Northcutt.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Richardson and Mrs. George Fimmel, Jr. went to Lexington, April 25, to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Richardson, coming home from Laos. On Sunday they had a family reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Richardson at Williamstown. We hope to be able to see Clyde and Pauline while they are here.

Power mowers are dangerous: they are handy machines, but caution is needed in their operation, especially with the rotary type. Though these mowers are manufactured to cut grass, they will also cut toes and fingers. Most of the injuries from mowers are caused by direct contact with the mower, though about one-third are the result of objects being thrown by the mower. Just plain carelessness and lack of knowledge on the part of the operator are the usual causes of accidents involving power mowers.

The blade on a rotary mower spins at about 1800 to 3000 revolutions per minute; at the outermost part of the blade the speed often approaches 200 miles per hour.

To avoid injury when using a power mower, follow these safety suggestions:

1. Be familiar with your lawn mower. Read the operator's manual that came with it, and follow the manufacturer's recommendations.
2. Always disconnect the spark plug wire before you work on the mower.
3. Keep your mower clean and the blade sharp. A sharp blade does a better job of mowing and requires less speed.
4. Be sure safety shields are in place. Make sure they are not bent or damaged.

5. Keep the blade adjusted high enough so that it will not hit the ground or damage the turf. For most lawns, set the blade height at a minimum of two inches.

6. Store gasoline in an approved metal container away from the furnace or flues.

7. Do not refill the gasoline tank when the engine is running.

8. Use care in starting your power mower. Make sure self-propelled mowers are out of gear. Stand firmly and keep hands and feet away from the cutting blade.

9. Operate the blade as low as possible. High speed blades are more dangerous and cause greater wear on the mower.

10. Remove all toys, stones, bones, sticks, wire, cans, glass and other trash from the lawn before mowing.

11. Keep children and pets away from the mower.

12. Don't let small children operate power mowers. Remember your power lawn mower is designed to be a handy, labor-saving machine, but if it is used improperly, it can be dangerous.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank the people of Walton, friends and neighbors alike, for their many acts of kindness during my stay in the hospital and present confinement at home. My teachers for their time and effort in giving me the opportunity to continue my studies. My classmates for their unfailing help and visits. So many things God has given me to be thankful for, especially that I live where people do care. To each and every one my sincere thanks and appreciation for everything.

Lesson for May 12, 1968

Background Scriptures: Proverbs 4:1-5a, 20-27; 6:20-23; 31:10-31.
Devotional Reading: Proverbs 29:15-23.

"You can always tell a high school senior, but you can't tell him much!" proclaims an old saying.

For most adults the painfulness of this truth is rendered just a little less acute by the remembrance that it was no less so when we ourselves were youth. If there is any difference at all between the generations of "then" and "now," it is likely that today's youth are much more open and honest in their disdain for their elders' advice than were the generations that preceded them. There was a time when youth listened with apparent politeness and then, for the most part, did as they pleased anyway. Young people today are much more likely to say their "Oh yeah!" aloud.

It's Natural

Thus it has been and thus it is ever likely to be: youth wishing their elders would stop trying to pass on their unwanted and outdated advice, and their elders, wishing that youth would listen to and learn from their valuable experience. It is natural for youth to turn a deaf ear and it is also natural for their elders to continue trying. Sometimes there is a successful attempt at communication that makes worthwhile all the frustrating failures that preceded it.

As children we are likely to think that our parents know and can do everything. Later in adolescence, we find that they have their limitations. Too often youth go to the extreme of discounting, if not ignoring, their parents' counsel thereafter. Who does it hurt? To be sure, it usually hurts the parents; but much more, in the long run, it hurts the youths themselves.

This is precisely the wisdom the writer of Proverbs is trying to get across: "... keep my commandments and live." If youth can follow the guidance of their elders, their lives will often be richer, fuller, happier. Why? Because their elders have profited by experience; it has taught them what is beneficial and what is harmful.

It Works!

The writer of Proverbs does not make his appeal on the basis of his authority. He does not say, "Listen to me because I deserve your respect and obedience." He appeals to them on the basis of reason: "... for I give you good precepts" (Job 4:2). Why are they good? They are good because they produce beneficial results. They work!

Many of these good precepts parents have learned through painful personal experience or observation. As we have noted before, the teachings of those who are wise can often be substituted for painful personal experience. Why not learn from the wise if we can? Why should we have to learn everything through trial-and-error?

What a miserable world it would be if every new generation refused to accept the accumulated learnings and wisdom from the generations that preceded it! How terrible for each new generation to have to "start from scratch" in all fields of human knowledge. There would never be any human advancement or progress.

It's Us!

Nor can there be any wisdom for us if we will not acknowledge it in others. If we are too proud or stubborn to learn from others, we keep the door shut tight against growth in wisdom and knowledge. If adults expect children and youth to be receptive to learning from them, they must also be humble enough to acknowledge that adults can also learn from those younger than themselves. How often in the Bible we find that "a little child shall lead them," that God is able to reveal his truth, not to those supposedly mature, but to "little ones."

Thus it is not just the high school seniors who are hard to "sell anything"; it is human nature itself, adult and adolescent, from which the defiant "Oh yeah?" is likely to spring.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL

FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Crime: America's Domestic Problem

By Gene Snyder, U. S. Congressman, Fourth District, Kentucky

In March, the Federal Bureau of Investigation issued a report on crime in America. This statement brings home the shocking truth that crime is one of the biggest, most successful businesses in this country and its returns are tax free. Under the Great Society, crime has become the constant, fear creating companion of millions of Americans. For the first time since 1930 crime tops the list of America's domestic issues. A recent poll revealed that crime was the No. 1 domestic problem and is the major daily concern of millions of law-abiding Americans.

Chicago used to be the crime capital of America during the days of Al Capone. Today, crime stalks every American city; as well as the suburban and rural areas of our country. F. B. I. statistics show that in the last seven years crime has increased 9 times as fast as the population. Last year—1967—there was an increase of 16% in serious crimes in this country. Murder increased 12%; rape, 9%; aggravated assault, 8%; robbery, 7%; and property crimes, 16%. These figures are of grave concern to me as I'm sure they are to all of you.

A large majority of Americans believe that the law courts are "too soft" on criminals. I am part of that majority. Recent Supreme Court decisions have seriously hindered the work of law enforcement officials.

Civil rights has been one of the most important concerns of the Great Society. Yet, every day the civil rights of all citizens are impaired and violated. The homeowner no longer feels secure about the safety of his home and family. He is constantly faced with the threat of burglary and afraid to walk the streets at night.

It is the pastor who prays for all; the policeman who protects all; the Government who serves all; and the taxpayer who pays for all. With the rise in crime, it seems that Americans are not getting a just return on their tax dollars. Security of life and property is one of our Constitutional rights. Maintenance of this security is one of the basic functions of government. The liberal establishment zealously protecting the rights of criminals has disregarded the rights of all law-abiding American citizens.

STRONG FAMILIES—STRONG COMMUNITY

What makes a family strong? Important to a strong family is a strong faith in God, a belief that life has a purpose, and that it is the family's responsibility to seek that purpose with the help of God.

What makes a community strong? Certainly able honest leadership that accepts responsibility for the good health, adequate education, clean government, and opportunities for wholesome human development for all in the community is a basic requirement. Such leadership grows out of the strong family life nurtured by the home and church.

Responsible and loyal citizens are needed to make a strong community. Here also the family can and must make its contribution: by helping its young learn to perform as members of a group the give-and-take of family living; by supporting the opportunities for educational growth through the community school system; by complying with health and safety regulations; by being sensitive to the needs and problems faced by the various groups within the community; and by developing in its members a sense of responsibility to be participating members of the community.

The church can encourage Christian families to live as Christians in their relationships with others in the community.—Methodist Bulletin Service

Ex-Waltonian Retires In Syracuse, N. Y.

Asa M. Rouse, uncle of the Walton attorney of the same name, retired in April from the New York Telephone Company, with which he had been associated for almost forty years.

Rouse graduated from Walton High School and Kentucky Wesleyan College. In 1929, he received his Master's Degree in public administration, Syracuse University and began his telephone career the same year.

By 1933 he had become manager of the company's Utica office. He later was district manager in Buffalo and division commercial supervisor in Albany. He returned to Utica as district manager in 1946.

When the company formed a northern division in 1951, Rouse became its first division manager. Six years later he became the northern area's first general manager. Subsequently, he served in New York as general commercial manager of the Manhattan area, before going to the Central area as general manager in February, 1966.

Rouse is a member of the board of directors of the Onondaga County Savings Bank, a member of the board of directors of the Metropolitan Development Association, the Greater Syracuse Chamber of Commerce, Syracuse Governmental Research Bureau, and the Urban League.

Mr. and Mrs. Rouse, the former Muriel McCormick of Watertown, have two daughters, Mrs. Gilbert Hudson of Grosse Pointe Farms, Michigan, and Miss Ellen Rouse, who lives with her parents at 1225 James St., Syracuse, N. Y. The Rouses plan to move to Rye Beach, N. H.

Mr. Rouse is the second A. M. Rouse of this area, Walton attorney Asa M. Rouse the third, and the attorney's son, Asa Mills Rouse, is the fourth. It all started of course with great-grandfather Rouse.

Veterans Administration Questions and Answers

Q—My son will be getting out of service soon. He enlisted right out of high school. I have heard that there is a new program in which a veteran can work for the government and still go to school. Can you tell me anything about it?

A—A recent Presidential Executive Order permits Federal agencies to give Vietnam veterans transitional appointments to positions at grade GS-5 or below. To be eligible for these transitional appointments in the first five levels of Federal employment, a Vietnam era veteran must:

—Have served on active duty in the Armed Forces for at least 180 days (unless disabled in service, some part of which was after Aug. 4, 1964.

—Have completed less than one year of education beyond high school or its equivalent.

—Agree to take an approved program of education or training for at least one full school year while he is working.

Full details on this program may be obtained from the nearest U. S. Veterans Assistance Center, Veterans Administration or Civil Service Commission office.

Q—My widowed mother receives a pension based upon my father's military service. She is now confined to a nursing home. Is she entitled to an increase in payments?

A—Recent legislation permits the Veterans Administration to add $50 monthly to a widow's pension award received by a person who must be kept in a nursing home. The VA office handling your mother's claim should be advised of the fact that she is in a nursing home and entitled to the added benefit payable to widow's requiring aid and attendance.

$135,000 Boone Verdict Is Record

A Boone Circuit Court jury has awarded the largest sum ever granted in its history in a personal injury suit.

Mrs. Mildred Berry, 40, of 99 South Main St., Walton, was awarded $135,000 last Thursday for injury and loss of income from an auto collision in Walton March 7, 1967.

Mrs. Berry suffered seven fractures of the left leg, right arm, and hand fractures, compound nose fracture and concussion, according to court testimony.

Mrs. Berry was returning home from work as practical nurse at the Senior Citizens Baptist Home, Independence, at 11:25 p. m.

She was driving south on Main Street, Walton, in her 1964 Ford. A 1958 Plymouth, driven by Larry Code, 22, Beaver Road, Walton, was rounding a curve from the opposite direction, and the two cars collided.

Mrs. Berry was pinned in the wreckage for almost a half hour before Walton firemen, using a power tool, were able to pry the mangled steel from around her. She was hospitalized in St. Elizabeth Hospital for 74 days and incurred $4176.80 in medical and hospital bills, it was said.

Jack Howell Covington, defense attorney for Mr. Code, argued that Mrs. Berry failed to dim her lights as Code approached, and Mrs. Berry admitted this was a possibility.

Assa M. Rouse, Walton, attorney for Mrs. Berry, claimed Code was speeding, swung across the center line and smashed into Mrs. Berry's car. He also argued that it was Code's "overwhelming negligence" which caused the crash, not Mrs. Berry's failure to dim her lights, if this were the case.

The jury deliberated approximately 40 minutes before returning the record award at 6:30 p. m.

Kenton Co. Council PTA May Luncheon

The annual luncheon of the Kenton County Council PTA will be held on Monday, May 20, at 11:00 a. m., at the Covington YMCA.

Officers and chairmen of the past year will be honored. New local presidents will be introduced and the scholarship winner, Miss Violette Maxey of Simon Kenton, will be honored.

The luncheon will be alive with the art work of high school and junior high school students. Each high and junior high school in the council is asked to exhibit five pieces of art work. These will be judged and ribbons will be awarded.

Mrs. Wesley Hall, president of the council, attended the State P. T. A. Convention, April 30 through May 2 at Lexington. A report of the convention will be given by Mrs. Hall.

Mrs. Shelby Kenney, newly elected Sixth District President; Mrs. Alcolin Fletcher, president of Taylor Mill PTA, and Mrs. Bernard Ballinger, president of Simon Kenton PTA, also represented the council at the convention.

KINDERGARTEN COMMENCEMENT

The Walton Kindergarten will have its commencement exercises on Friday, May 17, at 7:30 p. m., in the sanctuary of First Baptist Church, Walton.

The program for the evening will be given by Laura Jo Ammer, Jeanine Butler, Gary Glacken, Billie Jo Glenn, Dana Hance, Brian Hopperton, Alexa Johnson, all of Walton, and Cindy Barker, Leslie Maddox, Scotty Risner, Mitty Stephens and Patti Jo Waller, all of Verona, from Florence, Michele Smith, along with Mark Jacobs and Scott White of Independence.

This program will be centered around the class activities of the school year. The public is invited to attend.

Dixie State Bank Knotters Win 2

What Is A Welfare Case?

What is a welfare case? It is not a case where a healthy and capable person receives a government dole. Kentucky laws are very rigid. There are careful investigations made by Kentucky State Office of Economic Assistance, and categories into which an applicant must fit. For the protection of the taxpayer, these must be thorough and take time. There are emergencies, however, which must be met and which cannot wait for the routine machinery to operate.

A great number of cases in Boone County involve mothers deserted by fathers. CAC Neighborhood Services has helped some of these women find jobs, and has even gone a step further by locating a suitable person to watch the children while mother works.

These are the cases you seldom hear about. The instance where a woman, after surviving desertion by her husband, with a little help is able to get settled and take a job. We now have someone who is a productive party of society, a proud achievement for a cooperative county welfare program.

If you are curious and interested, attend the CAC Neighborhood Services Committee meeting at the court house, May 23 at 8:00 p. m.

The biggest trouble with a half-truth is that you're likely to get stuck with the wrong half.

The return of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Richardson from Laos, was made an occasion for a family get-together at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Giles, Mills Road. Tables were set up in the garage, easily accessible to the kitchen and downstairs living room.

Among those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Joe B. Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Richardson,

Miss Helen Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Lybrian Richardson, Mrs. Donna Richardson and children, Duane, Eric and Lori, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Richardson, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Marshall and Deborah, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Richardson, Risa Beth and Loui Leine, Mr. and Mrs. Randall Folmer and Melissa, Mr. and Mrs. Dawson Ballinger, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Ballinger, Patti Knox, Mr. and Mrs. George Fennell, Jr., Neva Jo and Glenn. All left with the thought, "Let's do it again."

Staffordsburg Homemakers

Some 16 members answered roll call on Tuesday, May 7, when we met in the church dinner room here. Mrs. Damico, president, opened the meeting by leading the pledge of allegiance, followed by the secretary's and treasurer's reports. Mrs. Florence Stein was to be hostess but since she was not able to attend we had a covered dish luncheon, which was much enjoyed.

Following the business of the morning, Mrs. Bess Hill and Mrs. Frances Elam gave the lesson on protection as taught by a member of the Covington police force.

Mrs. F. Keeney gave the devotion based on Mark 1:16-29, emphasizing the home as the foundation for our society and our national life. After noon, we had our annual white elephant auction in which we added $37 to the treasury and had plenty of fun for good measure.

Our June meeting will be at the church with Mrs. Edith Ware as hostess.

Among those present, besides those mentioned, were: Mesdames Beall, Cooper, Faulkner, Nitschke, Wayman, Perkins, Glaes, Deuser, Shaw, Payne, Rich, Flannigan, Marshall and Cummins.

One of the nicest things to happen in this community was on May 5, when the young folk of the congregation took over the morning worship service. The participants were from 10 to 16 years and they really did an outstanding program with an air of deep reverence. We would name those who had the leading roles as minister, organist, stewards, etc., but we might fail to mention some and thus cause hurt. So let it suffice to congratulate each one who had a part and pray that every one may realize the privilege of being a co-worker with the one true God.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Losey were surprised one evening the past week to have as callers, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Flynn of Walton. Mr. Flynn, who was seriously ill a few months back, seems to be making a good recovery. We hope it may be complete.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Cook and children, Jeff and Michelle, of near Brooklyn, N. Y., have spent the past week with Rev. and Mrs. F. Phillips. This was their first visit to Kentucky.

Several neighbors and friends have called on Mrs. Florence Stein since her return from the hospital, finding her in good spirits and enjoying their visits very much.

Several members from this church attended the sub-district meeting at Pleasant Grove. Their new building is very nice and quite well arranged. The next meeting of this group will be at Bethel Grove Camp Grounds, June 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Denver Binder flew to Miami, Fla., Friday, May 3, to attend the wedding of their granddaughter, Miss Joan Henry, to Mr. David Dundell. The Miami Springs Methodist Church was the scene of the wedding, followed by a reception at the Pan American Ski Club. On Monday, the young couple left for a trip to Norway and Sweden. We wish them a long and happy life.

PINER CLEVER CLOVERS

The April meeting of the Piner Clever Clovers 4-H Club was held at the Piner-Fiskburg Fire Department meeting room with Janice Peebles as hostess.

The meeting was called to order by the president, asking all to stand and give the pledges to the American and 4-H flags, followed by two songs, led by the song leaders, then the business session followed.

After the meeting adjourned, refreshments were served by the hostess. The club members then practiced their demonstrations for Rally Day and their club act for the County Talent Show.

Those present were Andrea Ballard, May Frances Barnard, Aimee Collins, Mike Daniels, Sue Fisk, Rhonda LaFollette, Trudy Northcutt, Debbie Smith, Diane Whaley, Janice Peebles, and Judy Magee. Leaders present were Mrs. Ballard and Mrs. LaFollette.

These events took place after the April meeting: The club took part in the Kenton County Talent Show, which was held May 3 at Twenhofel Junior High School. The club act was called, "Twelve Months of the Year," with 15 of the members taking part. The 4-H Rally Day was held May 4 at the new Independence Christian Church with one member, Andrea Ballard, giving a demonstration on "How to Show A Calf." She will be taking part in the Area Rally, May 25, in Carroll County. The County Dress Revue was held May 10, with five members modeling their garments. Two of these members will take part in the Area Dress Revue, June 14, at Lloyd High.

AREA AGENT'S 1/2 ACRE

 JOE CLAXON

The realized net income per farm for Kentucky was $2730 in 1967, which was ten percent more than in 1966. On the other hand, for all the states except Alaska and Hawaii, the realized net income per farm declined about ten percent. Thirty-eight states showed decreases, and ten had increases. Also, for 10 of the 38 states, the decrease in realized net income per farm was more than 15 percent, according to the Economic Research Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Generally, the principal reason for the decline in realized net income was a decrease in cash receipts from farm marketings. In 25 states the cash receipts were down, seven states had practically no change, and 16 states had an increase in cash receipts. For Kentucky, the increase was seven percent. This was due to a substantial increase in total receipts from tobacco (for the calendar year), and increased receipts from hogs, eggs, and cattle and calves. Another reason was that farm production expenses were up in 1967 compared with 1966, principally because of increases for machinery and equipment costs and real estate taxes. Expenditures for livestock purchases, however, were lower.

There were an estimated 138,000 farms in Kentucky in 1967. The realized net income of $2730 per farm in Kentucky for 1967 represents the estimated average realized net income of farm operators from farming after deducting production expenses; it excludes changes in on-farm inventories. In Kentucky, production expenses amounted to an average of about 60 percent of realized gross farm income. In other words, a farm with $15,000 gross income would have a net income of about $6,000.

Letter To The Editor:

Walton, Kentucky
 May 7, 1968

Dear folks, I dedicate this to all parents going through this here in Walton and other little towns throughout the country:

"I Said Goodbye to My Boy Today"

By Marie Mark Blizard

I said goodbye to my boy today and didn't shed a tear, I cried them all last night, so he couldn't hear, I watched him walk down the path and watched him wave goodbye, Wanted to tell him so many things but afraid I'd start to cry, Looked around at the quiet hurt face of an understanding Dad, Couldn't say a word, just a crooked smile, a little sad, I pray he comes home safe and sound or I'll never be able to stand this little ole Country Town, I look down the street and there is his school and all of his old pals, I look in the yard at his broken-down Ford, And the pain goes through me sharp as a sword; I know now how all Moms and Dads feel, because the lump in my throat and the ache in my heart will never heal! I said "Goodbye" to my "boy" today and be it right or wrong, I pray in my heart I'll never have to say "goodbye" to another one.

CARD OF THANKS . . .

We wish to thank all who were so kind and thoughtful during the illness and in the death of our loved one, Betty Kennedy. Especially we thank the donors of flowers, and food, and for all other expressions of kindness; also Rev. Kelly Kennedy, and the Hamilton Funeral Home.

NOTICE—

Since owning a farm at Verona, I have tried to give everybody the privilege of hunting and fishing, asking only that they not destroy or leave any rubbish.

I want to thank those who had the courtesy to ask.

Because of those who never did ask but came in and cut down trees, destroyed fences, left litter, and set up camping without permission, I will have to ask that there be no hunting, fishing or trespassing on my farm.

Those who do trespass will be prosecuted according to law.

A STITCH IN TIME—

By Linda Tatum

Like peanuts? Why not use them often in your meals? Peanuts belong to the pea-and-bean family—the legumes—they really are not nuts at all. But like nuts, they are always popular in salads and sandwiches, cookies and desserts, as well as just plain salted. And like peas and beans, peanuts are good in main dishes, in soups, and in combination with other vegetables. Peanuts and peanut butter are well worth a place in everyday menus because of their high food value. The ideas of using them often in family meals is nutritionally sound.

1. Peanuts are exceptionally high in niacin, are important also for the other B vitamins.
2. Among the vegetable foods, peanuts rate high in quantity of protein. For efficient use of peanut protein, some high quality protein food, such as meat, eggs, or milk should be eaten at the same meal.
3. The high fat content of peanuts makes them a good source of food energy.

When cooking, peanuts may be used whole or in halves in many salads and desserts. For most other dishes you will need to chop the peanuts. Use a knife or run the peanuts through the coarse plate on the food chopper.

Peanuts take up moisture readily. When you want all of their crispness, as in salads and sauces, don't mix the peanuts with the other ingredients until just before serving.

Peanut butter is made in different grinds. The types usually on the market are regular grind (fine to medium) and coarse or chunky. Some peanut butters are just ground roasted peanuts plus salt; to others, stabilizers have been added in order to retard oil separation.

Because peanut butter is so high in fat, it can be used as part of the shortening in breads, cakes, and pastries, and will add to the richness of main dishes.

Keep peanuts in tightly closed containers in the refrigerator so they will stay crisp and retain their flavor. Peanut butter, too, keeps best in the refrigerator. Because it stiffens in a cold place, remove the peanut butter from the refrigerator a short time before using, to allow it to soften.

Complete your work, then you have earned a rest.

THE CROOKED STICK

Lesson for May 19, 1968

Background Scripture: Ecclesiastes 1:2.
Devotional Reading: Ecclesiastes 12:1-8.

A little boy was walking down the street one day and encountered a woman who was a good friend of the family. "How's your grandfather these days?" she wanted to know. "Oh," replied the boy, "Granddad's very sick." A congenial optimist, the woman, cut the boy short with a knowing look and these words: "Now you tell your grandfather that I said he only thinks he's sick, do you hear?"

Rev. Althouse A few weeks later the boy saw the woman again and she asked him cheerily: "Does your grandfather still think he's sick?" "Oh no," said the boy matter-of-factly. "Now he thinks he's dead and we buried him last week."

Pie-in-the-sky antidote
Obviously there are some realities in life that cannot be ignored. Sometimes it is necessary to look on the darker side of life, to take our dangers and threats seriously. Those people who always blithely assure us that "Everything's going to work out all right," ought to be around when sometimes everything doesn't "work out all right." There are times when we need a starkly pessimistic point of view to offset the pie-in-the-sky optimism of those who refuse to take evil seriously.

It is within this perspective that we need to approach the Preacher of Ecclesiastes. His sweeping pessimism is of value to us if we keep it within the context of the whole Bible. Someone has suggested that if all the pages of your Bible were accidentally torn out and lost, excepting those of Ecclesiastes, it would be better to tear out these pages and throw them away too. By itself, this gloomy book would be of no value to us. As one of many perspectives in the Bible, however, it is a valuable call to see life and its meaning from a different angle.

The Preacher's outlook on life is best expressed in Ecclesiastes 1:2, "Vanity of vanities . . . All is vanity." Everything in life is in vain, he cries. Life is futile and the world has no meaning. There is no purpose in man's brief sojourn upon the earth.

I have seen, I have seen
Where did this "wise man" get such a pessimistic view of life? Like all the wisdom writers he formed his views through his own experiences and observations of life. "I have seen . . . Moreover I saw . . . Again I saw . . . In my vain life I have seen everything . . . We might quarrel with his conclusions about life, but we could hardly dismiss him as an arrant philosopher.

Furthermore, though the Preacher has an overly pessimistic outlook on life by Christian standards, God has use for such a pessimistic man and his views. He can use such a man to challenge those who are too optimistic about life, who refuse to see the world in realistic terms. He can use such a man to call people to awaken to situations that seriously need correction, reform, and renewal.

And today?

Someone has said that "God can strike a mighty blow with a crooked stick." The Preacher is such a "crooked stick." With this man, God strikes out at those who make their religion a meaningless jumble of words, pious phrases, and empty double-talk. They never hear the voice of God because they are too enraptured with the sound of their own words.

God also uses this "crooked stick" to hammer away at those who assume responsibilities to God without fulfilling them, who want the benefits of religion without paying the price. He strikes away at corruption in government, oppression of the weak and the poor, greed, the love of money, dishonesty, and many other evils that were prevalent then and no strangers to us today. When the Preacher says "all this, 'Vanity of vanities . . . All is vanity,' who can dispute him?"

The times of the Preacher called loudly for such a "crooked stick." And today?

It's Easy to Replace

A blown fuse may be inconvenient. But, it may save damage to your appliances or avoid fire. Fuses are protective devices. If a fuse is the proper size it will burn out before wires become too hot from an overload.

Be sure you know where your fuse box is located.

If other homes are lighted but some of your lights are out, a circuit fuse has probably burned out. Here's how to save time and replace it yourself.

1. Locate and disconnect lamp or appliance that you suspect of being faulty.
2. Check your fuse box. The broken metal strip, visible through the fuse window, indicates a burned out fuse. Sometimes the window is cloudy—another sign of a burned out fuse.
3. Grasping only the fuse rim, unscrew the fuse and replace it with one of the proper size.

Helpful reminders:

- Be sure fuses are the correct size and shape.
- Keep new fuses on the fuse box so you can find them easily.
- If fuses blow very often, this indicates an overloaded circuit or defective appliance.
- To play it safe when fuses blow too often—better have an electrician investigate, or ask the owner to have this done.

Some Homes have Automatic Circuit Breakers

- Circuit breakers do not blow as fuses do.
- A toggle switch merely kicks off when a circuit becomes overloaded.

It's easy to reset an Automatic Circuit Breaker

1. Remove the source of trouble as outlined when replacing a fuse.
2. Push the breaker switch back to "on" position.

If you cannot locate the trouble call your Gas and Electric Company

Toll calls to report trouble are paid by our company through a reverse charge agreement with all telephone companies in our service area. Refer to your directory for the special (no toll charge, Enterprise number) for your location.

PAPER... MISTER?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . .

... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

He's always there on that busy corner—like thousands of other paper boys across the land.

And he doesn't get discouraged though you ignore him day after day. Give him so much as a glance and you'll hear his hopeful, "PAPER . . . MISTER?"

What makes him so ready and eager to serve? It's the certainty that he has something everybody needs.

On many corners there are churches. And they never cease urging you to come . . . always ready . . . eager to serve!

Here again is the certainty of something EVERYBODY needs!

What they have has come to be called the Gospel—an ancient word that means "Good News." A few Sundays in church and you'll understand why!

ELECTRIC AIR CONDITIONING

GOOD NIGHT!

Why turn and toss another hot, sleepless night? Cool comfort is just pennies away with air conditioning!

You can have springtime all summer. Regardless of the weather outside, air conditioning makes your home delightfully cool with the temperature you select. It also gives welcome relief to those suffering with hay fever or asthma.

Yet air conditioning is relatively inexpensive, thanks to low-cost rural electric power.

Is Freedom Of Speech In Jeopardy?

By Gene Snyder, U. S. Congressman, Fourth District, Kentucky

Last week the House of Representatives covered familiar ground when an appropriation of $9 million was authorized for the Corporation of Public Broadcasting by a vote of 241 to 133. This is a one shot proposition to get the Corporation underway. The Corporation was established last year to assist in development of systems of non-commercial television and radio stations.

The ideals of this program are lofty and indeed worthwhile. Educational television has provided many hours of valuable and otherwise unobtainable instruction for the Nation's school system. It has brought many cultural programs to areas of our country, where such events were previously unavailable. It has often given an in-depth focus to news making events and current problems. However, the overall plans of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting are still sketchy and leave much to be desired in terms of actual operational details. There are a host of problems, regulations and controls when the Federal government sponsors such a program.

How will this program be financed after the initial Federal appropriation? Presently, no scheme for permanent financing has been developed.

The greatest danger of such a program, however, goes beyond fiscal concerns and could eventually become a threat to our whole society. Television and radio like most of the news media has been operated, controlled, and financed by private enterprise. Freedom of the press and public comment is basic to our free American society. The plan of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting has put the Federal government squarely into the business of financing this system and into an area of television programming which might easily become an instrument of propaganda and indoctrination. The recent action of the House has brought Federal intervention into what heretofore has been a "private" sector of our society.

Freedom of speech and press is a right cherished by all Americans. Control of information is a serious problem to all of us. Each day the "credibility gap" becomes more apparent. One only need look at recent testimonies before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee or the flow of conflicting statements from the White House and the Pentagon in regard to the Pueblo incident to see that there is a gap. How much more control can be exerted before freedom of speech in America becomes only a meaningless phrase?

It is not very often that the House of Representatives considers a bill that costs only $9 million. This is an unfortunate commentary on the thinking in Washington today, but there is a tendency to push this kind of legislation through without much consideration. It is regrettable nevertheless, that more attention is not paid to the principles involved in a bill of this nature.

County Sanitarian Speaks

By Randal E. Ritchie

Our cleanup campaign is coming along but it could be better. There are some who still dump their garbage and trash along our road sides and even in their back yards. Garbage collection is available to most every area of the county and the rates are very reasonable. I believe it would be possible for every family in Boone County to have their garbage collected and buried in a sanitary manner if we so desired.

I wish to express my thanks to the good people of Ada Lane and Elijah Creek Road for their response to my plea for a cleaner county. Their spirit of cooperation has been outstanding and they have done a very fine job. I wonder if other communities in our county would, "go and do likewise?"

FREE ON THE FARM DEMONSTRATION

Yes sir, we are ready to demonstrate the NEW Purina Atomist Electric Sprayer on your farm today. This new sprayer can stop profit-eating flies in barns and farm buildings plus on livestock. It can be used to fog buildings and shrubs, spray buildings, fruit trees, dairy cows, beef cows, and hogs...PLUS bring tobacco in case this fall. Due to its super fine spray insecticides are kept in the air longer, penetrating deeper and killing more flies. Will spray from 1.5 gallons per hour up to 5.3 gallons per hour. Five different settings from fog to a spray that will reach 135 feet. Weighs only 11 pounds. Extensive independent laboratory and field tests have shown that the new Purina Atomist electric sprayer decisively outperforms other leading foggers tested four to one. Call or stop by for a free demonstration and special price.

DAIRYMEN—CAN YOU AFFORD FLIES?

Tests prove that flies can cost $42 per season per cow in reduced milk production. In a 20-cow herd, that adds up to $840 loss, if flies are not controlled. Fly-treated dairy cows produce 10% to 20% more than untreated ones. Fly-treated fresh cows remain at higher production levels than untreated ones. Fly-treated dairy herds suffer less from fly-carrying dysentery and pinkeye than untreated ones. We certainly would like to recommend using Purina Dairy Spray Special which contains Clodrin and Vapona. This is a ready to use spray for horn flies, stable flies, face flies and house flies. It has a quick knock down and kill, and once spraying protects all day, in doors and out. Check with us for all your fly control needs.

Boone NFO Dinner Saturday, May 25

Farmers and businessmen, their families and employees, will gather at Ockerman Junior High School, U. S. Route 42, Florence, Saturday, May 25, with supper at 5:30 followed by a talk by Ed Wimmer, the President of Forward America, Inc., and Public Relations Director of the National Federation of Independence Business, Inc., with offices in Covington.

The supper and program is being sponsored by the Boone County Chapter, National Farmers Organization, and its purpose is to help develop a better understanding of the present plight of the farmer, and his close ties with the small business, local banker and other family and independent businesses.

Mr. Wimmer, who has addressed millions of people throughout the United States since the first of the year, is a longtime champion of the family farm, small business and local bank, addressed a giant rally of farmers in Des Moines, Iowa, last year, sponsored by the NFO when 35,000 farmers gathered in America's biggest agricultural rally in history.

He writes a column which appears in The Cincinnati Enquirer every Monday, and his weekly radio commentary is heard every Wednesday over WPPB, Middletown, Ohio, at 6:15, both AM and FM.

Spokesmen for NFO announce that ticket sales have been very good, with splendid cooperation from local businessmen. Persons unable to attend the dinner are urged to hear Mr. Wimmer at 8:00 p. m. His topic will be "America's Backbone Is Being Broken."

Mr. Wimmer will be introduced by Jay Webster, Verona, Chairman of the Boone County NFO.

"Everyone that is interested in candidates keeping campaign promises in full will find the meeting a breath of fresh air," Mr. Anderson said.

The W-V 4-H Clubs Make Good Showing

In the Style Show held last Friday night in the Boone County High School Auditorium, sewing entries from the apron division thru formal and tailored outfits were modeled. There were over seventy aprons modeled but the sewing interest was because in the Senior division, which includes mix-match, dress-up clothes, formals and tailored outfits, there were ten entries.

Members of the 4-H Club in the Walton-Verona Schools and All Saints made an excellent showing in their sewing and showed results of much effort on the part of the leaders. Almost half of the aprons were from this area.

Listed are the Leaders and their girls and the ribbons won in the various categories.

Mrs. Donald McMillan had all aprons. Winners of blue ribbons were: Johnnie Johnson, Martha Gadd, Laura McMillan, Denise Slayback, Vicki Denny, Mary Beth Rouse. Red ribbons: Cathy Disney, Donna Schmidt, Tina Montour, Amy Rouse, Pamela Cundiff, Valerie Stephenson, Shirley Denny, Vicki Hatten, Patty Baker, Paula Beighle, Robin Ingram, and Paula Ramsey.

Laura McMillan won a purple ribbon as one of two county champions in apron division and goes to area style revue.

Mrs. Edward Lay had girls making aprons, skirts (blouse bought in store) and skirt and blouses. In aprons Connie Lawrence and Vicki Boyer won blue ribbons and Charlotte Disney and Barbara Shields, red. In the skirt division: blue ribbons to Judy Montford, Marsha Montford, Lois Frederick, Karen Slayback, Karen Hamilton, Debbie Sleet, and Fannie Thorpe. For both skirt and blouse: blue ribbons: Paula Locke, Marilyn Frederick, Evelyn Jones, Margie Shields, Jackie Sargent, Marla Humphrey, Connie Ray. Lois Frederick and Karen Slayback won purple champion ribbons and will go to the area revue on their skirts; and Marilyn Frederick goes to the area with her blouse and skirt as she won a purple champion ribbon.

Mrs. John Hetterman from All Saints had girls making both aprons and skirts. Patty Seng won a blue ribbon on her apron. Red ribbons were won by Rita Berkemier, Vicki Wellington and Diane Raybourne on aprons. In the skirt division: blue ribbons were won by Linda Pipes, Susan Hetterman, Cindy Kerkler, Angie Kerkler, and Judy Butler.

Mrs. Chris Combs had the following winners on aprons: Red, Gina Combs and Mary Ann Fields; White, Nannette Johnson and Cindy Cheeseman.

Mrs. Glendel Hicks, of Verona, had five girls in aprons. Winners of red ribbons: Patsy Marsh, Marsha Leek and Coleen Spicer. Blue ribbon winners were Kitty Waller and Glenda Hicks.

In the Senior Division only three outfits were entered by Walton area girls, namely: Judy Hetterman, Cindy McMillan, and Lois Lay. These three girls won blue ribbons on their mix-match outfits. All three of these girls are Junior Leaders as they helped with the sewing in the apron and skirt divisions of which their mothers were the leaders.

Truth is the last thing that some educators want to teach.

AREA TALENT CHAMPS—Representing Boone County in the Area 4-H Talent Show Saturday at Carrollton, was an instrumental group composed of Ceryle Henson, Renee Huey, Debbie Jacobs and Carol Jacobs. This specialty act won a blue ribbon and the area championship. They will go to the State Fair later this year, however, there is no competition on this level in the state. Mrs. Harry Henson is accompanist for the girls, who all play instruments in their school bands. We congratulate these young ladies.

Meter Readings Every 2 Months

To help off-set inflationary costs, yet continue to supply the best possible service at the lowest possible rates, The Union Light, Heat and Power Company is planning to read electric and gas meters every two months. The proposal has been filed with the Public Service Commission of Kentucky, and its approval is expected soon.

Interim bills for normal usage will be presented for months the meters are not read. You still can pay for service monthly.

If you believe service usage was not normal, you may pay less than the interim charge. But, be sure to pay at least half to take advantage of the net amount.

Payment will be deducted from the next bill. And, the next meter reading will adjust any difference between service billed and your registered usage.

Meter readers, it is said, will not be deprived of work. The plan enables them to transfer to other jobs as good or better.

No one has asked for our opinion but we feel that if meters are to be read every two months, the customer should be billed every two months for the amount of gas or electric used. It seems to us this would further reduce costs to the company and at least eliminate one check-writing.—Editor

Your Congressman Wants To Know....

(As a public service and at the request of Congressman M. Gene Snyder, we publish the following message from Mr. Snyder):

The House-Senate conferees have agreed on a Tax increase coupled with spending reductions. The proposed law would increase your income tax by 10% and would reduce government expenditures by $6 billion.

The President has indicated he wants the tax increase, but will only accept a $4 billion spending reduction and an effort may be made to lower the spending limit to $4 billion.

I seek your advice—please return this questionnaire at once to Gene Snyder, 1532 Longworth Building, Washington, D. C. 20515.

Dear Gene,

Here is my advice on tax/spending proposal:

1. You should vote for the tax increase of 10% if spending is required to be reduced by $6 billion. ()
 2. You should vote for the tax increase of 10% if spending is required to be reduced by $4 billion. ()
 3. Under the present circumstances I do not believe you should vote for the 10% surtax but continue to try to cut spending. ()

Spring Festival Is Fairly Successful

The Band Boosters of Walton-Verona School wish to thank every one who helped in any way toward the success of the Spring Festival, sponsored last weekend at the Fireman's Picnic Grounds.

Special thanks to the Walton Fire Department for allowing the use of the grounds and facilities and to the individual firemen who gave services. Thanks to the merchants and friends in the Walton, Verona, Florence and Erlanger area who made liberal donations of money or merchandise. There are those who volunteered their services, and are not members of the band boosters or parents of band members. We will try to list names and hope we have not omitted anyone: Mr. Otis Readmour for frying the fish; those who helped in the booths, Douglas Newton, Thomas Rogers, Glenn Saylor, Mrs. Christine Rich, Mrs. Nellie Egan, Mrs. Eva Waters, Mrs. Martha Jane Carpenter, Mrs. Eunice Jackson, Mrs. Maide Holder, Mrs. Herman Shusher and Mrs. Robert Jones. Cards of thanks are being sent to merchants and friends who made donations.

Had "Ole Man Weather" been as kind as the merchants and the friends were generous, the festival would have been a tremendous success. Plans are to try again and boosters will profit by their errors in this first attempt. Again, "Thanks" for everything.

Cleanup Underway In City of Walton

Walton's Clean-Up, Paint-Up Campaign is now under way.

There are several local organizations aiding in carrying out the plans which will help to beautify the community. Among those participating are the Literary Club, Wa-Na Club, Ministerial Association, Lions Club, V. F. W., and the Volunteer Firemen and Ladies Auxiliary.

There is much to be done, to say in any small measure, that accomplishments have been made.

Many of the buildings in town and especially along main street are in need of repairs and painting. Some sections of the sidewalks are quite often covered with litter and occasionally with mud.

Weeds need to be cut on some lots as well as the bushes and unsightly debris removed. Chairman Gayle McElroy states, "This must be an individual effort with each person responsible for their premises. The city will offer the junk haul service but this alone will fall far short of our goal."

"The fire department is especially interested in the prevention of fires said Chief Charles Worthington. "Clean out the basement, attic and closets. Get rid of the stacks of rubble which could cause a fire. Check the electrical wiring for defects and have those repaired. Eliminate those home dangers that are fire and health hazards."

Start Now. Look at your own property and see what could be done to help its looks.

Cut the grass and weeds, clean the sidewalk, paint the house and garage, set out some flowers or sow some grass seed on those bare areas of the lawn. Let's take some pride in our own premises and the entire city will benefit. Help make Walton the Cleanest, Healthiest, Safest Town in Northern Kentucky.

A local inspection team will check for the best improvements and prizes will be awarded.

Lovers of gloves will find the 1968 styles attractive and varied. Many different textures and a variety of decorations highlight this year's gloves for women.

You'll find both the short and the four-button length popular for daytime wear this year. Decorating the back of the wrist may be a fine or heavy gold chain or links of copper, silver or tortoise shell.

Some shorties are strapped or belted at the wrist, perhaps showing off a small gold buckle or finished with piping, scallops or stitching.

More feminine glove* trimmings include such details as silk tassels or frogs, openwork designs, rosettes, or flat bows. Other gloves come printed in patterns of flowers, checks, stripes or leopard or tiger markings.

Sporty, informal gloves are well-peppered with openings at the knuckles or the back of the wrist. Contrast stitching may be used around the openings or at the cuff. Side lacings, brass-studded cuffs, and oversize zippers (sometimes running to a fingertip) also are used. Some "sports-car" shorties are cropped at midfinger.

Glamorous evening gloves include long, soft gauntlets reaching to the elbow or shoulder. They may be untrimmed or decorated with embroidery, feathers, pearls or other jewels. Four- and six-button length gloves also are suitable for dress wear when embroidered, beaded or jeweled.

Veterans Administration
Questions and Answers

Q—When I got out of service the first of this year I applied for and received from the Veterans Administration a certificate of entitlement to G. I. Bill education and training benefits. However, circumstances prevented me from entering school this spring. I intend to enter in the fall and pursue the field of study for which I originally applied. Must I apply for another certificate from VA?

A—No. As long as you do not change schools or the course of study for which you originally applied, the certificate of entitlement which you received from VA is valid.

Q—I was recently discharged from service. While I was still in Viet-Nam a representative of the Veterans Administration talked to a group of us about our veteran benefits when we got home. I do not remember him saying anything about G. I. business loans. Am I entitled to a business loan?

A—Post-Korean veterans (with military service after January 31, 1955), and Viet-Nam era (with military service after Aug. 4, 1954) are not eligible for business loans under either the Veterans' Readjustment Benefits Act of 1966—popularly known as the Post-Korean or third generation G. I. Bill—or the Veterans' Pension and Readjustment Assistance Act of 1967. They are entitled to home and farm loans.

However, the Small Business Administration may make business loans to veterans. You can obtain information about these loans from your nearest U. S. Veterans Assistance Center or Small Business Administration office.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY
CONTAINERIZED FREIGHT
RAIL-HIGHWAY SERVICE

SOUTHERN

INNOVATIONS THAT SQUEEZE THE WASTE OUT OF DISTRIBUTION / SOUTHERN RAILWAY SYSTEM, WASHINGTON, D. C.

How do you say "piggyback" with a Southern accent?

Pronounce it "containerization."

Containerization. That's where the future of piggyback lies. And that's where Southern Railway has put the emphasis all along. Not on the mere hauling of highway trailers.

Containerization means safer freight, easier, faster handling. Containers are ideal "packages" for travel by rail and highway, by sea, even air in one money-saving intermodal transportation service. Containerization means lower capital investment and lower cost for us, putting us in a better position to maintain a lower level of rates to our customers. These are some of the reasons why Southern helped pioneer containerization, developing the widest variety of containers, building huge cranes for swift transfer of containers between rail and highway service.

Containerized Freight—one of a host of innovations by Southern Railway. Innovations that squeeze the waste out of distribution.

Innovations and improvements that enable us to squeeze the waste out of distribution benefit all who live in the Southern-served South. By reducing total cost of transportation they help combat today's trend of steadily rising consumer prices. They attract new industries into the South and help industries already located along our lines to grow and expand, providing more and better hometown job opportunities. All of us benefit.

REMINDER FOR TOBACCO GROWERS

Farmers considering leaving strips of idle or fallow land in an alternate row arrangement with tobacco rows, were reminded by J. Lassing Huey, Chairman of the County ASC Committee, that the strips of idle or fallow land must be as wide as or wider than four normal rows of tobacco to be deducted from the tobacco acreage.

A "normal row" is described by Mr. Huey as being at least 32 inches wide or the actual distance between the rows of tobacco on the farm, whichever is wider. Mr. Huey said that anyone planning to leave idle or fallow strips of ground in the tobacco field should contact the County ASC Office before setting tobacco.
